Is Most Serious Disclosure Regarding Revolutionary Movement Yet.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HELSINGFORS, Sept. 11.—Customs officers Saturday discovered 660 carbines of Swedish manufacture, with bayonets, and 120,000 cartridges on a barren island in the Gulf of Bothnia, near Kerni.

Sunday morning, a boat belonging to the customs service discovered a 300-ton steamer from near Kalfskaer Rock, twenty miles outside Jakobstad.

The captain and members of the crew, who spoke in English, declared that the steamer was fully loaded with rifles and cartridges, and thereupon the customs officials ordered the captain to take his vessel into port and discharge the cargo.

The steamer proceeded toward the shore the customs boat going in the meanwhile toward a near-by island. Suddenly, several explosions were heard from the steamer and the customs officers on returning found the vessel sinking and her crew, in life boats, disappearing hurriedly toward the south. The officials immediately ... fishermen, who unloaded most of the rifles and ammunition on the beach.

The steamer grounded in shoal water. Her name was painted over, only the letters "John Bash Fton" being visible. American and German flags were found on board the vessel.

On the night previous to the discovery of the rifles and ammunition on the island near Kerni, a fisherman, he declared, saw a small steamer cruising in a curious manner in the offing.

MOST SERIOUS DISCLOSURE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12, 3:43 a.m.—The news from Finland of the accidental discovery of the importation of rifles and munitions in large quantities is the most serious disclosure regarding the revolutionary movement in Russia that has yet been made, as it indicates an intention to form a regular military organization.

The importation of revolvers to Finland, Poland, the Baltic provinces and other districts of Russia has been an open secret for a long time. In fact, the initiated have found little difficulty in purchasing repeating pistols of a small type in St. Petersburg itself, but these are pocket weapons, intended only for use in street rioting and in attacks on the police.

"The importation of small-caliber repeating rifles and carbines of a modern type, however, pre-supposes a design to organize formal resistance to the troops, and the presence of bayonets in the consignment strengthens this supposition.

No information can be obtained here concerning the possible identity of the filibustering steamer, which, according to one dispatch from Helsingfors, is supposed to have been cruising under the American flag, though this probably was used as a mask.

It is considered here that the active faction of the young Fenoman party of Finland is probably involved in the conspiracy and it is recalled that the investigation into the assassination of Gen. Bobrikoff, Governor General of Finland, in June of last year, disclosed the existence of a society formed for the purpose of importing arms.

WORSE AT BAKU.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12, 3:43 a.m.—The latest private telegram to be received from Baku reports that the situation there is growing worse.

Other unconfirmed dispatches assert that the rioters are stubbornly continuing their attacks and that the Tartars and Kurds are plundering in the "Black Town" district.

The dispatches say that Sunday the soldiers fired into a crowd of Russian workmen, killing seventeen.

A dispatch to the Caucasus Oil Company from Baku says that the fires in the oil fields are practically exhausted and that the military authorities are stationing guards in the district.

During the night, the dispatch says, incendiaries tried to land at Bibiebas from small boats, but were driven off by volleys from the Cossacks. They then attacked steamers in which the employés of two oil companies had

DOESN'T TRAVEL ON PASS.

Gov. Folk of Missouri Surprises the Natives by Paying Carfare on Portland Trip.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Making an epoch in the political history of Missouri by paying his own way while traveling, and with every member of his staff accompanying him doing the same, Gov. Joseph W. Folk of Missouri stopped off at Denver yesterday en route to Portland. Every expense incidental to the trip, whether of railroad charges or hotel bills, is borne by the members of the party, though the railroad running out of Missouri offered every inducement in the effort to secure the Governor as a guest. When asked if he was to be a candidat for the Presidency, Gov. Folk said: "I do not care to discuss that. The campaign is three years off, and many things may happen before that time. If some one should ask me to run for the chief office in the gift of the American people, it will be plenty of time then for me to say what I shall do."

MORTON TALKS LIKE A MAN.

TELLS EQUITABLE AGENTS HOW TO DO BUSINESS.

Declares that the First Thing to be Sought is an Honest Management and that Business Methods Will Prevail—Accounts Will be Exported Annually.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—President Paul Morton outlined the policy of the new management of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in an address which he delivered at Manhattan Beach today to 750 agents of the society who come from different parts of the country.

After briefly reviewing recent events in the Equitable Mr. Morton said:

"I am going to say a few words to you on your new administration. There will be no attempt to make it dazzlingly brilliant. The effort will be to make it honest, courageous and conservative. There will be the greatest consideration shown for the policyholders and at every turn their interests will be protected. All of the new directors are policy-holders. Business-like methods will prevail. The more economy of the right sort we can institute the better. ... will be of the highest character.

"The institution will not be run as an adjunct to any one or several banking houses. Every owner of securities will have a chance to deal with us, and our aim will be to buy the very best at the very lowest prices.

"The cheaper the society can be properly administered, the better we can invest our earnings and the better showing we can make, the easier will it be for agents to sell our insurance. I want to see the insurance business removed as far as possible from politics. I believe in proper laws safeguarding the sacred trusts of insurance, and I will cooperate in the enactment of any necessary laws with that end in view. We shall all work to put the business of life insurance on the elevated plane it ought to occupy.

"The new management of the Equitable will insist on an annual audit of its affairs by an unbaised and independent accountant. There will be no attempt to deceive anybody, not even ourselves.

"Retrenchments are the order of the day in the Equitable. They will amount to over $600,000 per year which is equal to four per cent. on an investment of $15,000,000. They will amount to a much larger sum before we are through, and I am sure that we will satisfy not only our policyholders and our own agents, but the many who will buy what we have to sell."

REPORTER TAKEN IN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11—John D. Rockefeller today shattered another precedent when he admitted a newspaper reporter to his Forest Hill home and submitted to an interview.

"In regard to what is called my seclusion, it has been imperative that I deny myself the association with people that I naturally enjoy," he said. "Nevertheless, I have been much with people, in fact, almost every day groups of them come to see me, and it is a bright spot in the lives of all of us, as we drive or walk about the grounds. I have never been a club man and have not frequented places where people generally go for company. My friends during my hours of recreation, are many of them from my home church."

Other topics came up, but Mr. Rockefeller again reverted to the newspaper jokers and remarked: "Time alters and adjusts almost everything. It takes infinite patience and courage to compel men to have confidence in you. I believe I have both these qualities, and I also believe that they are the secrets of my success.

AUSTIAN MINISTERS RESIGN.

VIENNA, Sept. 11.—Dr. Ritter von Hartel, Minister of Instruction and Public Worship, and Baron Von Call, Minister of Commerce, resigned today. Dr. Biennerke, vice-president of the Lower Austrian Provincial School Council, has been temporarily assigned to the place vacated by Dr. Von Hartel, and Count Augsperg, head of one of the departments in the Ministry of the Interior, will temporarily succeed Baron Von Call. The resignations are regarded as having no political significance, as they are chiefly due to differences between the two Ministers and the Premier, Baron Cautsch von Franckenthurn.

RUSSIAN HONOR AND DIGNITY IS SAVED.

Publication of Peace Terms Has no Bad Effect Upon Slav Army.

Arrangements Made at Portsmouth Thought Such as Give Japan Not Only Very Rich Territory Not in Oyama's Possession, but Vantage Point from Which to Strike in Case of Future Hostilities.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 11.—A dispatch from Godzyana of September 8, only a small portion of which was to pass the censor, says that August 14, there were 20,560 sick and wounded officers and men in all the military hospitals.

GODZYANDANI (Manchuria) Sept. 9.—The peace terms became known here today. The majority consider them inoffensive to Russian honor and dignity.

It is not clear at what station the railroad is to be turned over to the Japanese, at Kwang-Cheng-Tse or Chantufy. This question is very important. If the transfer occurs at Kwang-Cheng-Tse, then Russia cedes to Japan a hundred miles of yet unoccupied territory and likewise the only coal mines south of Harbin. From Chantufu start all the trade routes to the very rich Kirin province, and should the road become the property of the Japanese to Kwang-Cheng-Tse the complete possession of Chantufu would place Kirin province entirely under Japanese influence. This would be undesirable for Russia.

Should the transfer be made at Chantufu or further south, Kirin province, which has supported the Russian army for six months, would remain Russian, which would be ... the southern portion of the railroad has no natural outlet.

This and many other questions—such as Russia's right to maintain consular officials and commercial agents at Liaoyang, Mukden, Port Arthur and Port Dalny—should, it is claimed here, be settled before the armies withdraw from their strategic positions.

IMPOLITIC FOR RUSSIA.

A high officer declared today that it would be impolitic to "permit" the Japanese to settle in Kwang-Cheng-Tse, for in case of another war they could reach Harbin in fifty hours, occupy Kirin and cut Russia off from the Amur regions.

[It was announced by the Associated Press from Portsmouth, N. H., August 30, that the formal recognition of Japan's possession of the Chinese Eastern Railroad from Kwang-Cheng-Tse involves the payment by Russia to China of a sum estimated at $75,000,000.

This is the Chinese interest in the road, and for it China must be remunerated. The question of the ultimate possession of the road is a matter to be settled between Japan and China. Japan can keep the road or surrender it to China, demanding in return the money paid by Russia to China. If she elects the latter course, Japan will, therefore, obtain as an indirect spoil of war from Russia $75,000,000 in addition to reimbursement for the cost of maintaining the Russian prisoners of war.—The Associated Press.]

SHIPT STILL INTERNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 11.—No orders have yet been given for the return of the interned warships, in accordance with the terms of the peace treaty. The Admiralty can do nothing until notified of telegraphic exchanges of the ratifications. When this occurs, the vessels will hoist the homeward-bound pennant and start for the Baltic or Vladivostok under their own steam and with their own crews, as the period of interment has been used to repair all damages sustained in the battle of August 10, 1904, and in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

It is absolutely incorrect to say that any steps have yet been taken toward the execution of the new naval programme except the orders given for the construction of torpedo boats and for a 15,000-ton cruiser in England, as already announced. The next big vessel will probably be another 15,000-ton cruiser of the same type, to be built in the Baltic.

ARMISTICE ARRANGEMENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GUNSHU PASS, Sept. 11.—Gen. Linevitch's answer to Field Marshal Oyama's request regarding the arrangement of an armistice was dispatched today by special messenger.

In his answer, the Rusian chief accepts the proposals of the Japanese commander-in-chief, which refers in considerable length not only to the question of an armistice but also to neutral zones on land and sea.

Gen. Fukushima and Gen. Ovansoky, the respective plenipotentiaries, will meet next Wednesday at Chahodza, on the railroad, as proposed by Field Marshal Oyama. The place is midway between the Japanese and Russian lines, separate by a hilly range.

At a meeting, all the questions at issue will be determined except that referring to the elimination of the neutral zones, which will be left for the consideration of special delegates.

BUSINESS CALLS WITTE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The reception to M. Witte and Baron de Rosen, the Russian peace envoys, arranged for tomorrow morning at the produce exchange, has been canceled at the request of the envoys, who begged to be excused on acount of unexpected and pressing business. M. Witte will sail for home tomorrow afternoon.

M. Witte and Baron Rosen went to West Point today, traveling as guests of J. P. Morgan, in his yacht Corsair. M. Witte and Baron de Rosen returned from West Point shortly before 6 o'clock this evening and went at once to an art gallery in Fifth avenue, where they opened formally an exhibition of pictures by Russian artists.

AT WEST POINT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—The Russian envoys were met at the West Point landing by Gen. Mills and his staff and a detachment of cavalry. There was a salute of nineteen guns and a review of the corps of cadets. After being conducted through the various buildings the Russians again went aboard the yacht Corsair and were conveyed to Morgan's country-seat at Highland Falls, where they had dinner.

ENGLAND IS PLAYING FOXY GAME IN CUBA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Inquiry at the State Department into the status of the Anglo-Cuban treaty, which is now before the commercial bodies of Havana, for an expression of opinion as to its merits, has developed the fact that as far back as last December the State Department, through American Minister Squiers, made a most energetic protest to the authorities at Havana against the consummation of the treaty as it then stood. The principal objection was that it might operate in the future to prevent the conclusion of another treaty between the United States and Cuba in the nature of reciprocal favors to be bestowed upon the shipping of this country.

Minister Squiers has been instructed that the treaty would not be objectionable if provisions were attached that it shall not be invoked by the British government as a basis for demanding favored-nation treatment, such as would be enjoyed by the United States in any treaty to be entered into in the future with Cuba.

LODGE OUTLINES NEW POLICY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Lodge today outlined a new policy which, he says, will be that of the United States toward Central and South American countries in the future. Preservation of order in the Caribbean and payment of debts will be insisted upon, and the Monroe doctrine will be backed up with the full power of the United States.

"It is no answer," he said, "to say that it is not our business to collect the debts of foreign powers. It is no answer to say that the man who is at the head of the government is an adventurer or bandit. A permanent bandit, under control, is better than a new bandit every three months under nobody's control. It is a duty we owe ourselves, a duty we owe the world, a duty we owe to humanity, to stretch out our strong arm and say: 'There is not one foot of your land that we want; there is not one dollar of your money that we want, but we must see to it that you maintain order, that you pay your debts and that you do not incur debts for the simple purpose of robbing the country.'"

REACH AN IMPASSE.

It Looks Very Much as Though Norway and Sweden Will Resort to Arms.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 11.—The tone of the Norwegian newspapers indicates that the negotiations between the commissioners of Norway and Sweden regarding the dissolution of the union have reached an impasse, Norway being unable to accept the conditions laid down by Sweden.

The Dagbladet, commenting on Sweden's refusal to discuss an arbitration treaty until Norway had accepted the Swedish conditions, declares that even war would be preferable to a peace bought at the expense of national humiliation.

The papers publish a report that Russia is seriously considering the establishment of a naval port on the Murmanian coast, probably at Alexandrovsk.

BRIGHAM HAS MANY WOMEN.

SIX REGISTER WITH HIM AT EASTERN HOTELS.

Mormon of Salt Lake Creates Great Excitement in Country Town in New York State—Petty Gossips Cannot Learn if They Are Wives, Maids or Widows.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWBURGH (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Brigham Young, Salt Lake City, Utah." That name stands out in bold letters on the register of the Holland Hotel at Fishkill Landing. It is under date of Friday, September 8. Residents have just discovered the fact, and the men and women are discussing his presence with great interest. That Young was accompanied by six attractively-attired women made his presence all the more startling. They arrived several hours before him, and went to the hotel, where they registered as follows: "Mrs. W. Briggs, Philadelphia, Pa.; R. Bruen, Philadelphia; Patience Briggs, Hyde Park, N. Y.; Mrs. R. B. Tyrel, California; E. C. Bruen, Brooklyn, and Mrs. C. L. Bellor, Denver."

It is not known if they were the wives of Young, or Mormon converts. The party remained in Fishkill Landing until 8 o'clock at night, and then departed on a Central train, going toward New York. They had luncheon, and then went up Mt. Beacon in the incline railroad. Young is a man of 60 years, with long hair, tinged with gray. He was stylishly dressed, and had considerable money with him. None of the party conversed with people about the hotel, so nothing is known of their plans.

NEW HEARST WAR.

Boy Editor Butts Into Politics in Chicago and May Cause Ruin of Mayor Dunne.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Democratic leaders met in secret caucus today and after a stormy meeting one of the committeemen said: "Chaos best described the situation. Mayor Dunne has fallen under the ban by his lukewarm attitude toward the drainage and judiciary campaign, and orders for posters, billing the county with him as the star orator, have been cancelled. It is said there is a disposition to read him out of the party and a determined effort will be made to keep him from speaking during the campaign."

The great barbecue planned to start the Democratic campaign has been abandoned, no headquarters having been established and no work whatever having been done. It is said to be a physical impossibility to bring the Hearst-Dunne faction into harmonious touch with the Harrison-Burke-Hopkins faction. Regular Democrats say Hearst is trying to dominate city affairs and that he has too many of his lieutenants with Mayor Dunne at all times. This is the real reason for the party schism which is becoming more aggravated every day.

ORE SHIPMENT STOPPED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] N. M. Amster of Boston, of the Arizona Commercial Company, says: "Shipments to the Old Dominion smelter were suspended by my orders because we found that there will be a saving for us of $5 to $6 per ton if the ore is first concentrated before it goes to the smelter. The United Globe and Old Dominion have had the same experience and were obliged to erect a mill. Our ore is so fine that it needs but little crushing, and concentration could be done very cheaply. The Old Dominion Company was penalizing us for the full 40 per cent. silica and not giving us equal credit for the 3% per cent. of iron. We may be able to make an arrangement with the Old Dominion for concentrating our ores, whereby the largest part of the silica will be eliminated. Otherwise we will erect our own mill."

CORRESPONDENT EGAN WEDS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A cable from Japan today brought news of the marriage in Tokio today of Martin Egan, the Associated Press correspondent there to Eleanor Franklin, war correspondent for Leslie's Weekly. Egan is widely known throughout the Orient, as he served there during the Boxer movement for the San Francisco Chronicle. His work in that field gained him a place on the Associated Press staff and during the Russo-Japanese War he sent the cables from Tokio. He will soon leave Tokio, with his wife, to take a place as London correspondent of the Associated Press.

Elevated Wreck in New York.

Worst Smash-up Ever Known on Overhead Road in United States.

Signals Set Wrong and Car Running Rapidly Jumps Rails at Curve.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Within a very few minutes after the "L" accident every north-and-south transportation line of the West Side was affected. People deserted the overhead lines through fear. All southbound trains in the Subway carried larger crowds than ever before since the road was opened. Broadway, Amsterdam street, Seventh avenue and Eighth avenue surface cars were overloaded.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The death list of today's accident on the Ninth-avenue elevated railroad, when a car crowded with early-morning workers on their way downtown was pitched into the street, stands at twelve. Three men are in hospitals with fractured skulls. One of these, who as yet remains unidentified at Roosevelt Hospital, is unconscious and not expected to live. More than two score of persons were injured, many of them seriously. The cause of the accident and the immediate responsibility remain to be seen. The motorman of the wrecked train is a fugitive, while a switchman, conductor and four guards are under arrest.

The switchman is charged with manslaughter and the trainmen are held as witnesses. Tonight Coroner Scholer, who has undertaken the work of fixing the blame for the wreck, announced that the switchman's bond has been placed at $5000 and those of the witnesses at $100 each.

WORST ELEVATED WRECK.

Whatever may have caused the mistake, the accident, the worst in the history of the overhead railroads in New York, came when a south-bound train on the Ninth-avenue line was switched off to the Sixth-avenue line at the Fifty-third street junction.

The motorman, expecting a clear track on the direct line of the Ninth-avenue line, without regarding the warning signal that the switch was open, rushed his train along at a high rate of speed. The first car swung around the right angle curve, holding to the rails because of the weight of the train behind. Then the strain became too great. The couplings broke, the second car was whirled about almost end for end and, to the horror of those who looked on from below, pitched into the street.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

The first indication people on the sidewalk had of the accident was loud rumbling along the overhead structure. Looking up they saw a shower of sparks. Then followed splinters and the sound of splitting timbers. Suddenly the outer guard rail of the railroad structure gave way, a score of bodies were hurled through space, and with a deafening crash the car fell to the street. For an instant it stood fairly on end. Then the sides gave way as if they were made of pasteboard, bursting out a mass of humanity. Those passengers who had not jumped from platforms and windows before the plunge came were thrown into a mass at the forward end of the car. As the injured men and women were struggling to free themselves two heavy front trucks of the third car of the train fell almost in their midst, as the car itself jumped partly off the elevated structure and was wedged against a building at the southeast corner of Ninth avenue and Fifty-third street.

Huge crowds were soon on the scene and the first work of the hastily summoned police reserves was directed to clearing a way for the rescuing of the passengers pinned down by the car. Almost every ambulance in Manhattan was summoned, and the injured and dead were hurried away with all speed.

Three alarms of fire brought many engines to the scene. A slight fire caused by burning insulation was quickly extinguished and the firemen set to work chopping out the dead and injured. The task was not an easy one, for the heavy car in falling had almost completely buried pedestrains in its wreckage. At least one was killed.

outright in this way while Policeman Henry Altkins, who was standing directly under the elevated structure, is among those most seriously injured.

Eight persons were dead when taken out of the wreck, and four died later at hospitals.

GHOULS START THEFTS.

Before the great crowds collected by the news of the wreck could be cleared away the police were compelled to use their heavy night sticks on a number of men who were attempting to snatch jewelry or other valuables from the victims. The officers had no time to make arrests, contenting themselves with clubbing the miscreants as heavily as they could. Coroner Scholer ordered the arrests of all those immediately concerned. Search was at once made for the motorman, Paul Kelly who secured a position on the elevated lines six months ago. Kelly could not be found and at a late hour tonight was still missing.

The switchman in the tower at Ninth avenue and Fifty-third street, Cornelius A. Jackson, was first arrested. Then Conductor W. A. Johnson, and Guards Higginson, J. McDavitt, W. L. Berry and B. Clark, were taken into custody. At a preliminary hearing this afternoon all the men waived examination. Two versions of the cause of the wreck were told tonight to the Coroner. One of them was that the switchman had set the tracks for a Sixth-avenue train and when he saw his mistake had attempted to rectify it while the train was on the curve, the change throwing the second and fourth cars off the track. The switchman, however, declares that the wrecked train had Sixth avenue signals set and he expected it to slow down before taking the curve. Instead it maintained the speed usual with Ninth-avenue trains on the direct line.

The curve at Fifty-third street is a sharp one, and is practically unbanked, according to the statements made today. It is intended to be taken slowly, and is not constructed for a high rate of speed.

CONDUCTOR'S STORY.

Conductor Johnson this afternoon made a detailed statement to Police Inspector Flood. He said:

"I was on the first platform of the second car. We had just left Thirty-ninth street and were going at a fair rate of speed as it is a long run to Fiftieth street. The car was pretty well crowded. There were a number of men on the platform and in the aisle of the second. There were a number of shop girls who were laughing and joking.

"When we reached the curve the first car went on and the second and third cars went together like a jackknife, sticking right up in the air and practically closing against each other. In consequence, from where I was, on the front platform of the second car at the start, I was dropped to the rear platform of the first car. Then the second car dropped to the street. I held on to the iron rail like death and was straight up in the air. I saw girls and women climbing over both of the cars that they might escape.

"Being an old railroader, I pulled out my watch and looked at it. It was exactly 7:06 a.m. The signals were set wrong. That was the trouble. They were set green and yellow, which is for a Sixth avenue train."

NEVER-ENDING CASE.

Taggart Divorce Suits Still Dragging Along With Charges of Who is and Who Isn't.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WOOSTER (O.) Sept. 11.—As large an audience as has been present at any time at the Taggart trial gathered in the courthouse today to hear Col. Smyser's address on behalf of Mrs. Taggart.

Mrs. Taggart was in court early. She listened to every word of her attorney.

Major Taggart was not in court during the early part of the morning and was represented only by Attorney Sterling.

Smyzer, after reading the correspondence that passed between the major and Mrs. Taggart, after their separation, said this correspondence showed that jealousy on the part of Taggart was the only cause of trouble. Smyzer scathingly denounced all who had made the charges against his client.

"If these charges are not true," he said, "Taggart ought to be called to account before the military tribunals."

IMPERIAL LIMITED WRECKED.

MIKADO BACKS UP CABINET.

Great Throwdown for Anti-Peace Soreheads.

Mass-meeting at Osaka Passes Hot Resolution.

Griscom Reports All Quiet in the Japanese Capital.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 11, 8 p.m.—In accordance with established usage, the Cabinet ministers have presented an official statement to the Mikado, explaining the necessity of instituting martial law in the capital, and at the same time asking the imperial judgment as to whether they should remain in office or retire. The Emperor's reply, which was made today, advises them to retain their respective posts.

BLAMES THE MINISTRY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Grave mistakes were made at Portsmouth, and my countrymen feel the humiliation keenly," said M. J. Matsumoto, a resident of Tokio, and a prominent member of the Japanese Diet, at the Hotel Astor, today.

"I have the highest regard for Baron Komura and M. Takahira," continued M. Matsumoto, "but their lack of keen perception and shrewdness in the art of diplomacy proved costly to Japan. It is to be regretted that some of the more skillful diplomats, of whom Japan has many, were not named for the delicate work of peace commission.

"This is all the fault of the present Japanese ministry, and at its doors may be laid the blame for the losing game played at Portsmouth, and the disgraceful rioting which followed in Tokio and other cities.

"I was at Portsmouth for two weeks and watched the conference closely, and feel that I am in a position to speak with some authority on this subject."

ANOTHER WARM ONE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 11, 7:30 p.m.—A mass meeting at Osaka passed the following resolution, without hindrance upon the part of the police:

"The peace that has just been concluded between Russia and Japan forbids the fruits of victory, and sows seeds of future complications and danger.

"The government's high-handed and unconstitutional measure has resulted in unexpected disturbances to the peace of the city in which the Mikado resides.

"The empire's honor has been soiled and the spirit of the constitution lost. Never has our country been brought to face greater danger.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we hope that the humiliating peace agreement will be broken and the government will resign."

UNEXPECTED SITTING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 11, 6:30 p.m.—The special session of the Privy Council today lasted four hours. No bill was presented, only a report from the Cabinet ministers, Premier Katsura making an extended statement of the peace negotiations.

According to the Constitution, a treaty with a power must be submitted to the council before ratification. It is unusual to hold a special sitting for simply making a report on diplomatic affairs before a treaty assumes a form ready for ratification, and the sitting today, without a special bill, was rather unexpected.

Opposition political parties have appointed an extensive committee to fully report on sufferings alleged to have been caused by the police during the recent rioting.

The Progressives and their local branches continue to press resolutions against the government. The Shiba branch condemns the government's assumption of the power to suspend newspapers, declaring it wholly unconstitutional.

Quiet prevails in Tokio.

GRISCOM SENDS RESUME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY (L. I.) Sept. 11.—A definite resumé of the disorders in Tokio is given in a cablegram from Minister Griscom to Secretary of State Root today. The cablegram follows:

"TOKIO, Sept. 11—The violence to a few foreigners and attacks on Christian churches reported in my previous cablegrams should not be considered to indicate any general anti-foreign or anti-Christian feeling. The former was quite incidental and the latter due to sporadic antagonism to the Russian church and some native Christians. The mob offered to spare one American church if the pastor could show an American flag, but, unfortunately, he could not.

"Newspapers have during many months raised popular expectation so high that intense dissatisfaction with the terms of peace result. Sentiment among army, navy and nobility, however, is understood to be more conservative.

"Six newspapers have been suspended. Martial law probably will continue for some time, thus insuring quiet. Meanwhile, the legation guard of twelve soldiers will continue."

MINISTER WILL RESIGN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 11, 2 p.m.—The resignation of Home Minister Yoshikawa has not been accepted, but its acceptance, it is expected, will take place later.

The prefectoral governors have assembled at Tokio, where they are reporting upon provincial conditions and are being instructed upon the policy they must adopt when dealing with disturbances of the peace.

The government has again suspended the Niroku of this city from publication.

HARRIMAN MEETS MIKADO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 12, 8:30 a.m.—The resignation of Viscount Yoshikawa, Minister of Home Affairs, has not been accepted.

The Evangelical Alliance has passed a resolution that it will not institute suit for damage for the destruction caused to churches, schools and missionary houses during the late rioting in Tokio.

American Minister Griscom today presented E. H. Harriman to the Mikado.

A later telegram from Osaka says that some confusion was caused among the assemblage by men attempting to force their way into the building in which the meeting was held. This attempt resulted in forty persons being slightly wounded, and one seriously hurt. Over twenty speeches were delivered to the audience, which numbered 4000. The city is displaying many half-masted white flags. It is reported that many persons from different parts of the empire participated in the meeting.

DON'T LIKE SUCH STEAK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stage travelers from Dragon to Vernal, Utah, on their way into the Uintah reservation are being fed on horse meat and their roars and protests can be heard clear over the Uintah peaks into Utah.

There has been a shortage of provisions at the stations on the stage route, especially in fresh meat. The ingenious inn-keepers have been killing Indian ponies, and the toughtest, too, of the equine race and serving the meat in steaks, stews and roasts.

Travelers who have tried the equine beef threatened lawsuits and others who had been fed upon flesh that the Parisians make sausages from, are indignant.

HAVE CRAMPS, NOT CHOLERA.

MANY OF KAISER'S SUBJECTS IN A NEEDLESS PANIC.

Experts Often Mistaken in Their Diagnoses as Shown by Corrections in Official Bulletins—Total of Deaths to Date is Fifty-eight. Plague Means More Taxes.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—An official bulletin issued today says 16 cholera cases and 6 deaths were reported from noon, September 9, to noon, September 10. September 10 to noon today, making the totals 170 cases and 58 deaths.

Later, it was pointed out that nine of the cases previously classified as cholera had been shown through bacteriological examination not cholera, and the total number of cases was 614.

The symptoms of cholera have become so well understood throughout Germany that in numberless cases innocuous complaints, such as cramps of the stomach, are suspected by sufferers to be cholera and physicians are summoned in wild haste. The doctors themselves are frequently misled and order patients off to the nearest cholera-suspect barracks. Three such cases were reported in Berlin today and seven at Jagersburg. Experts from the infectious-disease offices are also mistaken in their diagnoses, by the daily corrections of bulletins state. Only bacteriological tests fix the presence or absence of the Asiatic cholera bacillus with certainty.

Although there were thirty-one fresh cases during the two days ending with noon, this is seven fewer than the preceding twenty-four hours. This furnishes continued cause for confidence at the Ministry of Health that the infection is under control, although a steady fight will be necessary to keep that control.

The cost of the campaign is likely to be an addition to the Prussian budget. In West Prussia, where the cholera has been most serious, nearly $100,000 has so far been spent.

CONVICTS FALL VICTIMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BROMBERG, Sept. 11.—Seven cases of cholera were reported today in six villages in this administrative district. Two convicts have died of the disease at Gneesen. The totals in this district, in which cholera has been more numerous than in any other section, are only 23 cases and 15 deaths.

SIX FRESH CASES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MARIENWERDER, (West Prussia) Sept. 11.—Six fresh cases of cholera have been reported in five places in this district. Two deaths have occurred.

CALLS US GRAFTERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The Rev. John Balcom Shaw, in his sermon at the Second Presbyterian Church last night said, in part:

"For years the American conscience seemed to be sleeping its last sleep. Graft had flourished until we had become a nation of grafters. Corporations had grown so lawless and merciless as to cease to be cautious.

"But six months ago with the suddenness of a meteor's flash, like a bolt out of a clear sky, a new situation appeared. First came the cry of tainted money, which was so loud and so widespread as to warn corrupt and unscrupulous men, to arm reformers with weapons they could never before carry, and to push the cause of truth and honesty miles ahead. Following this was the Equitable expose which has dealt corporation trickery a blow from which it will not soon recover.

"What all this promises for the work of the Christian Church can scarcely be estimated. We are in the midst of an ethical revival, and if the church will only relate itself rightly to the movement it may pave the way for the spiritual revival for which it has long been eagerly looking."

NEGRO PUPILS BARRED.

Colored Children Who Are Not Given Equal School Rights to Fight The Case in Court.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 11.—Twenty negro pupils were refused admittance to the white schools at Kansas City, Kan., today and it is said they will contest the case in the courts. The Kansas Legislature last winter passed an act separating the races in the Kansas City High School. Bonds for the rection of a school for the negroes were issued, but the structure has not been erected yet. Until the negro school has been erected there will be two sessions of the white school. The white children will be permitted to attend in the morning and the negroes in the afternoon.

At Bonner Springs, Kan., near here, fifty white pupils left the school building when the members of the board of education notified them that they would have to occupy the same rooms as the negroes.

In both instances the negroes withdrew quietly and there was no show of a clash.

It was reported today that Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, effected a settlement of the sensational "Helen Butler" case several years ago and believed he was through with it. A Cincinnati law firm, it is said, handled the case for him at that time. Gov. Mrs. Lawrence returned tonight from Columbus accompanied by the child she seeks to have Gov. Herrick acknowledge.

PRESIDENT RELIES ON CONSULTING BOARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Roosevelt invited the board of consulting engineers of the Panama Canal to luncheon at Sagamore Hill today. His object was to explain his views of the canal problems to the engineers before they left for the isthmus. The government and the canal commission, he said, would place great reliance upon the advice of the consulting board, composed, as it is, of eminent engineers, both of America and the Old World. These members of the board were present: Gen. George W. Davis, chairman, Mr. Alfred Noble, Mr. William Barclay Parsons, Mr. William H. Burr Gen. Henry L. Abbott, Mr. Frederick P. Stearns, Mr. Joseph Ripley, Mr. Isham Randolph, Mr. W. Henry Hunter, Herr Eugene Tincauzer, M. Adolphe Guerard, M. E. Quellennec, M. J. Welcher, and Capt. J. C. Oakes, U. S. A.

POLICY OUTLINED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—Members of the board of consulting engineers of the Panama Canal took luncheon with President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill today. Canal matters were discussed. The President received the members of the board in the handsome new trophy room, the presentations being made by Gen. Davis.

During the luncheon which followed and at which Dr. A. W. Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, and John Barrett, United States Minister to Colombia, were also guests, the discussion of canal matters was general but informal.

At the conclusion of the luncheon the President made a brief but formal statement to the board in which he outlined definitely the policy to be followed in the canal construction. That statement was not made public, it being considered undesirable.

The engineers were in conference with the President until 3 o'clock, when they returned to the Sylph, which sailed soon afterward for New York. The board will leave New York tonight for Washington and resume its sessions there.

The call of Dr. Shaw and Mr. Barrett was largely personal. The latter will remain in this country until October, in order that he may confer with Secretary Root and Mr. Cortes, of Colombia, who is now in London, before returning to his post.

IMPROVEMENTS SLOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PANAMA, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It will be the beginning of next year before the present reorganization plans of Mr. Shonts and Mr. Stevens show any effect. New quarters are being built, but the work is slow. Improvement is being shown in paying labor, but it is far from satisfactory.

No additional dock facilities can be looked for at Colon for ninety days, and until new motive power and new rolling stock arrives on the isthmus, no relief in handling freight can be expected. A comprehensive system of well ballasted tracks is being put down for canal use and when ready dirt will be moved rapidly.

MORE LABORERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLON, Sept. 11.—The Royal Mail steamer La Plata arrived here today, bringing 550 laborers from West Indian points under contract for work on the canal. The majority of these were from Barbadoes. Several left the ship at Port Limon, apparently preferring Costa Rica to the Isthmus of Panama.

About 500 persons under the direction of the health authorities are again fumigating every part of Colon.

YELLOW JACK FOUND NO VICTIM YESTERDAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—The report of no deaths today, the first time since the announcement of the presence of yellow fever here, July 21, when contrasted with the record of 1878 presented quite a contrast, because Sept. 11, 1878, was the record day for deaths during that epidemic, ninety being recorded.

Dr. White today gave out the composite parts of the new cullicide which will be used hereafter in fumigation, the discovery of which was announced Saturday. It is composed of equal parts of crystal carbolic acid and gum camphor, and three ounces will be sufficient to thoroughly fumigate 1000 cubic feet of space. He advises against its use by citizens generally, on account of the danger in handling it.

The most interesting feature of the country news was the report from the health officer of St. John parish of the existence of about twenty-five cases at Lions, a lumber town in that parish, and his statement that the patients were not being properly cared for and that they had been concealing the illness.

NORWEGIAN CONSUL VICTIM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PENSACOLA (Fla.) Sept. 11—Nine new cases and one death is the yellow fever record for Pensacola today, concluding at 6 p.m. Suspicious or doubtful cases number about twelve. The death was that of A. Wolfenberg, vice-consul of Norway, who died today, after a brief illness. He was taken ill five days since and did not call in a physician, the case being located by spectators. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that he had died of yellow fever of the most malignant type.

NEW ORLEANS YELLOW FEVER.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—Report to 6 o'clock p.m.: New cases, 33; total to date, 2527; deaths, none; total, 216; new foci, 18; cases under treatment, 300; discharged, 1711.

BOODLE CASE IS ON TRIAL

Oregon Forest Fire Starts from Burning Town.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—The trial of E. J. Emmons, the Senator from Kern county who was expelled from the last session of the Legislature for boodling, was commenced before Superior Judge E. C. Hart and a jury today.

Emmons's wife accompanied him into the courtroom and never left him until he was seated at the desk in front of the bar at the side of his counsel. Great interest was manifest over the presence of Joseph S. Jordan, the confessed and acknowledged go-between in the boodling legislators and the building and loan associations which they sought to mulct.

Jordan was not in attendance, and many people in the crowd which thronged the courthouse were outspoken in their belief that he would be present to testify against Emmons or the other deposed Senators who are awaiting trial.

District Attorney Seymour was confident, however, that Jordan will be on hand when his testimony is required. It is a fact that all the accused men rely largely upon Jordan to make any appearance in order to acquit them. It is known that Jordan's absence from the State and his consequent inability to testify against Emmons, Wright and French is also why Bunker's reliance for a reopening of his case and a new trial by the State Court.

District Attorney Seymour said: "Jordan will be here when he is needed. He will take the witness stand and do his full duty. The fact that he is not here today is of no significance whatever. The proceedings today are necessarily of a preliminary character and it is not to be expected that a jury will be secured. It may be tomorrow or later before the jury is secured and there is no need of Jordan being here until he is called to the stand to give his testimony.

"We have the full assurance that Jordan will do his duty throughout, but that and will not discuss the character of the testimony he will give. I know, however, that Jordan will tell the truth."

Steve L. Johnson announced to the court that several important witnesses in San Francisco had not been served with subpoenas and asked that an order of court be made sending a deputy sheriff to that city in order to make special service upon the men wanted. The court granted the request and an adjournment was taken.

TOWN BURNED.

CROWN TIMBER FIRE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 11.—A Telegram special from Grant's Pass, Or., says that the entire town of Selma, on the stage road between Grant's Pass and Kerby, has been destroyed by fire, the flames originated in the Selma hotel, spreading to the near-by business section.

The hotel, two stores, a blacksmith shop, a church and several residences were burned, with nearly their entire contents.

Selma is in a timbered section and the fire, spreading to the woods, is now raging in the fir and pine forests along Applegate Creek. The loss is estimated at $150,000 or more, with little insurance.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

EFFECTIVE STREET CASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—The Supreme Court today decided that the Board of Public Works of this city and counties are directly and personally responsible, for all damages to the owners of their bonds granted in suits brought for injuries caused by defective sewers and other municipal works under their jurisdiction. The decision was rendered on the appeal in the case of Dora Heath, who was awarded $5000 damages for injuries sustained by falling through a defective sidewalk. The suit was against the members of a former board, and the decision of the Supreme Court is said, may result in the release of surety companies from liability on bonds of the present board, as similar suits are threatened.

JUDGE IN CONTEMPT.

DISOBEYED DISTRICT COURT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Judge Lucas F. Smith, judge of the Superior Court of Santa Cruz, appeared before the District Court of Appeals to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

Judge Smith filed an answer in which he declared that he had acted with all respect and according to his best judgment in continuing the Noel case, and that the reason he did not obey the opinion of Judge Harrison was only because the document came to him unsealed.

The reason for the citation of Judge Smith came from his actions in continuing the Noel divorce case against the written order of Judge Harrison of the District Court of Appeals. Theophilus Noel, the plaintiff, asked for a writ of mandate which would order Judge Smith either to place the case with another judge or show cause why he should not do so. This writ was granted on August 12, 1905. Then he continued with the case against the objections of the plaintiff.

The case goes on again tomorrow.

REAL PRINCE HERE.

CELEBRATING PROMOTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Prince Ferdinando of Savoy, eldest son of the Duke of Genoa, a member of the royal family of Italy, arrived here today on the Italian cruiser Calabria, on his way around the world. He is celebrating his coming of age last year and also his promotion from the rank of cadet to that of midshipman, equivalent to second lieutenant in the American navy.

This is the Calabria's first stop at any North American city, the vessel having come from Gibraltar around Cape Horn.

At Acapulco, the prince was welcomed by the Italian consul and the officers of the United States gunboat Castine, and given letters of introduction to many prominent Americans. He will be elaborately entertained in this city.

The Calabria will continue its voyage by way of Honolulu, Yokohama and Shanghai.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

May Sing in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—United States District Judge De Haven today refused to enjoin Signora Luisa Tetrazzini from singing in this city. The famous songstress signed a contract with Mr. Conried of the Metropolitan Opera Company to appear in New York next November. The contract was signed last year and stipulated that she was not to sing elsewhere in the interim. Her attorneys declared that, according to the contract, she would be deprived of means of livelihood for fourteen months. The court held that Conried would not suffer loss by Signora Tetrazzini singing three thousand miles away from New York.

OBITUARY.

Jules Grau.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Jules Grau, a theatrical manager for many years, died today at his home in this city after a protracted illness. Mr. Grau, who was a brother of Maurice Grau, the impresario, and of Robert Grau, had been interested in the promotion of opera enterprises for the last twenty years. Mr. Grau was the first in this country to bring out the original production of "The Mikado," Gilbert & Sullivan's famous opera. Mr. Grau also brought many famous foreign singers to this country. Mr. Grau is survived by a widow and three children.

Senora Dolores Miranda.

W. B. Storey.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 11.—W. B. Storey, one of the oldest employés of the Wells-Fargo Company, is dead. He came to California in the early 50's, and was the first "shotgun" messenger employed by that company in this State. He was a native of London, and 75 years of age.

A detachment of Mexican troops has been sent to Clapperton Island, in the Pacific, to guarantee the interests of the company which has a concession to establish fisheries in the neighborhood of the island.

REVOLT.

In the "Black Town" district the patrol fired a volley into a crowd of Russian workmen from which a shot was supposed to have been fired, but the dispatch to the Caucasus Oil Company expressly states that no one was killed.

Throughout the "Black Town" district, the patrols are acting energetically in suppressing disorders.

VERY DISQUIETING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 11.—Dispatches from Baku received today indicate that increased quiet and better conditions are prevailing there. No further fires have occurred, and the troops which have arrived there are now holding the oil fields under control.

The news from other parts of the Caucasus, however, is very disquieting. Disturbances are spreading all over the region more or less seriously.

Oil men representing an annual production of 600,000,000 pounds met today and determined to ask the State for assistance in obtaining a twenty-year loan, without interest, to cover the losses resulting from the catastrophe at Baku, without which loan, they declared, 108 of the 133 companies would be unable to continue in business.

The meeting drew up a remonstrance which they will ask Finance Minister Kokovsof to present to Emperor Nicholas, stating that it is impossible for the naphtha industry to exist under present conditions and that the companies would not resume operations unless guarantees were given them that order would soon be restored and permanently maintained in the oil regions.

The oil men in Nizshni Novgorod and Astrakhan express the fear that attempts will be made to burn the stocks of oil stored there and ask for the taking of protective measures.

LANDED PROPRIETOR KILLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TIFLIS, Sept. 11.—Prince Tsitsianoff, a landed proprietor, was assassinated today at Gordi (fifty miles from Tiflis.)

The following incident, showing the desperate spirit displayed by the Tartars, is reported from Baku: "A band of Tartars barricaded themselves in the house of a rich Mussulman and fired from the windows on a patrol officer who called on them to surrender. The Tartars replied with another volley and continued firing while artillery was brought up. The artillery laid the house in ruins, the Tartars perishing to a man."

STRIKE AT WARSAW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WARSAW (Russian Poland) Sept. 11.—In consequence of the execution Friday of Kaspiak, a Socialist leader who was condemned by a court-martial for inciting a police murder, all the factory employés in Warsaw struck today. Cossacks and infantry are patrolling the streets.

A large number of arrests were made in a theater in Lodz last night. An individual from the gallery flooded the house with revolutionary documents, whereupon the police surrounded the theater and arrested about two hundred of the occupants.

CLEARING OPERATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A dispatch to the Times from Baku, dated September 11, says that the Nobel Company and the Baku Naphtha Company have begun clearing operations on their properties, but that the work will be difficult owing to the scarcity of workmen. The correspondent adds that no Armenian firms or workmen have resumed.

William B. Beal, formerly one of the prominent contractors of San Francisco, died yesterday afternoon at Agnews sanitarium from a fit of apoplexy. He went to San Francisco forty-five years ago.

KEEPING WOMEN GREET KING VICTOR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME (Italy) Sept. 11.—The king, accompanied by Ministers Tittoni and Morris, has journeyed in an automobile through Monteleone, San Giovanni, Piscopio and other towns. Crowds of weeping women and children knelt along the roadside succor, while inhabitants stupefied in mute despair. The country was greatly affected by the earthquake and inspected the ruined districts.

The king expressed the military engineers with the utmost praise for the temporary houses to shelter the people while more suitable dwellings in the direction of new villages is to be built. His Majesty will leave aboard the royal train and continue his journey tomorrow.

Rain has been falling for days and there has been no rain in the mountains, the banks of the rivers overflowing.

SCENE ON DREAD SCENE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CATANZARO (Calabria) Sept. 11.—King Victor Emmanuel arrived today and was received by the earthquake. Accompanied by Sig. Ferraris, Minister of Public Works, and the population of the King a demonstration of welcome.

The king previously visited Monteleone, which presented a terrible spectacle. All the houses have been destroyed and the inhabitants are in a state of helpless terror.

During the railway trip from Tripani, Sig. Ferraris saw upon an elevation the ruins of a village, completely destroyed. The entire district shows the immensity of the disaster. Torn walls of all the buildings were tumbled down, and the population was crying to be conducted to the Minister, who stood at the edge of a great fissure of earth where formerly existed a portion of the place, now swallowed up.

At Piscopio troops are burying bodies, and everywhere officers and soldiers are sharing their rations with the population.

Sig. Orlando, the proprietor of the shipyard at Leghorn, has contributed $12,000 for the relief of the earthquake sufferers.

SATISFACTION SLOW COMING.

Sultan Sticks to His "Rights" in Vartanian Case.

Situation at Tangier is "Entirely Uncomfortable."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Minister Leishman's reports to the State Department indicate that the Turkish government is disposed to maintain strongly its position that the naturalized Armenian who has been sentenced to death for murder at Stamboul shall be treated as a Turkish subject and cannot be allowed the privileges of an American citizen. The Minister is continuing his efforts in behalf of Vastanian.

The Turkish government has so far not formally proposed the settlement of the issue by arbitration, and it appears that Mr. Leishman would be obliged to decline any such proposal. The American law as to citizenship is different from any of the European countries, which almost uniformly require that their assent shall be secured to the naturalization abroad of their subjects, so that it would probably be impossible to secure an arbitration court that would not be obliged to hold that international law was adverse to the American position.

GUMERE IN DANGER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The following cablegram has been received at the State Department from American Minister Gumere, dated at Tangier today: "The tribes are fighting in the immediate neighborhood of Tangier, the Anghera versus Raisuli's tribe. The government in undecided in its position and the situation is entirely uncomfortable. A joint protest is being made by the diplomatic corps to the Minister of Foreign Affairs. Have been informed that the mountains are unsafe and am returning to Tangier immediately."

It appears that Mr. Gumere had leased the beautiful residence formerly occupied by Ion Perdicaris, which was the scene of his kidnaping by Raisuli and is situated some distance in the country.

RUSSIA'S ACT VOLUNTARY.

TARIFF LAW CHANGES RESULT OF NEGOTIATION.

Ambassador Meyer Has Been Working on the Matter for Months Under the Orders of the President—Shaw Will Ask a Return Favor for Russia—Swiss Relent.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The State Department has not yet been informed formally of the action of the Russian government in revoking the ukase imposing maximum tariff rates on certain American articles of importation, principally machinery and metal goods.

Ever since last spring, Ambassador Meyer, acting under instructions of the department, has been trying to secure a removal of these restrictions on American trade which have been very disastrous, especially to a large and increasing business in agricultural implements and machinery. It was for a time expected the desired result could be secured by making an agreement between the United States and Russia under Section 3 of the Dingley Act, but the Russian government finally concluded that it would rescind the ukase voluntarily and without exacting a return favor. Consequently, American cast and wrought metal work, tools, machinery, portable engines, locomotives and many other important staple exports which were being fairly driven out of the Russian market by the competition of German and English machinery favored by the minimum tariff rates, are now expected to have an enormous sale, not only in Russia proper, but in Siberia, which will develop rapidly from an agricultural point of view as a result of the cessation of hostilities.

It is understood that Secretary Shaw will recommend to the next Congress legislation calculated to remove some of the severe features of the existing tariff laws providing for the imposition of a countervailing duty on bounty-aided sugar, the application of which by Secretary Gage in 1901, caused the retaliatory action by Russia embodied in the ukase directed against American machinery.

It is learned that Switzerland, too, which has imposed maximum rates on American products, is about to voluntarily extinguish them and allow American exporters the benefits of the minimum tariff rates.

CROPS ARE GOOD.

GOVERNMENT ESTIMATES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The Department of Agriculture at noon today issued the following crop bulletin:

The crop estimating board of the bureau of statistics of the Department of Agriculture, finds from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the bureau as follows:

The condition of corn on September 1 was 89.5 as compared with 89 last month; 84.6 on September 1, 1904; 80.1 at the corresponding date in 1903, and a ten year average of 81.7.

The average condition of spring wheat when harvested was 87.3. This is the second year that spring wheat has been separately reported on September 1 and comparison can therefore only be made with the condition one month ago which was 89.2 and with that reported September 1, 1904, which was 66.2 The condition of the five principal States is reported as follows: North Dakota, 89; South Dakota, 89; Iowa, 91; Minnesota, 84; Washington, 91.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The War Department has detailed Maj. John E. Baxter will be relieved in the New England work by Capt. George L. Elwood, now in charge of construction work in Oregon and Washington.

PEACE.

parture of the Japanese peace commission for Japan, which had been set for Thursday, may be delayed by the illness of Baron Komura, who is confined to his apartments at the Waldorf-Astoria. The Baron's condition since Saturday has caused some anxiety, and a recurrence of high temperature and fever today resulted in a call for a consultation of physicians, which will be held at 4 o'clock. Dr. William B. Pritchard said that internal congestion had manifested itself, and that the gall bladder was affected or obstructed.

Tonight, at the Waldorf-Astoria, following the consultation of physicians, it was said that it was still undetermined as to whether or not Baron Komura will be able to set out on his journey to Japan next Thursday.

FIRST TRAIN AT GOLDFIELD.

NEIGH OF THE IRON HORSE MAKES TOWN HAPPY.

Throng at Station Expresses Joyous Feelings — Preparations for Big Demonstration Over Advent of the Railroad—Governor and Railroad Officials to Participate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first train over the Goldfield Road reached its destination tonight. At the depot there was a throng to express jubilant feelings, as the locomotive pulled up at 10:30 o'clock.

Plans are practically perfected for a big celebration that is to be held during the last three days of this week, to mark the advent of the railroad. Gov. Sparks, United States Senator Nixon, Congressman Vanduser, Supt. Tripp of the Tonopah and Goldfield railroad, numerous railroad officials of the Southern Pacific and other lines, and many persons prominent in political, mining and commercial affairs of the West, are expected to be among the distinguished guests of the town.

An elaborate programme of sports and other features has been arranged including a series of ball games between Reno, Tonopah, Rhyolite and Goldfield for the State championship, horse races, an international drilling contest and numerous other contests of an interesting character.

Mine owners of the district have subscribed $25,000 for the celebration. Special rates have been made on the various roads. Already the city is in gala attire and will present an attractive appearance upon the arrival of the first train load of visitors.

ACTIVE VOLCANOES.

Returned Missionary Has Many Stories to Tell of Eruptions in the South Sea Islands.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Among the passengers who arrived today on the liner Sierra was J. F. Brim, a Mormon missionary from Samoa, who a few days before joining the Sierra at Tutulla visited the scene of the great volcanic eruption on the island of Savaii. The eruption was still active when he came away. The lava, still flowing, had covered a distance of four miles. Upon the direction it takes depends the fate of one of the most fertile valleys on the island and the welfare of about 400 people. In any event the lava field will change the southern coast line from a flat stretch of sand to a tumble of barren boulders.

The eruption occurred in a mountain behind the district of Matauta. About 3 o'clock a.m. of August 21 the natives and missionaries for ten miles around were awakened by a terrific booming. Investigation showed three volcanoes on the Matauta slope in full action. The glare of the fire from the three cones bathed the sky for miles around in deep crimson. Huge boulders shot hundreds of feet into the air and came down like shooting stars. The awful pyrotechnics have continued with varying activity ever since and an old volcano, twenty miles away, has awakened from a long slumber and is once more in full eruption.

DELAY PUBLISHING TERMS.

Anglo-Japanese Treaty Not Yet Given to the World by British Foreign Office.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Further delay has occurred in the publication of the text of the Anglo-Japanese treaty. It was decided last week to issue the treaty this evening or September 12, at the latest, but the Associated Press was informed at the Foreign Office today that probably several days will yet elapse before the text of the treaty is made public. No intimation is given regarding the cause of the delay. The impression prevails that it is due to a request of the Japanese, but for what reason is not stated.

SPANISH ELECTION RETURNS.

MADRID, Sept. 11.—The result of the legislative elections held yesterday is not definite. Republican gains are indicated. The Monarchists have carried Madrid and the Republicans have carried Barcelona and Valencia. The elections assure the government an important majority in the Cortes. The known results are: 140 Ministerialists elected, 64 Conservatives, 23 Republicans, six Independents and three Carlists. There were many election disturbances, during one of which a girl was killed.

Riching and party of fifteen surveyors will reach Bullfrog tonight, having completed the location of a railroad from Goldfield over the Amargosa River route. This survey was made in record time and indicates an intention to begin construction without delay.

GREENE SELLS OUT COPPER.

Phelps, Dodge and Company Buy Cananea Property.

Biggest Mining Power in the Southwest Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Phelps, Dodge & Co. have just completed a deal by which they have obtained full control of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company at Cananea, the greatest copper property in Mexico and one of the greatest in the world; the Shannon Copper Company at Morenci and a number of other good mines in that vicinity, as well as a number of others surrounding their present holdings at Globe, where they already own the Old Dominion and United Globe mines and smelter. Col. W. C. Greene will retire from the company.

The importance of this great deal is seen when it is stated that the Greene company has paid three millions in dividends within less than five years and during May last produced 5,869,000 pounds of copper, 38,970 ounces of silver, and 292 ounces of gold. The smelter is of 3000 tons capacity and the concentrator of 2250. About 4000 men are employed.

The Shannon Company produced during the first six months of the year 5,814,000 pounds. The Phelps-Dodge people already own large properties at Clifton and Morenci and this will give them nearly all the larger holdings in the two camps.

At the Douglas smelter the output is 110 tons a day, with a gross value of $25,000 or at the rate of $12,000,000 a year in round numbers. This belongs to the Copper Queen Company, already controlled by Phelps, Dodge & Co.

The report was sent out some time since that Dr. Ricketts, superintendent at the Old Dominion, was to take charge at Cananea.

In addition to their copper holdings, the Phelph-Dodge people own the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad system, the El Paso and Northeastern Railroad and the great coalfields in Lincoln county and at Dawson, New Mexico, transferred to them a few months ago with their purchase of the latter road.

SAME OLD STORY.

Of Sixteen Men Who go to Africa to Work on a Railroad, but One Returns Alive.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Mobile, Ala., says William Hilburn, a former resident of that city, arrived there yesterday after three adventurous years spent in the wilds of Africa, with sixteen others, in response to glowing offers by agents of a construction company building the Cape-to-Cairo Railroad. Hilburn is the only one of the sixteen to return alive.

Hilburn and his fifteen companions accepted terms to work upon the railroad as engineers and trestle builders. They left Pensacola, Fla., on August 22, 1902, under a promise of big wages and other flattering inducements.

The party embarked for the Zambesi River district, north of the Transvaal, where the Cape-to-Cairo Railroad was under construction. In due time they arrived. At this time Hilburn states that their hardships began.

What was expected to be a scene of activity and wealth, turned out to be a desolate railroad camp in the tungies.

TOO HASTY FOR HITCHCOCK.

Interior Department Inspector Who Married Chorus Girl on Day's Acquaintance Dismissed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MUSKOGEE (I. T.) Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lawrence Brown, inspector for the Department of the Interior, whose hasty marriage to Miss Florence Hargraves of Colorado Springs, a member of the chorus with the Irma Opera Company, caused a sensation at the Oklahoma capital, has been dismissed from the service and notice given that marriages on one day's acquaintance are not looked upon with favor by the Interior Department. When Brown and his newly-wedded wife reached Muskogee yesterday, the former was summoned to the office of the inspector and notified that his resignation had been called for by the President.

Brown was in Guthrie early last week on official duty, and after the performance by the opera company, he and some young men gave a supper to several chorus girls. Brown and Miss Hargraves sat opposite each other, and before the evening was over, he proposed marriage. The ceremony took place on the following day.

POLITICAL PRISONERS COMING.

Turks Gather Five Hundred Armenians Preparatory to Deporting Them to the United States.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Advices have been received at the local immigration office that 500 Armenians have been gathered at Harpoot and 200 at Malatia, Turkey, and thrown into prison to be deported to this country. Some of them have gone from the United States as far back as 1895.

When the prisoners reach the United States it is believed that most of them will be deported, as few of them have substantial claim for residence in this country.

FARMER GETS APPOINTMENT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Benjamin Davis, a ranchman of Texas has been appointed special counsel for the government in the packers cases by Atty.-Gen. Moody. The War Department made the appointment on Monday. Mr. Davis's official position during the beef case trials will be that of special assistant United States district-attorney. The appointment was made by the Attorney-General upo nthe recommendation of Dist.-Atty. C. B. Morrison, and assistant Atty.-Gen. Oliver E. Pagin.

Cabbage Leaves Become Greenbacks.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Disptach.] Mrs. Hegan Rice, author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," while not altogether forsaking literary pursuits, has made her début in the commercial world by organizing here a new national bank, with a capital stock of $250,000. Associated with her in the enterprise is her husband, Cale Young Rice, W. O. Head and L. M. Rice, all of whom are well known in this city. About half of the capital stock has been subscribed. It is understood that Mrs. Rice is the largest stockholder.

MANY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

With All the Extra Buildings Ready Many New York Pupils Cannot Find a Seat.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Greater New York's public schools will open this morning, and in many buildings children will march into the classrooms as the carpenters, plumbers and other mechanics march out.

Every available artisan has been employed day and night since last Friday on the unfinished buildings, and sittings have been provided for thousands of pupils in structures that were in little more than skeleton form a short time ago. Still, with all the extraordinary effort and close figuring, officials of the Board of Education can only guess at the number of children who will be unable to find accommodation in the classrooms today.

The most reliable estimates indicate that there will be 75,000 to 80,000 this year. Last year there were 81,318 at the end of the first week's registration, but at the closing of the school last spring that number had been diminished to 66,394. It is estimated, however, that not fewer than 600,000 children will be registered by the end of the week.

GEORGIA "NEGRESS" IS A MAN.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Paul Dowring has been ordered at the Mansion House to be sent to the insane asylum at Dartford. Dowring turned out to be a Georgia negress, who, for two years, has been masquerading in England as a man. She was arrested on Blackfriars Bridge Saturday, but the police had no suspicion of her sex, and it was not until she had been removed to Bow Infirmary that it was discovered she was a woman. At the time she was taken into custody the negress, who posed as a man, claimed to be looking for his wife in the omnibuses passing.

GERMAN BANK RAISES RATES.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—The rate of discount of the Imperial Bank of Germany was raised from 3 to 4 per cent. today. The controlling reason for raising the rate was the comparative weakness of the status of the bank, owing to the heavy demands of industry and trade and to speculation on the bourse. In proposing the increase, Vice-President Gallenkamp pointed out that the gold stock of the bank had been steadily declining for some months, having been reduced about $21,600,000 since June 23, and that it was now at the lowest for this year.

HILL COMING WEST.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern road arrived at his office today from Lenox, Mass. He intends to start for the Adirondacks tomorrow and on Wednesday will start for St. Paul via Montreal with Mrs. Hill, who has now recovered from her illness. Mr. Hill will go to the Pacific Coast and will return to the city about October 12.

WEALTH KILLED HIM.

TRINIDAD (Colo.) Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Van Brimer, a veteran in the Soldiers' Home at Leavenworth, was notified Saturday that he was one of twenty-one heirs who would divide an estate worth $12,000,000 in Holland. Excitement caused by the news killed him in a few hours. His heirs live here and in Pueblo.

PERRY DAY OBSERVED.

NEWPORT (R. I.) Sept. 11.—"Perry Day," the most important day in "Old Home Week," in this city, and named in honor of Rhode Island's great naval hero, Commodore Perry, was observed today. Statues of Perry were handsomely decorated, as also was the old stone mill. The principal event of the day was a naval parade of sailors and marines from the vessels of the coast squadron of the North Atlantic fleet and apprentices summoned from the naval training station.

COMPANY RESPONSIBLE.

NORFOLK (Va.) Sept. 11.—Juries which investigated the wreck of the Kingston-Greenville excursion train, which went through an open draw near Bruces Station August 17, in which thirty persons lost their lives, today returned a verdict holding the railroad company responsible because of its alleged neglect in trusting the train to an engineer who is said to have been unfamiliar with the road.

FOLK NAMED FOR PRESIDENCY.

SALT LAKE, Sept. 11.—Gov. Folk of Missouri was recommended for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency by former Congressman William H. King at a banquet given here tonight. ## NO PEACE IN AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

VIENNA, Sept. 11.—All hope of peace between the Crown and the United Opposition in the Hungarian Diet seems to have come to an end. It is understood that Emperor Francis Joseph, who at first was apparently inclined to acquiesce in the plans of the Hungarian ministers for the granting of universal suffrage as one way of bringing about the defeat of the United Opposition, has been induced to change his mind by the Austrian ministers, who feared the effect on political conditions in Austria if universal suffrage should be granted to the Hungarian people.

DONE BY CHILDREN.

This is a record in circulation achievement which challenges favorable comparison with the results attained by trained solicitors working along any lines of newspaper promotion. And done by children!

It may not be possible in every community. The home-loving, school-loving people of Los Angeles and all of Southern California respond generously to the call of the children whose ambitions arouse them to earn scholarships. For five years The Times has made yearly demonstrations of the general good which comes of their contests, so that every year they grow in magnitude. With 120 graduates from former contests conducted by The Times, distributed over The Times field, and all loyally supporting the project, the public makes ready response to every scholarship campaign. Every contest conducted by The Times has been a success, and the adage holds true that nothing succeeds like success.

LOUBET REVIEWS TROOPS.

CHATEAU BRIENNE, (Department of the Aube, France,) Sept. 11.—President Loubet arrived on the field of maneuvers today and was given a notable welcome by the assembled generals and troops. At Ville Hardouin President Loubet encountered Lieutenant-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, Brig.-Gen. J. Franklin Bell, Brig.-Gen. William Crozier, and their staffs. The Americans were presented to M. Loubet.

W. S. RAINEY DEAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—W. S. Rainey, a prominent drygoods merchant of this city, is dead. He was a native of New York, and crossed the plains when only 8 years of age, with his parents. He has resided in this city ever since.

No Ornament Required.

J. C. Harris tells a story of meeting a man at breakfast in a New Orleans hotel who was searching the bill of fare for something he had never eaten. He in some way decided that waffles were the item for him, and from that time forth he kept the waiter pretty busy. The flavor of the novel dish appeared to make a hit with him, and so great was his power of consumption that he had the waiter hustling from table to kitchen and vice versa.

Indeed, says Harris, the waffles didn't come fast enough. Finally the man called the waiter to his side, and in a confidential way made this following helpful suggestion:

"Say, bub, you might be able to hustle them little cakes along some faster if you would tell the cook to cut out the printing on 'em. Tell him just to send 'em along plain!"—[Woman's Home Companion.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 46,000 copies. (When the 1-cent Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Side Talks by the Office Boy

At a banquet I attended in New York they called upon me to respond to the toast "Los Angeles." I told them Los Angeles in a few years had grown from a little adobe town of a few thousand to a great commercial city of nearly a quarter of a million, that we had the greatest aggregation of "Hustlers" ever bunched together, that I firmly believed that within five years Los Angeles would extend from Altadena to the sea, that Pasadena, Ocean Park, Venice, Santa Monica, Sawtelle and The Palms would all be a portion of Greater Los Angeles. I told them we had Italy and the South of France left at the post when it came to climate, that as soon as our water supply was assured (this happened before you voted) we'd begin to build beautiful boulevards and beautify our parks and make this the garden spot of the world. I told them New York had no edge on us on any kind of a proposition, that if they could put our climate up in bottles and barrels, they'd be shipping trainloads of it East, that they had to come to us for it. Then I told them about our wonderful school system, our great banking institutions, and I didn't do a thing but boost the Silverwood stores told them we had their eastern stores beat in every way.

UNION PRINTS WANT TROUBLE.

Propose to Work Eight Hours or be Bums.

Agitator Jim Lynch Makes a Very Big Bluff.

Job Men in Omaha Will Quit Work This Week.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Sept. 11.—The International Typographic committee and the committee from the Typothetae of this city, failed to agree to an eight-hour day at a conference late today. The local typographical union has ordered all the members in this city to strike at once in every shop where the eight-hour day is not in effect. One hundred and fifty men are involved. President James Lynch, of the International Typographical Union, said tonight:

"I have instructed unions in their respective cities to demand a contract immediately for an eight-hour day to commence January 1. Wherever the demand is refused they have been instructed to strike at once."

JOBBERS STRIKE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The job printers of this city are expected to go on strike before the end of this week in an attempt to force the eight-hour day on the print shops. The latter are well orgahized and expect to win out over the printers should they go on strike. This afternoon the union complained of the firm of Kiopp & Bartlett, claiming that the firm was permitting non-union workmen to learn linotype work. The firm refused to pull the new man off and a strike may result in that shop tommorrow. The Omaha unions are well organized, controlling almost every shop in the city, but the proprietors claim to be able to draw as many workmen from the small towns of the State as they need and express a willingness to try conclusions with the Typographical Union.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Freight handlers sent a request to twenty-two roads today for conference with the company's manager by 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning at which time it is expected to submit demands for a wage increase of approximately ten per cent. If the request is refused the plan of the labor leaders is to submit to a referendum vote immediately the question calling a strike of freight handlers. What they will do is a problem.

It is reported that at least two of the roads—the Lake Shore and Illinois Central—had secured buildings for the purpose of equipping them as barracks for strike breakers.

CONFESSES TO A CRIME AFTER THIRTY-ONE YEARS.

Fiend Incarnate Slays a Woman and Permits an Innocent Man to be Hanged for His Deed by Bad Miscarriage of Justice—Guilty Man Ends His Mental Agony by Suicide.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MINOT (N. D.) Sept. 11.—"When my lifeless body is found notify my mother, Mrs. Catherine Hersig, of Girard, O. See the inclosed letter, which will reveal my identity and the awful secret of my wretched life. I can endure it no longer."

The foregoing note was found by Frank Byer, who lives on a claim near Hidden Wood, this county. It was written by one of his harvest hands. The writer, who signs himself Charles Hersig says:

"Dear Mr. Byer: In the early seventies Charles Sterling, a supposed tramp, was tried for the murder of Lizzie Grombacher, a beautiful young woman residing near Youngstown, in Mahoning county, Ohio. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence and was hanged for the crime in the county jail at Youngstown.

"Charles Sterling was an innocent man. I am guilty of the murder of that young girl.

"Charles Hersig."

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) Sept. 11.—The murder of Teresa Grombacher occurred in 1874 and Charles Sterling, a tramp, was hanged for it. Sterling maintained his innocence to the last.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

EVIDENCE OF FOUL PLAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—What may develop into another mysterious hotel murder like that of Jacob H. Thompson, a well-known editor, was discovered yesterday in an obscure hostelry at Sixth avenue and Fifty-sixth street.

Through the odor of escaping gas a man in the hotel was drawn to a room occupied for the night previous by Alfred Krattinger, a public accountant, who lived with his wife, father and brothers in West Fifty-second street. The room was broken open and Krattinger found dead in the bed. There were no signs of violence and it appeared to be a commonplace suicide, such as coroners handle a dozen times a week. A Coroner and detectives made a systematic examination and began to discover things that set them to thinking.

It was observed that the transom of the room was half open, while the room showed none of the usual preparations for suicide by gas.

When the Coroner came to examine the body he noticed that the face was not blackened or discolored, as frequently happens in asphyxiation cases. Then he saw a large bruise over the right ear, near the temple. It was such a contusion as might have been caused by a hard fall or a blow from a heavy stick or blunt weapon. The Coroner could not determine from cursory examination whether the skull was fractured. That will be determined today by the Coroner's physician.

Krattinger's brother told the Coroner that there should be found on the body a diamond pin worth $1100 and a considerable amount of cash. The only thing found in the pockets was a cheap pocket knife. There was no trace of the diamond pin.

It was subsequently ascertained by the Coroner that the hotel register had been tampered with and the time of Krattinger's arrival changed. The hotel employés professed entire ignorance as to who made the change.

Krattinger's father and brothers declared after the examination that they were positive the accountant had been murdered in his room early yesterday morning for his money and pin, and that the thief and murderer had escaped by the Sixth-avenue window after arranging the body neatly and turning on the gas to create the impression of suicide.

SECURE LITTLE MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Elgin, Ill., says: Bound, gagged and tortured by fire by three bandits who sought to make them reveal the hiding place of treasure they thought concealed in the house, Andrew and John Fohren, old and wealthy farmers living near Spring Lake, twelve miles north of here, are in a serious condition and it is feared that the shock and injuries may prove fatal to Andrew, the elder of the two brothers.

Andrew, after the robbers had searched the house and taken $300, managed to free himself from the thongs which bound him, and started across the fields to secure help. The soles of his feet were blistered, however, and before he had gone far he fainted and fell in a ditch, where he lay until after daylight. Finally he revived and made his way to a cheese factory, where he gave the alarm, but the bandits had gained a start of several hours and could not be found.

The bandits appeared last night, and when refused admittance battered in the door and overpowered the old men after a brief struggle. They then searched the house, and finding only $300 concluded that a larger sum was concealed somewhere. They beat and choked their victims and finally applied lighted papers to the soles of their feet to make them tell where the supposed treasure was hidden.

After half an hour of excruciating torture John Fohren fainted from pain, and the robbers left. John was still unconscious when assistance arrived, but revived and is in a less serious condition than his elder brother.

CAR HOG BEATEN.

STABBED THREE MEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A row which started early today at Second avenue and Fifty-ninth street in a quarrel over a seat in a crowded surface car almost ended in a lynching.

Tony Brown was beaten severely by a mob, which chased him from Third avenue to Second, under the belief that he had committed murder. Had it not been for his prompt rescue by a policeman the man might have been beaten to death.

A woman who entered the car with her husband, her brother and another man was about to take a seat when Brown made a rush to it. The woman's husband protested. Brown drew an ice pick and stabbed him through both hands. Then he attacked the other two men and plunged the pick into their bodies.

A panic ensued among the crowd aboard the car and when Brown leaped off, swinging the weapon over his head, he was followed by several hundred persons. After running a block he was tripped and jumped upon by the mob, who trampled him into the cobblestones.

Two policemen arrived in the nick of time. They ordered the mob to desist, but were met with refusal and only succeeded in rescuing Brown by drawing their revolvers and holding the crowd in check until a reserve force arrived.

BLACKMAIL MINNIE STIRS POLITICIANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Minnie Lee Ivers Lawrence, supposed to be the mysterious "Helen Butler," and accused of attempting to blackmail Governor Herrick of Ohio, was today located at Columbus, the capital of that State. Her discovery still further complicates the case, which has already caused a tremendous political and social sensation in two States, and threatens to involve men of national importance. She at first denied her identity, but later admitted she was Mrs. Lawrence, and that she had been in conference with attorneys relative to pushing the claims of her alleged boy.

Today the names of Orrin W. Potter, a millionaire of Chicago, Cleveland and New York, and Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, were brought into the case. It was said that Potter had bought the claim of the woman's husband in the steel mills of Chicago for $15,000. This is denied by Potter's relatives. Tom L. Johnson is said to have been approached by the woman who desired to sell him information to be used against Governor Herrick in the last campaign, but that she was ordered out. She started today for Chicago and detectives here will probably arrest her as soon as she arrives. Attorney Shay of Cincinnati, who at first had her case, dropped it, and she today attempted to induce Judge Ulric Sloan of Columbus to act as her counsel. He told her he would investigate, and if there was any suspicion of blackmail, he would have nothing to do with it. Efforts have been made by the political enemies of Governor Deneen of Illinois to link his name in a vague way with the case, but it is made clear that he never knew the woman, or even heard of her.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Hurls His Children at Police.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Wurm, at midnight Saturday night, hurled his two little children from a window at policemen who were besieging his home. Unable to inflict injury on his foes in this manner, Wurm fired four shots at them and then blew out his brains. Previously he had stabbed Peter Meyer in a fight in a saloon. Detectives demanded admittance. Wurm threatened to kill any person who forced an entrance. As the detectives returned to the street for a parley, a policeman went up the steps. Wurm hurled Edna, his daughter, three years old, at the men, followed an instant later by the form of Rosie, four years old. Both children were caught in the arms of the policeman and were not injured.

John Hay His Preference.

Once in talking with Marshall Field, the great merchant of Chicago, he told me that his preference and choice for President was none other than John Hay. I asked him if it might be my privilege to convey that information to Mr. Hay. He said that I was at liberty to do so.

I wish that I could picture the modest way in which the Secretary received this great compliment from the celebrated merchant, for the little incident speaks of the sterling qualities of John Hay's character. There was none of that affected modesty, which is sometimes seen in the political maneuverer. He replied in that mellifluous voice so resonant with earnest candor: "We never are too old to be sensible of the kindly appreciation of our fellowmen. As for Presidential ambitions, I never possessed them even in the slightest degree, for I knew beyond all doubt that I could not hold that position. But to have the consideration and appreciation of my fellow-citizens, even in such a remote connection, is, indeed, gratifying."—[Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Snake Hunters.

"Down South the darkies are great snake hunters," said Capt. J. H. Coyne of Tampa, Fla. "There seems to be an irresistible fascination about the sport, and many prefer it to any other form of amusement.

"It is in the marshes and bayous that the colored people hunt their game, which is caught by long poles with forked ends and string slip nooses. Many are captured for the sake of their oil, which is supposed to be a fine remedy for rheumatism and other ailments.

"The live snakes are used in the mysterious ceremonies of 'Voodoo,' and the several uses to which they are put and the tortures to which they are often forced to undergo are supposed to annihilate witches, remove 'spells' put upon darkies by malicious persons, and to insure the presence of good luck. When one of the snake hunters is bitten he treats it as a light matter. He enlarges the bite with his penknife and drains it with his lips. It is seldom one of them dies of snakebite."—[Milwaukee Sentinel.

FALLING FLOODS TELL TALE.

LAST WATER RUSH DIDN'T HURT THE DAM.

Gravel Dyke Above that Place is Carried Away and Its Rebuilding Awaits the Receding of the River. Deputy Sheriff Has Great Struggle With Crazy Railroad Man.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 10.—The late floods in Salt River are subsiding, and it is learned that so far as the Arizona canal dam is concerned, the situation is exactly as reported at first in the dispatches, namely, that the dam itself was uninjured by the last flood, though the disaster of last spring has never been more than half repaired in a permanent way.

To facilitate the repairs in progress and to temporarily divert the water from the river into the canal, a gravel dyke was thrown up above the dam across that part of the river marked by the remaining part of the break in the dam. This dyke has gone out, and in consequence there will be no water until the river recedes sufficiently to permit of its rebuilding, a work that may take nearly a month.

For the next month or so there will be no important suffering of ranch products, for summer crops are made, and it is early yet for winter planting. But many farmers are pasturing hundreds of head of cattle and depending on the canals for stock water. For them the situation is serious and perplexing. The last flood also did much damage to the Mesa Canal dam, the Tempe canal dam, the Lambeye dam, the Meridian dam and the Indian dam, the latter diverting water for the Maricopa Indians. All these dams throw water to the south side of the river, while the Arizona diverts it to the north side.

While the damage to the south siders is considerable, it is not specially embarrassing, as they have had plenty of water all summer, while the farmers under the Arizona have been short owing to the break in the Arizona last spring. And further, the injury to these smaller dams is more easily repaired.

FURY OF LUNATIC.

Sheriff E. P. Shanley of Globe arrived here a couple of days ago with a crazy railroad man for the insane asylum, and had the time of his life with him. Before leaving Globe the man assaulted him and beat him so badly he delayed the trip a couple of days. En route they spent one night at Maricopa. The patient was chained to an iron bed, but he got up and dragged the bed over the sleeping officer, who escaped with bruises, but might have been killed, only for his rabbit's foot.

Arrived in Phoenix the man was placed in a hack. At the asylum the lunatic again assaulted the officer as he was leaving the vehicle, and knocked him down. This frightened the horses, who started to run, the wheels of the hack passing over the Sheriff. But he was too tough to kill, and finally won the day. Incidentally, he brought the news that just before his departure, a deputy had returned from Mexico with two Mexicans, believed to be the murderers of S. S. Plunkett and E. E. Kennedy, near Roosevelt, several weeks ago.

TRIO OF TRAGEDIES.

The third tragedy within twelve days to be reported from Mohave county, was the killing on the 7th inst. at Nelson of Jesus Yales, a Mexican section hand, by Isaac Frank, his section boss. Yales was discharged by Frank and in the evening of the same day the Mexican assaulted him. Frank warned him to retreat, but he did not heed it, when Frank fired with deadly effect, the Mexican living only a short time. The Coroner's jury exonerated Frank. For a time some trouble was feared by friends of the dead Mexican, but it was successfully quieted by the whites, who came to the protection of Frank.

TERRITORIAL BRIEFS.

A negro named R. Barton is in jail at Tucson charged with impersonating an officer and as such holding up Mexicans and strangers in town, searching them and taking their money, then releasing them under instructions to appear in court and explain their business and excuse for having large sums of money about them. Of course the inference was he would be there to return the money if their stories were good, but he never showed up and his victims grew suspicious even before court time, reported to real policemen, and caused the arrest of the negro.

L. A. Amirault of this city left for Los Angeles last night to buy material to be used in a new hotel which he has the contract to build in Globe. It is to cost approximately $50,000, and will be built of stone and brick.

Ygnacio Carmetlo, a ten-year-old Mexican boy, has been arrested in Yuma by the rangers and has pleaded guilty to being the author of several small but dangerous and disquieting fires that have occurred in that town lately. His only excuse is that he liked to see the local fire company turn out, and it was fun for him to watch the hose playing on a fire. He seems to be a pervert, but at his tender age there is no punishment for him apparently, except the reform school.

John Skaggs has been held to the grand jury for the killing of George Clark at the Skaggs ranch on Beaver Creek, Yavapai county, last Monday. Both families lived in the same house, Clark having rented a part of Skaggs' ranch. There were no witnesses to the killing, Mrs. Clark being away from home. Skaggs says Clark fired at him first and missed, when he returned the compliment with a shotgun. It is also rumored that Skaggs had previously threatened to kill Clark.

The California, Nevada and Arizona Telephone Company, operating a line from Needles to Kingman and Gold Road, has been granted a franchise to continue its line eastwardly as far as Ash Fork. The nature of its ultimate object is not disclosed.

The concrete foundations for the new smelter at Val Verde are in and the placing of machinery will begin in a few days. It is expected this plant will be ready for operation early in December. The project of the Rigby reduction works at Mayer is also practically finished and it is believed will soon be in active operation. These two plants mean everything to the mining interests of northern and central Arizona as they will enable the working of ores that are too low grade for shipment elsewhere and of which there is a vast quantity available.

Phoenix has the record pullet so far. It is a black minorca fowl and belongs to L. J. Storm. The bird was hatched on the last day of June and at the age of sixty-eight days began laying and still continues the good work. This story can be verified by affidavit.

Sam Goldstein, a newspaper man of New Orleans, is in this city, en route to San Francisco on foot. He left New Orleans April 6 and is taking his time, as he is not forced to hurry by any wager or prize money. He is taking notes as he travels and expects to write a book when his journey is finished.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Change of Name.

The Cooperative Savings Bank doing business at the corner of Fifth and Broadway, has changed its name to The California Bank of Savings.

Normal Opening.

The Los Angeles State Normal School opened yesterday morning for the winter term, with prospect of the largest enrollment of students in its history. Assignments to classes were made yesterday and today the active work will begin.

Robbed in Boston.

J. J. Higgins of No. 1199 Magnolia avenue, Los Angeles, has reported to the Boston police that a negro pickpocket relieved him of a $150 watch chain and charm yesterday afternoon on a Dorchester car.

Dead Under a Tree.

Joe Chavez, employed at a grading camp on East Ninth street, was found dead under a tree near there yesterday morning. Chavez had been drinking heavily and death is supposed to have been due to alcoholism.

Back from Around Circle.

Dr. D. L. Tasker and wife, Dr. Tasker, have returned from their summer vacation. A part of it was spent in San Francisco attending the State Osteopathic Association convention. Later they attended the national convention in Denver, where Mrs. Dr. Tasker was elected a trustee. They visited Yellowstone Park on their return.

Drinks Cyanide from Dipper.

T. B. Metcalf of No. 229 West First street mistook a big jar of cyanide of potassium for a cooler of ice water in the workshop of the Los Angeles Coffin Company on North Main street yesterday afternoon and swallowed a quantity of the liquid from a dipper. At the Receiving Hospital the surgeon relieved him of the poison, which nearly made him a subject for a coffin.

Water Board Meeting.

A quiet meeting of the Water Board was held yesterday in the city's building on Hill street, members Fay, Meade, Sherman and Elliott being in attendance. Routine business, orders, requests and demands occupied most of the time of the brief session. Some features of the Owens River work were under contemplation, and the various processes relating to construction will be hurried as fast as possible.

New Tailoring Establishment.

Brauer & Krohn celebrated the opening of their new tailoring establishment at the corner of Fifth and Spring streets, yesterday. A huge horseshoe wrought in red and white carnations stood on the floor just inside the entrance, but the chief feature of the decorations was the artistic arrangement of new shades in men's wear in the show windows that cover both fronts of the store. The work was done by Mr. Longwell, under the direction of Mr. Brauer, and was a matter of general remark. The interior arrangement of the store is neat and tasty, all the cloths being arranged in glass-covered cases.

Police Stop Domestic Fracas.

Two policemen and Police Surgeon Freedman interfered last night in a family row in room 203, Wilson Block, in which Fred H. Thompson, a lawyer, and his wife were the principals. Thompson was taken to the City Jail by Patrolman Arguello, but no charge was preferred against him, and he was discharged. Thompson and his wife were engaged in a fierce altercation, the police allege, when they interfered and the woman's face was bleeding profusely. But the wife would not consent to testify against the husband, and the officers were forced to release Thompson. The six-year-old child of the couple witnessed the altercation between the parents and ran to the Police Station to give the alarm.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. ## CAMPAIGN OF CLUB WOMEN.

National Civics Association to be Invited Here.

Back from mountain and beach, from old-world tour and desert trail, comes the club woman of Los Angeles, refreshed, invigorated, and seeking new worlds to conquer.

Last evening Miss Bessie Stoddart, a member of the Playground Commission, and a delegate from the outdoor art section of the Civic Federation, left on the Owl for the East to attend the meeting of the American Civic Association in Cleveland, O.

She bears to the association an invitation from the Civic Federation and the section she represents, as well as from the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, for that body to meet here a year hence. Miss Stoddart is accompanied by her sister, Miss Evalyn Stoddart, of the Juvenile Court Commission, who goes for a six months' investigation of the Juvenile Court systems in Chicago, New York, Boston and a number of other cities, Miss

The delegate to the American Civic Association in Cleveland has a great report to make from the local outdoor art section, a report that, without doubt, will not be excelled and hardly equaled by any other such section in America.

She has to tell of a playground, unique in several features, secured to the children of the city, also of well-formed plans as to garbage collection, the signboard nuisance, the preservation of noble trees, of arbor days instituted, of bird protection, and the story of the garden contest.

This garden contest is just drawing to a close, and next Thursday evening at Bethlehem Institutional Church on Vignes street the prizes for the unremitting labor of the summer time, labor done by thousands of little brown hands, will be awarded.

The Garden Committee women have had hard work, while nearly all other projects were sleeping for a season, but they feel well rewarded, and if the citizens were to inspect the gardens and see the improvements in various quarters, they would also appreciate the results and agree with the indefatigable ladies who are laying more ambitious plans for neighborhood improvement associations. The committee was appointed by Mrs. Willoughby Rodman yesterday afternoon. Mrs. H. C. Terrell is the chairman again, Miss Beatrice Fox, Mrs. R. Wernigk, and Miss Sophy Vernon, are in charge of the Settlement district; Mrs. J. E. Wilson of the Church of the Neighborhood district; Mrs. E. Coffan and Miss M. E. Durkee of the Utah district, and Miss A. M. Green and Mrs. Andrew Glassell of the Bethlehem district.

Two new committees will be formed at the next meeting of the outdoor art section, one for the establishment of drinking fountains in different parts of the city, and a committee to secure an ordinance from the city for the removal of all cemeteries to places outside the city limits.

CIVIC FEDERATION.

The first general meeting of the Civic Federation will be held the first Monday in November with the annual election of officers. All the branches of the work that this organization covers will be continued, especial activity being anticipated in the Consumers' League, which the visit of Mrs. Florence Kelly this past summer, has stimulated to unusual endeavors.

EBELL CLUB.

The fine auditorium of the Ebell Club, which was to have been completed in time for the opening, the first Monday in October, has not progressed as fast as was anticipated, after the manner of buildings the world over, and it will be November 1 before the club members may have the privilege of assembling there. In the meantime the club will occupy its old quarters at Cumnock Hall.

Mrs. W. F. Pleas has the responsible position of chairman of the Programme Committee this year for Ebell, and the programme for the first month is now ready, as follows: October 2, president's day, with violin music and tea served; October 9 promises a treat in a programme of Shakespearean song, including that wonderful new song cycle by Grace Wassall, never given before outside of New York and Washington. Several of the finest of the local professionals will take part in the song cycle, including Miss Winston, Harry Clifford Lott, and Miss O'Donoughue at the piano. October 16, Dr. George H. Kress will give stereopticon views and a lecture upon "The Great White Plague."

October 23 will be occupied with current events by Mrs. Lou V. Chapin, and October 30 is set apart for book day, in charge of Mrs. C. N. Flint, Mrs. W. W. Orcutt, and Mrs. J. R. Millard.

Mrs. Edward D. Dieter is again the capable general curator for the Ebell Club, and the array of attractive studies would justify the latter-day title bestowed upon women's clubs, "the married woman's college."

There is to be a department of education this year, and it will include a literature section, conducted by Mrs. Sumner P. Hunt and P. G. Hubert, who will take up books in general; a round table of scientific and psychological subjects, in charge of Mrs. Charles Flint and Mrs. Eugene Pettigrew; a music section, under Mrs. Mary J. Shallert; lectures on the history of music and other musical subjects, by Miss Helen Parcels; a choral class, with an ensemble day once a month, and a French section, with Mrs. Reid as curator and Mme. Wilson as instructor.

Mrs. Will Baker has been appointed curator of the Shakespeare section, with Mrs. Emma Greenleaf as instructor.

The art and travel section is to be developed along new lines this season, with Mrs. Chester C. Ashley, formerly general curator, as curator, and Miss Alice Mitton, a brilliant educator, for its instructor. Miss Mitton is from Chicago.

The department of home, inaugurated by Mrs. Burdette last year, presents itself under two heads for this season and stands as the most unique and practical study ever proposed by any club.

Mrs. Burdette will give her direct attention to the home section along the lines before pursued with the added interest of practical investigation in the interest of pure foods.

Dr. Rose L. Burcham and Dr. Helen Woodruff will conduct a health section of the home department, with talks to women and mothers upon hygiene, emergency treatments, and also on business relations.

RUSKIN ART CLUB.

The programme of the Ruskin Art Club's year of study makes one feel that a fresh breeze has suddenly blown in, for after several years of profitable and interesting work mainly dealing with the artists and art treasures of the Old World, the coming year will be given entirely to American art in every possible aspect.

Painting, illustration, sculpture, etching, Spanish-American and Colonial architecture, wood engraving, decorative art, and art talks in general are all included in the list, the things of here and now, and the painters of yesterday and today in America. The last day of the year will be devoted entirely to California art and art treasures. The entire year's work has been laid out by the chairman of the Pogramme Committee, Mrs. George Sinsabaugh.

The club will open its sessions in the beautiful new rooms now ready for occupancy in the new Blanchard building. The first meeting will be held October 4, in charge of Mrs. J. A. Walls and Miss Rose Smith, the subject being "Painting of the Colonial and Revolutionary Periods."

The president, Mrs. W. H. Housh, has guided the lines of study laid out by Mrs. Sinsabaugh, and during the summer spent quietly in sketching along the coast, she has found time to arrange art talks for the coming year. These talks will also be of practical value and will deal largely with the judging of pictures.

Mrs. Housh has appointed on the

PLAY DAY OF "TIMES" CONTEST

Beach Trip of Scholarship Boys and Girls.

Street-car Procession Will Leave at Early Hour.

Every Amusement at Playa Free for the Day.

All aboard for the scholarship excursion!

If you're lying abed late this morning, worker in the race of earned popularity, you'll have to hurry, for the cars of the educational festival will leave The Times office at 9:30 o'clock sharp!

There will be no dallying—nor waiting for delinquents or for excuses. Like Time and her fabled compatriot Tide, the procession will commence to roll exactly at the scheduled hour—not a minute sooner or later.

But we'll suppose that you have already arisen, and with the sleep brushed from your eyes at sunrise, as has been the wont of so many during the progress of the contest, you have attended to all the preliminaries of starting.

OFFICIAL FRIENDS."

One of those preliminaries that you mustn't forget, if you would give pleasure to another, is the selection of your "official friend." Every contestant in the contest is privileged to take one friend in his or her company, and badges will be supplied, so that both guest and entertainer will be known in the class of the elect.

You are going to make the trip this morning in two sorts of cars, for it will not only be a beach excursion, with a fancy assortment of up-town entertainments interwoven, but also a "Seeing Los Angeles" ride, in which a portion of the most beautiful section of the city will be shown.

Those 9:30 cars—count it, 9:30, as the showman says—will be yellow cars of the Los Angeles Railway. There will be two of them, and a band besides, so that you see if you want a seat you can't dally on the steps. They will go down Broadway to Seventh street, out Seventh to Sixth and Rampart streets, then back, and up Spring street to Buena Vista street and Bellevue avenue, where The Times guests will change, and board their private coaches on the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway.

The preliminary ride is nearly an hour in length, and from then on, the finish of the trip will be made over the most beautiful scenic portion of Sherman and Clark's picturesque railway.

FREE TO PUBLIC FOR THE DAY.

The Playa Del Rey Band will furnish the music, and at the King's beach, every attraction known to Del Reyites—the boating, bathing, beach sports and dancing—will be open to not only the excursionists, but their friends generally absolutely free of charge, through the courtesy of Manager Lawton.

The itinerary of the day has been arranged simply but concisely by Scholarship Manager Brack, who will accompany the party. There will be few formalities—just enough to give tone to the affair without spoiling that care-free spirit that must always accompany a real "day off."

Lunch will be served promptly at 11:45 o'clock, and after the edibles have been properly disposed of, the distribution of scholarships will take place, at 12:30 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock boating and bathing will put the touch of a water carnival on the day, and from that time on, with music and dancing, it is to be simple enjoyment—every fellow in his own way, to the limit of his abilities.

Two things please remember, Miss Contestant and Mr. Student: Your special train leaves The Times office at 9:30 o'clock, and you are privileged to bring with you one "official friend."

Other "unofficial" friends, who wish to make the trip direct and see the contestants enjoying themselves, will be welcomed on the grounds, and are invited to enjoy the splendid boating and bathing for which Playa del Rey is famed.

TO EXPEDITE CONSOLIDATION.

SENTIMENT OF PUBLIC FAVORS IMMEDIATE STEPS.

Views of Well Known Citizens on the Question of Unifying City and County Governments — Lawyers Say Should be Brought About Ere Another Bond Election.

The consolidation idea is making great progress.

On every hand its champions are springing up.

Since the project was first broached in The Times it has grown steadily in public favor.

In the opinion of attorneys who have studied such problems closely there are no legal obstacles that cannot be overcome.

Dwellers in the territory proposed to be taken in must of course be consulted and consent to the union obtained; but there is not likely to be any trouble on this score, for they will be so happy to get in on the water that they will be glad to come with us and share in the expense of building the Owens River conduit.

The great need is for immediate action. If these outside people are to come in with us on the water deal, attorneys say that the sooner consolidation is consummated the better. It seems to be the general opinion among lawyers that there is no way to make these people share the expense of the new water enterprise unless they vote on the bonds, that is unless they have a voice in expending the money. If this be the case, the people in the city, as at present constituted, will be held accountable for all of the indebtedness contracted up to the time of union.

COUNTY CLERK.

"I am in favor of the consolidation of the county and city governments," said County Clerk Charles Keyes. "There is no question but it will be a wise move. The only thing that I am not decided upon is the best method for bringing this result about.

"Any sane man knows that two governments are useless. They perform to all intents and purposes the same functions. Not only is the expense vastly more, but public business is hindered and many mistakes are made which would be avoided if there were but one place for doing all official business.

"It seems to me that it would not be advisable to attempt to take in the whole county; that would give us a much greater area than we need. The territory around Lancaster, for instance, would be of very little use to us, and we could do little for them. Our interests are not at all the same. On the other hand, the towns and cities near by will be useful to us and we can bring to them an abundance of that which they need most—water.

"Deciding on the lines for the new county-city is one of the hardest problems that those who have the working out of the preliminary steps of the enterprise will have to determine."

THE CITY ATTORNEY.

Consolidation has no stronger advocate than City Attorney W. B. Mathews. For years the union of the city and county under one form of government has been one of his hobbies.

He was a member of the joint committee which arranged for the merging of certain city and county offices.

Now that an abundance of water is assured, he comes out squarely for an entire merger.

He declares that consolidation is better for our present needs than annexation.

"Consolidation is much better suited to sparsely settled territory," said he, "for if this territory is taken into the city, then it will have to be policed throughout its limits, whereas, if we have a county government, the district will be policed only where necessary.

"There are no insuperable legal difficulties to be overcome. Of course, it will be necessary for the outside towns to give their consent. But I assume that they will have to come to us for water. Pasadena, for instance, is in the same fix we were before the Owens River was secured. Some of the other towns need water even more than she does.

"I do not think it would be wise to attempt to take in the whole county. It should be divided so that only the part which will be directly benefited by the water will be included. For many years the eastern end of the county has been anxious to break away and set up a government of its own. Consolidation would give them their long-sought opportunity."

KEEP DOWN THE LIMITS.

"If all of Los Angeles county is to be included in the consolidation, I should say 'no,'" said William M. Bowen, former president of the City Council.

"If simply the more thickly-settled portion, say the area extending from Pasadena to the sea, and from Hollywood to the present east city limits, I should say 'yes' most emphatically, and the sooner something is done along this line the better.

"It should be gotten under way immediately. If possible before another bond election is held this territory should be consolidated with the city.

"This territory will want water, and we should be glad to have the cooperation of the adjoining cities and towns in carrying through this enormous enterprise.

"There is no need for two sets of officials. One set can do all of the work, and much more satisfactory than two.

"Consolidation will give this city a great name. It would then cover the largest area of any city in the world, and would have a population close to the 300,000 mark.

"Los Angeles is certainly making great strides in all directions. We are becoming used to great things. Our wonderful progress reminds me of a snowball. Every time you roll it up it gets bigger and stronger. We are rolling pretty fast right now."

NOT TOO LARGE.

Dr. S. S. Salisbury of the Board of Health is an advocate of the union of the city and county governments. He has noted with pleasure the interest that is being taken in the undertaking.

"It seems to me," said he, "that this new water deal makes something of this kind necessary. The other towns hereabouts need this water and we should gladly share it with them.

"Great care should be taken in working out the details of the plan. It seems to me that the county is

SIX-STORIED POSTOFFICE.

Supervising Architect Gets in His First Work.

Suggestion Put up to Local Federal Officers.

The first rough sketches of the postoffice which Uncle Sam is to build for Los Angeles were received by Senator Flint yesterday.

They were sent on ahead of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury, who is expected to arrive in the city about October 1. The sketches are intended for the inspection of the various Federal officials stationed here, to see if they will meet the needs of their departments in point of space.

The design of the outside of the building was not included in the plan that arrived yesterday. It was but a general and tentative suggestion of the location and size of the different departments.

According to this plan, the building will have a steel frame and be six stories in height.

The two lower floors will be devoted to the use of the postal business, the main floor for the public and the second for the executive offices.

The third floor will be used for the Federal courts and the chambers of the judges.

Above these will be the offices of the United States Marshal, United States District Attorney, clerks, United States Commissioner, grand jury and other offices having to do with the machinery of the Federal courts.

The top floor will be devoted to the geological survey, the land office, the Forestry bureau, United States Receiver, United States Collector and to such other offices as might be considered under the head of "general business."

The interior distribution of these offices is not final as arranged in these plans. It is merely desired to find out what space will be required by each.

The final plans will not come until much later.

It is stated that the department has two different sets in contemplation; the data to be obtained from these sketches will be of use for both.

One set of plans will be used in case the government will not increase the present appropriation; the other set will be much more elaborate. The main difference in the two is not in size. But the cheaper one is plain in both exterior and interior.

The present appropriation is $250,000. It is hoped to increase this amount by selling the splendid business property on Main street, near Fifth, which has proven a good investment for Uncle Sam. If this sale receives the approval of Congress, the more elaborate plans will be used.

Supervising Architect Taylor should have been here by this time. He was expected by September 1. The delay occurred by reason of the recent "postoffice investigation," which kept the postal authorities in Washington too busily occupied to bother about plans for Los Angeles.

The plan-sketch which has been received by the Senator has not yet been examined by the Federal officers, who are to be consulted.

FLINT AND INDIANS.

Senator Will go Down to Pala to Investigate Reports of Destitution.

Senator Flint will accept no hearsay as to the reported pitiable condition of the Pala Indians.

He is about to start in person humping over the rough trails for their reservation, having City Librarian Lummis as a guide.

"There has been so much unskillful long-range Indian legislation in the past, that the Senator is determined to meet these Indians, and get his information at first hand. If it is farm machinery they want and need, he proposes to have from them what they consider advisable and necessary.

Most of all, he proposes to show them that the Great Father in Washington is not indifferent.

The tribe is reported as being on the verge of hunger. Their new reservation, to which they were removed from Warner's ranch, is fertile and satisfactory as any but their old home could be, but they seem not to have succeeded on it.

It is reported to Senator Flint that they lack the necessary farm implements to place them on an equality with neighboring white farmers.

"REGULAR SPECIAL'S" JAG.

Policeman Goes on Trolley Ride, Can't Be Awakened, and is Locked up.

Clarence W. Roach, policeman with star No. 148, started out on a seeing Los Angeles trip yesterday afternoon, and when the regular car didn't come along at the right time Roach climbed aboard a Grand-avenue car and enjoyed three round trips while snoozing off a jag.

The conductor and motorman tried to arouse Roach, but their efforts were unavailing. Finally, as the car was passing Third street and Broadway, the aid of Patrolman Hubbard was invoked, and the boozy officer was sent to the City Jail and locked up.

Roach was appointed a regular special policeman July 11 last. He was in citizen's clothes at the time of his escapade yesterday, but his star was conspicuously displayed. Acting Chief Auble will take up his case today.

Two Tanks Smashed by Car at Crossing and Driver of Wagons Thrown Twenty Feet.

Two filled oil wagons and a six-mule team driven by C. C. Jones of No. 312 Aztec street were struck by a Los Angeles-Pacific electric car at Rosemary crossing yesterday afternoon, and the tanks were demolished.

Jones was thrown twenty feet from his seat and suffered numerous cuts and bruises about the lower limbs. He was sent to the Receiving Hospital. Several windows in the car were smashed and two passengers were slightly cut by flying glass.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance for the issuance and sale of the bonds which are to secure to the city a source of water supply in the Owens Valley.

Property owners of Ellendale place yesterday secured the assistance of the Council in their fight to compel Ramish & Marsh to move their sprinkling corrals out of the Fifth Ward.

By a close vote the Council yesterday declared the brick plant of Berg & Oxby on College street to be a nuisance.

No bids were received yesterday for collection and disposal of garbage, and the City Clerk was instructed to re-advertise.

The Houser estate was before Judge Gibbs yesterday, but as the only property is a walnut orchard and the heirs wish it disposed of in different ways the court is nonplused.

The law firm of Hester & Ladd acted for the special administrator of the McAdams estate, and refused to surrender the property on hand until all their fees had been paid. Yesterday the special administrator appeared in answer to a citation in the probate court.

All Police Court records were broken yesterday when 170 prisoners were arraigned before Justice Rose, eighty-six being dissolute women and fifty-two drunks.

Mrs. Wilkinson, charged with procuring, was arrested yesterday and held in $1500 bail.

COUNCIL ORDERS BOND ISSUE. NEW SUPPLY COMMITTEE.

Legislators Will Confer With Water Commissioners to Perfect Plans of Hastening Construction of Conduit. Smith and Kern Added to Committee Which Will Inspect Lands Held on Options.

Following the official canvass of the returns of last Thursday's water bond election the Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance authorizing the issuance and sale of $1,500,000 four per cent. bonds for the purpose of securing a source of water supply in the Owens Valley.

This ordinance will be presented at the next session of the Council; the vote yesterday, instructing its preparation, was unanimous.

Concordant with the instructions to the City Attorney, the Council increased the number of members on the Water Supply Committee from three to five. This was done on motion of Councilman Hiller, himself a member of the committee. Spoor Howton seconded the motion, hoping to get a place; but he was doomed to disappointment, President Summerland naming Smith and Kern as the additional members. The committee now consists of Councilmen Ford, Hammon, Hiller, Smith and Kern.

After the Council session, Chairman Ford of the Water Supply Committee said that he will arrange for a conference between his committee and the Water Commissioners at an early date for the purpose of considering what action shall be taken to hasten an early completion of the big conduit which will mean so much to Los Angeles and Southern California.

While the Council, under the provisions of the State law, must expend all the bond money, the legislators expect to act at all times in conjunction with the Water Board.

At least three members of the Water Supply Committee will probably visit Owens Valley within the next fortnight for the purpose of personally inspecting the land held by the Water Commission on options secured by Fred Eaton, and such other pieces of land as have been offered the city since Mr. Eaton secured his options. These extra pieces of land are claimed by the owners to carry with them riparian rights to over 5000 miner's inches of water not owned or controlled by the city.

CORRALS MUST GO.
FIFTH WARDERS HAPPY.

Responding to appeals from property owners living in the vicinity of West Washington street and Ellendale Place, Councilman Smith yesterday secured the passage of an ordinance which is expected to put an end to the grading camp and sprinkling corral nuisance.

Several weeks ago Ramish & Marsh, present street sprinkling contractors, established a corral on West Washington street, between Ellendale Place and Fremont avenue. This location is right in the midst of the fashionable Fifth Ward. Property owners in the neighborhood hunted up their councilman and registered a vigorous protest. To them the rattling of the sprinkling cart and the braying of the mule are far from sweet music; besides the odor of ammonia does not mix well with the perfume of Princess roses and violets.

Councilman Smith told his troubles to the City Attorney, himself a Fifth Warder. The result was the following ordinance:

It is unlawful and is hereby declared to be a nuisance for any person, firm or corporation to keep within 100 feet of any dwelling house in the city of Los Angeles more than six horses or six mules, or any number of horses and mules in excess of six upon any premises in his or its control, unless said horses or mules are kept in a substantial inclosed stable, having a solid concrete floor connected with, and so arranged as to drain to, a public sewer, or into a cesspool.

A large delegation of Fifth Warders went to the Council session yesterday afternoon to work for the adoption of this ordinance. Some of them insisted on going into harrowing details. The sprinkling contractors, probably realizing the enormity of their crime, offered no defense and the ordinance was adopted by a unanimous vote.

NAUGHTY BRICK MEN.
SECOND WARD MILITANT.

A volunteer force of belligerent Second Warders, led by Councilman Hammon, yesterday afternoon swooped down on the luckless city legislators, and in a short but decidedly strenuous conflict, won a Council order instructing the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance abating a nuisance in the form of a brickyard on College street.

This brickyard, the plant of Berg & Oxby, has been in operation at its present location for eighteen years. During the greater part of that time some property owners in its vicinity have objected to its presence there. Yesterday an even hundred of them joined in one final voice of protest. A score of them took turns in telling the Council that the plant is such a nuisance that it has caused property in the neighborhood to depreciate until it isn't worth much more than a whole in a doughnut. But if the Council would only compel the brickyard to move on, so affirmed the strenuous Second Warders, that portion of the city would promptly become immensely valuable for residence purposes.

Attorney Todd threw himself in the breach, and pleaded for a continuance until an investigation could be had, but his efforts were unavailing. The protestants took the center of the Council by storm. The right and left wings held steady for the investigation, but in that center were four votes, and as but seven Councilmen were present, these four votes carried with them instructions to the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance which is to cause an abatement of the nuisance. The real fight will take place, however, next Monday, when the ordinance will come up for final adoption. Hammon must secure one more vote in order to win, as it requires five affirmatives to pass an ordinance.

"REINFORCED CONCRETE."
BACKUS IS DOUBTFUL.

Building Superintendent Backus yesterday asked the Council to allow him at least two additional inspectors. His main argument for the increase is that he needs them to test the material used in the construction of reinforced concrete business blocks.

"A condition has arisen within the last few months," said the Building Superintendent, "that materially affects the city and the general public. I refer to the construction of reinforced concrete buildings. We have now four or five of those buildings under way, and on account of the extremely delicate nature of such work they should have an inspector on them practically all the time. To insure the safety of such buildings it is absolutely necessary to watch very batch of concrete that is put into them. The quality of cement should also be tested quite frequently to make sure that it is up to standard in strength. The fact that this class of building is almost entirely unknown in the West makes it imperative that we proceed very carefully along safe known lines, especially until our architects and builders gain some experience in this construction.

"If from any cause one of these large buildings should collapse it would be a disaster to the building department, to the city government and to every citizen within our gates.

"I, therefore, respectfully request that you allow me to employ at least two inspectors who are familiar with this class of building, that we may use all precaution and avoid accident if it is possible."

Some of the Councilmen expressed the opinion that the owners of the new buildings, in which reinforced concrete is used, should pay for the inspection. After a short discussion, the request of the Building Superintendent was referred to the Building Committee of the Council.

CHIEF OF POLICE.
NOTHING DOING TODAY.

Friends of ex-Chief of Police John M. Glass have come to the front with a number of petitions asking the Police Commission to appoint Mr. Glass as the successor of Chief Hammel. One petition signed exclusively by merchants, manufacturers and men of affairs contains 120 names. This petition recites that:

"The undersigned, taxpayers of Los Angeles, being deeply interested in having a well-regulated police department for the city, heartily indorse John M. Glass for the responsible position of Chief of Police, and trust that you will file his name as one of the applicants, with our warm recommendation."

Current in municipal circles yesterday was the report that the Police Commission would this morning name Chief Hammel's successor. And as usual current report was wrong.

Commissioner Mason is in Oregon. He will not return to the city before Saturday. The Mayor and the other commissioners have all pledged one another not to select Hammel's successor until every commissioner is present.

This may mean a delay of four or five weeks. Commissioner Johnson expects to leave the city next Monday to meet his wife in Boston. He will be away for possibly a month. Mr. Johnson said yesterday afternoon that to remain here for next Tuesday's meeting would mean that he would not be able to meet his wife on her arrival from Europe.

Mayor McAleer says that the selection of a Chief rests entirely with "my commission." "I cannot tell you whether we shall name a new Chief tomorrow or not," said the Mayor. "That rests with the commissioners, and I do not know what they expect to do. We have all agreed that a full board be present when the appointment is made."

At the time the Mayor made this statement he was not aware that Commissioner Mason was out of the city.

Council Miscellany.

Not a single bid was yesterday received for collecting garbage, and the City Clerk was instructed to readvertise, bids to be opened next Monday. Charley Alexander came to the City Hall armed with a sealed bid, but the Finance Committee of the Council objected at the last moment to considering offers for supplying twenty-seven garbage wagons, and Alexander concluded not to expose his hand. The specifications under which bids will now be asked for stipulate that twenty-two wagons and teams be furnished.

Three Councilmen yesterday made requests for leave of absence. Two were granted and the third was held in abeyance until Councilman Kern returns from his vacation. Present prospects are that nine Councilmen will not be present at one meeting at any time during the next three months. The fact that the Council has pledged itself to hold that library investigation as soon as all are present may have something to do with the sudden increase in the number of applications for permission to get out of town.

Four rooms in the Copp building were yesterday rented by the Council for use of the City Electrician and his assistants.

Owing to lack of space for installing machinery and appliances for testing gas and electric meters under the new public utility ordinance has been postponed until October 1.

An amendment affecting the section of the building ordinance relating to construction of theaters was yesterday adopted by the Council. The amendment provides for some modifications of the specifications for the location of horse appliances in the larger theaters, and includes the small amusement houses which formerly have not been placed in the category of theaters.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.
Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 90,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THESE WIVES BROUGHT MONEY.

JOHN W. HOUSER OF WHITTIER LEFT A TANGLE.

Children by First Wife Oppose Widow, and Heirs of Second Wife Threaten Claim on Account of Her Separate Estate; Meantime Administrator is Unhappy.

The lately deceased John W. Houser of Whittier was a man of varied matrimonial experience, and by reason of his versatility in this respect his estate is in danger of serious tangle. An effort was made before Judge Gibbs yesterday to take some of the kinks out of it, but with only measurable success.

Houser had a ten-acre walnut orchard at Whittier valued at about $10,000. According to the statements of his widow on the witness stand, he had not been dead two hours until J. A. Cole, a Whittier neighbor, came to her and told her that she must have an administrator appointed at once, as the son-in-law of her deceased husband was moving in that direction and she must forestall him.

"I was overcome with grief," said Mrs. Houser, "and didn't know that it was my right as the widow to administer upon the estate. I had just lost a precious husband and was not thinking of property just then."

The end of it was that Cole was appointed administrator upon the indorsement of Mrs. Houser, and now she wants to oust him. She says that she "appealed to him as a gentleman to resign, but he refused." Now Mrs. Houser wants her share of the property awarded to her as a homestead out of the ranch, and objects to the walnut orchard being sold out in its entirety as a going concern.

Houser was married four times, and the attorney representing the children by the first wife stated that the first wife had about $5000 when she married. Houser had nothing. This wife handed over the money to her husband and also presented him with several children. Wife No. 2 brought about $7000 to the Houser fund, and the extra money was in lieu of children, for she had none. Wife No. 3 had neither money nor children. The widow is a southern woman of mature age, who eagerly explained yesterday that all she desired was that the estate be divided fairly.

But the children by the first wife tried to show that Mrs. Houser was not speaking quite disinterestedly, and that she had corralled a big bunch of money belonging to her late husband which ought now to be counted in the estate. They contended—and Mrs. Houser conceded—that the deceased never banked his money, but always kept it in a big chest. But when he died only $80 was found in that chest. At least that is what Mrs. Houser averred, and no one else knows anything about it. She claims that her husband took the cash proceeds of a crop of walnuts to pay his bills, and that he hadn't saved any money, as all he made was turned back into the orchard.

As the matter stands, Mrs. Houser wants her homestead, the children by the first wife want the property sold off, and there is a dim murmur indicating that the heirs of wife No. 2 will appear upon the scene asking for a settlement of the separate estate of the Mrs. Houser who had $7000 when she married and died without the money being accounted for in any way.

Judge Gibbs announced his intention of setting aside a homestead for the widow, but at the present stage did not give any hope of being able to adjudicate the matter unless both sides would get together and agree on some course satisfactory to all parties. In the meantime the case is submitted.

THE FEES THE THING.
WIDOW'S PORTION LACKING.

Attorney "Habeas Corpus" Ladd's "legal" methods are peculiar to himself, and though he is not always upheld by the courts he never fails to add his small quota to the gaiety of the occasion. Yesterday a client of his was before Judge Gibbs on a citation, but it was actually the firm of Hester and Ladd that was called to account.

It all came about because Mrs. Rilla B. McAdam couldn't get hold of the $50 a month family allowance which had been apportioned her at her husband's death. He, Robert J. McAdam, died on March 11. He had conducted a sanitarium on East Colorado street, Pasadena, and was his own most important patient. When he passed away the estate was valued at about $1500, but there has been as much fuss over it as if it totaled up as many thousands.

W. S. Ewing of Long Beach was appointed special administrator, and he retained Attorney Ladd as his legal advisor. Mrs. McAdam didn't like the brand of advice he was doling out, and endorsed Public Administrator McGarvin for the position of general administrator. She had nothing to live on and couldn't get the $50 a month awarded her by the court. Recently she sent a friend to Ewing with a certified order of the court and a written authority from herself to receive the money. Ewing said he would pay if Ladd said so, and he came to town to get advice. His lawyers told him not to pay, and then Ewing was cited to appear in court and make known his reason for keeping such a tight grip on the money of the estate.

In an answer filed by the attorney some insinuation was made that Mrs. McAdam wasn't Mrs. McAdam at all, but is a Mrs. or Miss somebody else; but in the hearing before Judge Gibbs this phase of the matter was not touched upon.

Ewing and Attorneys Ladd and Hester swore the rumpus was all a mistake, and that the agent of Mrs. McAdam never presented his written authority or he would have been given the money post haste. Hester stated, with every appearance of fairness, that his side was more than willing to hand over all the property of the estate to the general administrator, Mr. Garvin; but when reminded that such a course would end all difficulties right then and there, it appeared that there was a string to such an offer.

Hester and Ladd wanted the administrator's fees for Ewing and counsel fees for themselves, before surrendering, and until that was acceded the widow's allowance would have to remain in bank. Oscar Lawler, for the general administrator, rested on the plain wording of the statute that requires the special administrator—really an emergency official—to turn over everything to the actual administrator so soon as one may be appointed, and the court took this view of the matter. Hester wanted to fix the fees at once, but the other side stated that at the proper time they intended to take exception to the special administrator's account, and in the meantime rested upon their statutory right.

Judge Gibbs dismissed the citation for failure to pay over the widow's allowance, but ordered Ewing to turn over all the property of whatsoever kind belonging to the McAdam estate to the Public Administrator. Now the widow will get her money, and on the 19th inst. the scramble for fees will be resumed when McGarvin picks holes in the special administrator's report and list of charges.

FRANCIS STILL RETIRING.
GRANTED MORE TIME.

"Sister" Francis, otherwise Miss Frances Hale, who believed that charity begins at home, and appropriated the funds that she had gathered ostensibly for the "Door of Hope," and was arrested on a grand jury indictment, was brought into court yesterday. The woman was taken before Judge James yesterday to be arraigned, and appeared heavily veiled. Attorney Le Compte Davis represented her, and asked that the case go over until Friday next, and as there was no opposition the court so ordered.

CUT THE "BULLET."
CUSTER IS NOW REPENTANT.

Charles Custer boasted what he would do if one of the airships should land in his back yard. The aerial invader of his privacy would be cut into ribbons for the children to make doll rags of, and this lusty employé of the Maier Packing Company strutted fiercely up and down in anticipation.

Strangely enough, fate so ordained it that Custer had the chance afforded him to make good, and he did. After the aerial race on Sunday, the "Bullet" descended close to the Maier Packing Company's place, and Custer was on hand to show his prowess. He plunked about eight holes in the airship and wrought considerable damage. Then Custer was satisfied.

When Custer was arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Bert Franklin on the charge of injuring property he was not in such a bellicose humor as the day before, and by the time he reached the courtroom of Justice Young he was quite meek. Being arraigned he was held in $200 bonds, and his case was set for Friday.

BUSY DAY IN POLICE COURT.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN BY MOTLEY ARRAY.

One Hundred and Seventy Prisoners Arraigned Before Justice Rose. Eighty-six Women and Fifty-two Drunks — One Woman Escapes. Octogenarian Gets Off Light.

Justice Rose in the Police Court had a record day yesterday.

One hundred and seventy cases were on the docket when court opened.

Of this number eighty-six were the women arrested in the Belmont, Arlington and other cheap so-called lodging-houses in the tenderloin district when the big police raid was made Saturday night.

Maud Jones, a girl of tender age, was arraigned along with the motley crew of females on a charge of vagrancy, but the court's attention was called to the fact that the young girl is not wholly bad; that she had made one false step, but that her parents were willing to take charge of her and give her a new trial if clemency were shown. Justice Rose imposed a fine of $50 on the girl, but suspended sentence during good behavior.

The other women were given time in which to plead, and their hearings were set for Friday.

Fifty-two drunks of all sizes, shapes and colors were arraigned and given sentences of $5 each. Arthur Shepherd, a man 78 years old, told the court how he had walked in the straight and narrow path for years, but during an unguarded moment he was tempted by the cup and fell. Sentence in the old man's case was stayed and he was instructed to go out and stay away from jail.

SERIOUS CHARGE.
MARRIED WOMAN ARRESTED.

In a raid on a house of unsavory reputation at No. 709½ South Main street the police made what they consider an important arrest in the person of Mrs. Belle Wilkinson, a married woman, charged with a serious offense.

Mrs. Wilkinson is charged with a felony and the arresting officer, J. J. Murphy, alleges that the woman attempted to induce May Steiner, 15 years old, of No. 823 San Julian street, and Ida Miller, 14 years old, of No. 2250 East Seventh street, into the house for immoral purposes. A boy living in the neighborhood claims to have overheard the woman when she offered the girls $75 a week each and plenty of fine clothes.

The mothers of the young girls were notified and the Wilkinson woman's arrest followed. She was held in $1500 bail to answer to the felony complaint. Mrs. Irene Walters, an inmate of the house, was also arrested, but she was subsequently released on bail.

Policists.

A. J. Maertz, a druggist of Vermont avenue and Washington street, who was arrested on a charge of harboring a blind pig, was given until next Monday to enter a plea. S. R. and K. Kawanaki, two Japanese who also were accused of having violated the liquor ordinance, were given until Wednesday to plead. All were released on bail of $100 each.

Louise Male, an alleged female pickpocket, was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny. D. C. Hollenbeck, a bartender of First and Los Angeles streets, told the police that the woman had robbed him of a purse containing several old gold coins.

Harry Bush was anxious to tell the court how he happened to steal a gold watch and $39 from William Stuart of No. 124 South Main street on labor day. The watch was found in a pawnshop in San Bernardino. Bush's examination was set for September 13.

NELSON HAS A SOFT SNAP.

Signs Contract for Salary of President.

Will Box Three Rounds in 'Frisco Theater.

Englishmen Invent New Tire for Automobiles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Battling Nelson is already reaping the fruit of his victory at Colma. Today he signed to go on the stage at the California Theater and box three rounds nightly with the local crack like Bob Lundie. The story is that he will get $1500 a week.

The securing of this large figure was due to a characteristic of Nolan's that has kept him very much in the public eye during the past few days. The managers of the show, Martell and Hall, offered Nolan $1000 for a week. "The boy is a card," said Nolan. "I want $1500 for him." "Give you $1200," said Manager Martell. "I want $1500," repeated Nolan. Martell and Hall might have been disposed to argue the point, but in the light of what happened referee of Saturday's fight, Nelson surrendered gracefully, and raised the offer to the figure asked by Nelson has been offered the same man for several weeks over the "Big Time" theatrical circuit.

NEW AUTO TIRE.
CANNOT BE PUNCTURED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas Dunn, an English tire maker, and Lee Ross, his partner, claim to have succeeded in making tires, which, after years of testing, have proved to be unpuncturable, unburstable and much more rapid than any tires placed on the market up to the present day. They also claim that a perfectly balanced automobile mounted on these tires, will not skid even though the chauffeur be entirely discarded. The inventors have sought to sustain the weight of the automobile by the air cushion, which operates before the strain comes on the tire. The cover looks like an ordinary one, the tread is much narrower, and inside the rubber of the tread is placed a steel chain, which adds not only to the resiliency, but also to the strength of the tire. The chain is fitted by a patent process to wood pulleys and an important part of the tire are two air chambers. The first chamber, one is of special construction, and this which constitutes the most striking novelty of the whole tire. Messrs. Dunn and Ross have so placed their outer cover and so constructed the main chamber that at two points the air is driven from the tire proper and finds a refuge. The result is that the running surface of the tire presents continuity by the same amount of space to the road, whether a flat is to be rounded or a lump be encountered.

LOOLOOS BACK; PORTLAND NEXT.

IN FAIR SHAPE TO WIN MORE BALL GAMES.

What bunged up and frayed the corners from their long the road, the Looloos returned quite ready to resume baseball at Chutes Park this afternoon, according to the stipulations of the schedule which must have been made by some man whose geographical knowledge has long since departed. Not until the airship is built to a more reliable quantity is demonstrated last Sunday will team ever cover the distance between Portland and Los Angeles at the interval that separates the eight from Tuesday noon, but the executive committee has persisted in calling Tuesday games in the afternoon. Nevertheless, there will be "ball doing" today as, of course, the Looloos are in pretty fair shape. Capt. Frank Dillon being out, the big "Cap." is suffering the grip, malaria, or something of the sort, and while not quite ready to take to his bed is a long way being in shape to do himself justice. Others are somewhat off color, Shaughnessy's ankle having bothered a great deal up north. They will be in fine operations Wednesday afternoon.

Brashear, the demonstrator of the art of marriage by his league-leading average is going better than ever than any other man on the team, and will probably be accorded an ovation on his reappearance. Brashear's homers were long coming and far between; he is a quiet, easy-working fellow, who never tries to make chances look hard in hope of pleasing the grand stand, but the fans have finally discovered his real worth. He now the only unaccountable they can see about him is that he kept on the bench so long in the inferior timber to take the place he has been jollied more than once about his increase in stick-work, but he decided to take a part-time job. Always a reliable batter, he has counted particularly brilliant this summer, but the way he is tearing 'em off around the circuit line and out into center field is kept all his opponents guessing. Not now pitchers would dare to put anybody in the league, at present than this husky blond backstop of the Looloos.

The pitchers are working in great luck at present, and with the exception of the games hereafter at Vernon, a fair chance of finishing well up in the race is probable that any general change of the rule which the managers do import for the finish of the season will be made. If the ball managers decide to be quite satisfactory as it is.

NELSON HAS A SOFT SNAP.

Signs Contract for Salary of President.

Will Box Three Rounds in 'Frisco Theater.

Englishmen Invent New Tire for Automobiles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Battling Nelson is already reaping the fruit of his victory at Colma. Today he signed to go on the stage at the California Theater and box three rounds nightly with some local crack like Bob Lundie. The story is that he will get $1500 a week.

The securing of this large figure was due to a characteristic of Nolan's that has kept him very much in the public eye during the past few days. The managers of the show, Martell and Hall, offered Nolan $1000 for a week. "The boy is a card," said Nolan. "I like him for him." "Give you $1200," said Manager Martell. "I want $1500," said Nolan. Martell and Hall might have been disposed to argue the point, but in the light of what happened referring the referee of Saturday's fight, Nolan surrendered gracefully, and raised his offer to the figure asked by Nolan. Nelson has been offered the same figure for several weeks over the "Big Four" theatrical circuit.

NEW AUTO TIRE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas Dunn, an English tire expert, and Lee Ross, his partner, claim to have succeeded in making tires, which after years of testing, have proved to be unpuncturable, unburstable and much more rapid than any others now on the market up to the present day. They also claim that a pneumatic-tired automobile mounted on these tires, will not skid even though the chauffeur be entirely discarded. Numerous inventors have sought to sustain the weight of the automobile by means of cushions, which operates before the pressure comes on the tire. The cover of the tire is like an ordinary one, the tread is the same, and inside the rubber of the tread is placed a steel chain, which adds not only to the resiliency, but to the strength of the tire. The chain is fitted by a patent process, which in itself plays an important part. There are two air chambers. The first chamber is of special construction. It is this which constitutes the most interesting novelty of the whole tire. Messrs. Dunn and Ross have so arranged their outer cover and so constructed the inner chamber that at two points, when it is driven from the road, you will find finds refuge. The result is that the running surface of the tire continually the same whether on the road, whether a hole or a lump be 'encountered.'

LOOLOOS BACK; PORTLAND NEXT.

IN FAIR SHAPE TO WIN BASE BALL GAMES.

Some Indisposed, but Not Seriously—Ovation in Sight for Brashear, Who is Doing Work of All Players on Team

The Looloos banged up and frayed the corners from their long road, the Looloos returned home quite ready to resume baseball at Chutes Park this afternoon, according to the stipulations of the schedule which must have been known by some man whose geographical knowledge has long since proved it. Not until the airship is brought to a more reliable quantity has been demonstrated last Sunday will the team ever cover the distance between Portland and Los Angeles in the interval that separates the games from Tuesday noon, but the executive committee has persisted in scheduling Tuesday games in the belief that, nevertheless, there will be "nothing" today as, of course, the Portland team will not be here. Nevertheless, the Looloos are in pretty good shape. Frank Dillon being the only "Cap." is suffering from grip, malaria, or something of the sort, and while not obliged to take to his bed is a long way from being in shape to do himself justice. Others are somewhat off their game. Brashear's ankle having bothered a great deal up north. They will resume operations Wednesday afternoon.

Manager Dillon, the demonstrator of the theory of marriage by his leaguemates, whose batting average is going better than any other man on the team, will probably be accorded an ovation on his reappearance. They were long coming home. He is a quiet, easy-work player, who never tries to make a look hard in hope of making a grand stand, but the fans have finally discovered his real worth. The only unaccountable one can see about him is his sitting on the bench so long after timber to take the field.

Brashear has been jollied more than any of his increase in stick-work, and decided to take a part-time job as a reliable batter, which he has demonstrated particularly brilliant this summer, but the way he keeps them off around first and out into centre field all his opponents have new pitchers would indicate. Judy in the league at present than this husky blond Swede.

Other changes are working in the team at present, and with the changes hereafter at least a fair chance of making well up in the race

It is possible that any general shake of the rule which allows managers to import players after the finish of the season, but the ball managers have come to be quite satisfactory.

ROWDY BALL PLAYERS.

SEATTLE MEN BAD ONES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEATTLE, Sept. 11.—Charlie Shields, pitcher, and Cliff Blankenship, catcher, of the Seattle league team, are under arrest, the former charged with disorderly conduct and the latter with interfering with an officer.

The two players were eating lunch at a street wagon when a negro sailor stepped alongside to buy lunch. Shields cursed him and knocked him down. Patrolman King attempted to arrest Shields when Blankenship threw his arms around the officer and held him while Shields undertook to thrash him. After a hard struggle King knocked Shields unconscious and then took both men to jail.

SHOOTERS GATHER.

MANY GOING NORTH.

Yesterday the gathering of the trigger knights' clan began for the big interstate shoot of this week in San Francisco. Several gunners from country clubs dropped in during the day, and at various times this afternoon and evening will go north as representatives of the Los Angeles Gun Club, to which all belong.

Something over two squads will compete, hailing from this city, and will rub elbows with the heavy artillery of the professional trap-shooting world. The greatest aggregation of saucer-smashing artists ever brought together in the history of the clay-pigeon game is confidently predicted for next Friday, when such men as Roll Heikes, Chan Powers, Billy Crosby, Jack Fanning, Tom Marshall, Henry Hirschy, and Fred Gilbert will face the trans in competition with the Coast cracks.

EASY MONEY.

FIGHTERS HANDED SOME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—On account of one clerical error, it was stated the receipts of the Britt-Nelson contest were $34,069. Corrected figures show that Nelson, Britt and the club divided $48,311.

This means $31,402.15 for the fighters and $16,908.85 for the club. Of the $31,402.15 Nelson got $18,841.29 and Britt $12,560.86.

Added to the winner's share is $5000 he got for his interest in the moving pictures, which brings Nelson's profits up to $24,841.29.

RACE TRACK SOLD.

GROSSE POINT CHANGES HANDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DETROIT (Mich.) Sept. 11.—L. A. Cella, a prominent horseman of St. Louis, today bid in the Grosse Point race track at mortgage sale for $160,000. The track, which was owned by the Detroit Driving Club, was sold by the Sheriff under the foreclosure of a first mortgage on the property held by the bondholders. The Union Trust Company acted for the bondholders. The first mortgage was for $81,000, and there is also a second mortgage, held by D. J. Campau of this city for $75,000. Additional indebtedness brings the total up to $175,000.

CROAKERS IN; CATCHES GOOD.

RODSTERS HIE TO SAN PEDRO AND MAKE CATCHES.

School of Fair Sized Spotfins Gives Good Sport—Small "Surf" Again Doing Business—Sea Trout Biting at Manhattan—Big Run of Albacore Reported Outside.

Several dozen knights of the casting rod and reel who sign themselves "Los Angeles" on the hotel register spent Sunday at various coigns of vantage in and about the harbor of San Pedro dallying patiently with the festive croaker, which in great numbers and of fair size was busily engaged in stealing clam bait by the pound all day.

With an occasional big 'un to relieve the monotony of two and three pounders, the fishermen had a field day of it, and several counted up a dozen blunt, scaly noses in their fish bags before the day was done.

The two largest reported were nine and seven pounders, which is rather a departure from time honored croaker traditions, but it is only in the fevered imagination of some poor piscatorial unfortunate who has grown too old to fish, and views the game with Memory's microscopic eyes that croakers ever "run" to average nine pounds, so the sport was voted quite a success.

Among those who starred in the ubiquitous role of "Johnny on the Spot" were Simon Spier, who as usual connected hard; S. Simmons who used more rods than the law of sportsmanship allows, and got twelve good fish; R. Campbell whose best was a seven pounder; W. S. Skeel, Al Sheriff, E. Beuchel, and in short, the "Bay Regulars" and "Cannery Contingent" who of course were "there with both feet."

Supplementing the spotfins were numerous big yellowfins of a pound weight, and occasional fat, lazy halibut whose not over-captious appetites readily responded to the allurements of fresh sardines just off the Alpha which returned Sunday from one of her upcoast raids laden to her scuppers with silvery little fish.

While the croakers were being ogled inside, D. Botiller caught ten nice surf fish off the beach in the bight, and Oscar Baer stole thirty "nippers" at Terminal.

In the channel, trolling parties located huge schools of albacore, and caught them until it ceased to be fun. There were other fish running in closer, some barracuda and yellowtail being reported though the fog was not favorable.

Along the western coast the surf fishing was poor. A. M. Morse at Hermosa did the catching for a considerable crowd, getting eight surf fish and a six-foot shark which led him a merry chase on rod and reel until finally subdued with a rope gaff and stuffed club. At Manhattan, T. F. Phillips landed a nice "surf" and half a dozen big sea trout.

Judge Harry Rose caught several big yellowfins off the beach in the evening, and Frank Barbutt at Playa del Rey had similar luck.

Saturday, T. F. Phillips caught ten fine surf fish at Huntington Beach, all averaging of good size. Sunday the sport at this resort was good nearly all day, but no exceedingly large fish were reported.

Sunday, San Pedro, a dozen croakers and yellowfins.

Wednesday, same place, half a dozen croakers, some yellowfins and bass.

FARMERS SORE.

SHOTGUN AUTO SQUADS.

The record-breaking run of Harrison T. Kendall's big Pope-Toledo from Santa Barbara to this city a few days ago, has precipitated trouble among the worthy ranchers of the gory Calabasas country.

Bowling through the mountains at a forty-five-mile-an-hour clip, the big machine scared some horses, and the grizzled old deer hunters in that section have dug up their flintlocks, and swabbed out their shotguns for the next auto that goes faster than it ought to through that part of the world.

The mountain roads above Santa Barbara have been closed by order of the Supervisors, and no automobiles will be allowed on them hereafter.

GAS AND OIL.

THAT ECONOMY RUN.

L. T. Shettler and W. K. Cowan, the local dealers, who are to pull off an endurance and economy run of their own this week, decided yesterday to inform the judges that consumption of gasoline at 25 cents per gallon and cylinder oil at $1 would alone count on the economy part of the proceedings.

Observers will be agreed upon tomorrow.

"With ten days' notice, the man who howls over the result of this run is a poor loser, indeed," said Shettler last night.

BICYCLE RACES.

LAWSON WINS HONORS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The in-door bicycle racing of 1905 at Madison Square Garden closed tonight with the five-mile professional and amateur championships. In the former event Iver Lawson of Salt Lake won in 14:18 3-5, by half a length from John Bedell, who was two lengths in front of Frank Kramer, with Floyd McFarland of San José fourth. In the point contest Kramer led the season with 59, Lawson was second with 48, and Fenn, John Bedell and McFarland in that order at 26, 18 and 11, respectively. Matt Downey of Boston won the five-mile amateur event and captured the national amateur championship of America from Teddy Billington by the score of 16 to 15. C. A. Sherwood was second and Ed Rupprecht third. The latter was disqualified for fouling Downey a quarter of a mile from the finish.

With a handicap of ninety yards, George Schreiber of New York won the mile professional handicap. Lawson and Kramer who started from scratch were shut out.

MORE NEW RECORDS.

FLANAGAN AT HIS BEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Sept. 11.—In two weight events at the athletic games here today (the 16-pound hammer and the 56-pound weight,) John J. Flanagan of New York made distances which, if allowed, will be world's records. In the 16-pound hammer event Flanagan threw the weight 175 feet, the present record being 172 feet 11 inches, which Flanagan made at Long Island City on July 31, 1904. Flanagan threw the 56-pound weight 42 feet, the record being 40 feet 2 inches, also made by him at Long Island City, July 17, 1904.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

STRIKE MADE AT CARLSBAD.

Signs Point to Great Body of Oil Below.

More Wells Will be Drilled; Water Was Sought.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Lakewood Townsite Company, which has been drilling a well for artesian water on block 26, at Lakewood, a short distance from Carlsbad, has struck a flow of oil in fourteen feet of oil sand, at a depth of 960 feet. The oil comes from below the flow of water in the well, which demonstrates the permanence of the oil flow.

Estimates have been made of the amount of oil coming from the well by computing the amount of oil taken from a barrel of water, and then multiplying this by the number of barrels of water flowing from the well, with the result that the well is found to be producing about thirty barrels of oil in twenty-four hours; and as the oil comes from the sand without any great disturbance, it is reasonably certain that were the well to be shot, the flow of oil would be many times what it now is. Besides, this oil comes from the first oil sand, and as there will be found below this one a second and probably a third stratum of oil sand, the strike is of much importance.

The well is located in the northeastern portion of the oil basin which extends for several miles to the southwest and which has recently been examined by Leopold Balbach, an oil expert of distinction, for the Lakewood Oil Company of Carlsbad. Mr. Balbach's report was made prior to the strike in the Lakewood Townsite Company's well, and his prediction that large wells of high gravity oil would be found in the Eddy county oil field, seems to have been fully proven, as the oil is of a paraffine basis and of high gravity.

The Lakewood Oil Company of Carlsbad is preparing to enter the field at an early date, and will drill several wells on its land. It owns upward of 3000 acres in the center of the field.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. ## CONSOLIDATION

rather too large to be united in its entirety with the city, but, doubtless, some satisfactory arrangement can be made so that only Pasadena and some of her sister cities in this locality be taken in."

BELIEVES IN ANNEXATION.

City Engineer Harry F. Stafford thinks that the territory will be joined to the city by annexation rather than by consolidation of the county and city governments.

He believes that all of the territory to be benefited by the water should be taken into the city.

If only the near-by property were to be brought in he says the consolidation might then be the proper thing.

Although an advocate of the extension of our present boundaries, he pointed out that our area is now nearly as large as the city and county of San Francisco. When all of the land which will be affected by the coming of the river to Los Angeles is taken into the city its total acreage will be more than twice that of San Francisco.

TALK OF ROAD FROM BULLFROG.

TO CONNECT AT MOJAVE WITH SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

Proposed New Line Would be Independent of Any Reliance on Santa Fe or Salt Lake Systems. Would Enable Shipping of Ores to Los Angeles for Treating.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BULLFROG, (Nev.) Sept. 8.—A report is current here that the Bullfrog and Searchlight country is to have a railroad, independent of any reliance on the Santa Fé or Salt Lake systems for direct communication with the outside world, especially Los Angeles. It is said that gold from a Nevada mine is to be invested in the project, and that articles of incorporation are now being taken out.

Gossip of the camps connects the name of A. C. May, formerly a revenue collector in Nevada and now treasurer of the Bonnie Clare Bullfrog Mining and Milling Company, with the project. May is now in Carson City and Reno, talking with capitalists, it is reported, in the interests of a proposed line from the Bullfrog and Thorpe's Wells country to Mojave, to connect with the Southern Pacific system at the latter point.

Should such a road actually be constructed, Los Angeles could win the ores of this section by equipping herself with reduction works—smelters, mills, concentrating and cyaniding plants.

The Bonnie Clare people are said to support their claim that a direct Bullfrog-Mojave railroad would pay, by citing the comparatively new line from Sodaville to Tonopah, which was built two and one-half years ago. They put it this way: "In 1892 the producing mines in Tonopah first confronted the railroad situation. Engineers were sent out to look the ground over. They reported that a railroad from Sodaville to Tonopah would cost $500,000. The promotors then thought the road would have a gross earning power of something like $125,000 a year, and that out of this the company should be able to save $50,000, or 10 per cent, annual interest on the $500,000 investment. They figured that at this rate, if the camp lasted ten years, they would get their money back. At that time Goldfield, Bullfrog, Searchlight and adjacent districts had not been discovered. The Sodaville-Tonopah road was accordingly built, and earned gross in the first eight months of its history something like $1,000,000, of which 55 per cent. was net. Since then a monthly dividend of 15 per cent. on the $500,000 invested capital has been paid to the stockholders."

This is the precedent and this the argument being urged, it is said, by the Bonnie Clare Bullfrog Mining and Milling Company in favor of a direct railroad to Mojave; and they say they are willing to "invest" in the project the millions of dollars worth of ore which they claim to have blocked out and in sight in their mine.

It is reported here that other parties are discussing the building of a railroad south from Goldfield to connect with this tentative new line at Thorpe's Wells, where is located a property and millsite owned by the Bonnie Clare people. The president of the latter company, L. E. Chiatovich, and their consulting engineer, F. H. Vahrenkamp, have been called to Carson City by Treasurer May, ostensibly in connection with the proposed road to Mojave.

Ways of a Thieving Dog.

John Huyck, a well-known citizen of Sioux Falls, is the owner of a bird dog which has a mania for stealing, and, so far as the range of the articles stolen is concerned, the dog holds the canine record for thefts.

The animal was raised from a puppy by Huyck. His degeneracy commenced to manifest itself some time ago, when members of the family would find upon the porch of the Huyck domicile such things as rubbers, shoes, pieces of rope and the like. Finally hammock pillows were added to the collection. In fact, everything of a portable nature that could be carried by the dog found its way to the Huyck home.

As these things were taken from residents of the immediate neighborhood, it was not a difficult matter to restore the accumulations to the rightful owners.

But the limit was reached the other day when the dog brought up to the back door a kettle containing a pot roast, which was steaming hot. It is supposed the kettle was placed outdoors so the meat could cool off, and that the dog, attracted by the scent of meat, was drawn to the spot. After proceeding to investigate, the dog evidently found the meat too hot to remove from the kettle, so decided to carry off the kettle as well as its contents.

The owner of the kettle could not be located, and rather than run the risk of further trouble, the owner of the dog decided to send the animal to the country for a time, in hope that it can be broken of the stealing proclivities.

"The dog is smart, is a good ranger and hunter, and is valuable, excepting for his habit of stealing everything he can carry.—[St. Louis Dispatch.

Vanity of Criminals.

"What is our greatest help in capturing criminals? Why, their vanity, of course," said the detective. "Men and women who make crime a business are always proud of their work when it is well done, according to criminal standards, and sooner or later they brag of it and it gets to our ears. Even men who commit unpremeditated crimes seem unable to keep their doings to themselves, and if they do not openly boast they give out mysterious hints that rouse suspicion and bring about surveillance. Then, again, no matter how well a crime is planned, there is nearly always an unforeseen contingency to be met, and it's the failure to take precautions against the one contingency that gives many a clew."—[New York Sun.

Pen Points

At last reports Battling Nelson was entirely satisfied with the amount of the indemnity.

Battling Nelson may have been a waiter in New Orleans, but in the ring at Colma he was a cook.

This rumor that the world is to be saved would instill a greater degree of hope were it not for the fact that it originates in Indiana.

Evidently the Japanese are getting over that theory they had about the Mikado being the son of the Morning Star and a first cousin to the comet of 1846.

While we are not to have any great political gatherings in California this year, the gas bags will have their innings in another way. There are the balloon races.

"Hurrahski for Rooseveltavich," shouted the serried and war-worn ranks of the armies of the Czar on the blood-stained fields of Manchuria. And the shout was echoed around the world.

Possibly the world is too prone to deceive itself, after all. It is noticed that notwithstanding the lateness of the season, the restaurant keepers are still able to serve spring chicken with their bills of fare.

A great many sharks are being caught in the waters adjacent to Santa Catalina Island just now, but other reports are rather to the effect that the sharks on the mainland still continue to feed upon the suckers in the same old way.

If those good people who propose to convert the world by means of placards put up in street cars will start the campaign by making an onslaught on the end-seat hogs, the sympathy of the community will immediately be secured for the whole scheme.

Now we'll be selling Russia shipload after shipload of mowing machines, corn planters, hoes, reapers, binders and long-handled shovels, while the gun factories and dynamite plants of Europe are on the bum. And that's the way we like to have it, glory be!

Mr. Rockefeller's prediction that hard times will come in 1907 should, perhaps, be discounted. A man who has chronic dyspepsia on his insides is bound to become a pessimist sooner or later, whether he has a billion dollars or only the price of a shave at a 5-cent barber shop.

We deeply regret to see our Baptist brethren in Los Angeles splitting up into factions at a time when the Owens River and the waters thereof have been corralled in quantities sufficient to satisfy any kind of a Baptist, whether he be just merely Hard Shell, Freewill, Six Principle, Seventh Day or Old Two Seed in the Spirit Predestinarian.

In future how would it be for nations that contemplate war to each select their best individual man, and let them go into the roped arena and fight their nation's cause or causes, as the case may be, according to Marquis of Queensberry rules? In that event, at the present time, Denmark would govern all the small countries of the world, and Los Angeles would boss the big ones.

We notice that our respected and constantly esteemed rural contemporary journals are indulging in their usual outcry against the brutality of prize fighting, since the Britt-Nelson battle took place, forgetful of the splendid fact that nearly 2,000,000 Californians didn't attend the beastly exhibition, but remained at home, reading their Bibles and other uplifting books, tracts and religious newspapers.

The ancient and traditional friendship that existed between Russia and the United States is now being restored and recemented so that it will stick harder than ever. The olden bond was rudely severed during the late war by the asinine and ungrateful attitude of large portions of the American people, but President Roosevelt (for whom the Muscovite soldiers in Manchuria are cheering) patched up the broken fabric of love and friendship again. God save the President!

With the last rankling thought of hatred swept from her heart, her dark eyes of glory smiling on us with the olden love light, the flush of welcome on her cheeks of olive, and a large red rose in her raven hair, Spain again restores us to her good graces. And it's us that's glad to see her so. We'll go half-way and a few rods farther to meet her at the game. We kiss your hand, querida mia. Strike up the castanets. On with the dance. We'll welt the floor with our brogans till the fiddler drops dead from pure exhaustion.

If Senator Lodge were a western man he would be placed in the locoed class, but being just a mere effete easterner, he will probably be declared to be suffering with a hydraulic brain, which is to say, that his thinker is distressed by fluids in motion. "Back up Roosevelt," cries Lodge to the Republicans of Massachusetts. Sure, Mike. You bet they'll back him up. If he needs backing, but, up to date, Theodore seems to be able to stand tolerably straight without any sheet iron riveted to the south side of his anatomy.

DOES ROCKEFELLER KNOW?

Most astounding statements are made public as coming from John D. Rockefeller. In brief they are these:

The country has been enjoying a long period of very great prosperity, the greatest ever known. The period of this prosperity is already longer than such periods usually extend over. During the past nine years the manufacturing concerns have been very busy and they have made more goods of various kinds than the country is using. A surplus is piling up in the warehouses. Very soon this last mentioned fact will be recognized and then factories will slack up, the workingmen and women will be out of employment.

The startling part of the announcement is that whereas ten years ago, in the days of worst depression, only 3,000,000 wage-earners were out of employment, whereas in 1907, the date set for Mr. Rockefeller's great panic, 10,000,000 persons will be idle. That is certainly a startling statement to come from such a source.

To those who remember well the conditions prevailing between 1892 and 1896, the prospect of conditions 33 1-3 per cent. worse is indeed appalling.

Now, in the first place, did Rockefeller make the statements attributed to him? If he made any such statements at all is he exactly reported? Be it noted this report comes from a person with a "mission." His "mission" is a good one, but "missionaries" are always enthusiasts. Like the great apostle to the Gentiles, they all are prone to "magnify their office." Col. W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads Association, is the reporter of the Rockefeller views. He quotes the oil king as setting forth the views referred to on the coming of hard times, and goes on to say that this prophet of evil days to come recommends Congress to lose no time in getting to work to employ a big army of idle people in making roads at public expense. "The honest men of the nation" are to be let "earn their bread and that of their families."

Now there is where John D's outgivings may have been somewhat highly colored, as they come through the red-hot imagination of the man with a "mission." This is where they smack of the apostle who magnifies his office.

The theory that depression and prosperity in business go in cycles is a generally accepted one. The late C. P. Huntington on the occasion of his last visit to Los Angeles set forth this as his view based upon sixty years' experience in business. He went on to state that he had been unable to work out any law from the facts excepting that at one time the people generally had confidence in the future, got busy and did things which made prosperity. At another they lost confidence in the future, became timid, withdrew their hand from the industrial plow, took their money out of investment. Then came depression. "Why the people are confident at one time and timid at another I never could work out," said the great railroad builder.

Assuming that the interview attributed to Rockefeller is not altogether inexact, that the great industrial operator did say something about a panic in business and industrial depression due to arrive in 1907, is he right? Abstractly and generally speaking there is some reason for expecting a check to the present great rush in industries at no distant time. It does not seem to rest on reason that Rockefeller, or any other person, is competent to say just when. It is simply that the rush of the last ten years has been so much greater than anything known heretofore, that it seems reasonable to look for a check.

Now on the other hand there are new conditions in the industrial world. Despite the high pressure at which business has been done there are no apparent signs of a surplus of products in sight. Railroads are unable at this time to get rails or rolling stock in any reasonable length of time. Prices are so high that our people are forced to go abroad for rails and other finished material. In most branches of industry consumption has fully kept pace with production. Our own country is not the only one where great progress is being made. The demand for the products of our mills from abroad is vastly greater than ever known before. As to wage-earners, if the government should go into the work of building roads just now, it would find that the cost would be exceedingly high and the difficulty of securing labor at any price very great. Perhaps Mr. Rockefeller had this fully in mind, but knowing how slowly the wheels of government move he may think they will not get into active operation before his panic comes in 1907.

The question is a many-sided one. It should be carefully studied from all points of view. One obvious reflection is this: The railroads, for example, are not likely to go on forever buying new rails, cars and motive power at the pace now prevailing. The re-equipment of old roads and the building of new ones must halt sometime. When the halt comes the mills will not be so busy as now, and men will be dropped. Similar conditions exist in other industries.

Take another view. This great industrial activity is world-wide. Nearly all the nations of the world are trying to do their own work as most of them never tried until now. Many are succeeding so that they not only come abroad for less finished products, but they are entering the markets of the world with a surplus to sell. Here is really the most important new condition in the industrial world of today. It is a condition which must be closely watched.

CHINA'S JUST CLAIMS.

From the Chinese legation in Washington it is learned that China is preparing a demand on Russia and Japan, jointly, for the reimbursement of Chinese citizens in Manchuria on account of losses sustained by reason of the war waged in that province. The diplomatic representatives, in Peking, of both Russia and Japan have received due notice of the determination of the Chinese government to hold their respective governments responsible for the losses so inflicted. In pursuance of this formal notice, the Chinese government has taken preliminary steps for the organization of a court of claims, modeled after the claims commission now sitting in Washington in pursuance of the treaty between the United States and Spain. It is proposed by China that the court of claims to be organized with reference to the Manchurian question shall have jurisdiction in ascertaining the exact amount of damages suffered by subjects of China in Manchuria, and that the specific demands for reimbursement, hereafter to be submitted for payment by Japan and Russia, shall be based upon the findings of this court. China will also propose that the question of the validity and amount of these claims shall be submitted to The Hague Tribunal for final determination.

As regards the justice of the principle enunciated by China in this plan, there can be no serious question. It is warranted by precedent as well as by considerations of abstract justice. The Chinese province of Manchuria was made the theater of one of the bloodiest wars of history, without the connivance or consent of the people residing within the invaded territory. These defenceless non-combatants were subjected to great injury and loss, amounting in many cases to the loss of their all—the desolation of their firesides, the destruction of their homes, and the taking of many lives. These people had nothing to do with the causes of the great conflict. It was forced upon them by warring powers which they were unable to resist. Their crops were destroyed and their property was confiscated (though in many instances the belligerents paid for what they took.) As a result, there is desolation in the wake of the titanic conflict. The surviving non-combatants are destitute. Their call for indemnity is manifestly just. It will appeal to the great heart of humanity as a call which cannot rightly be evaded nor ignored.

There is no question as to where the money for the payment of this indemnity should come from. The question as to whether Russia or Japan was primarily responsible for the war does not enter directly into this issue. That is a matter for the late belligerents to settle between themselves. The government of China is justified before the civilized world in holding both Russia and Japan responsible for the losses sustained, since both of these powers, through their vast armies, inflicted the losses. The fact that China is physically unable to enforce her claims does not in the least alter the moral status of the case. The justice of her cause is so apparent that neither of the late belligerents can well afford to deny it.

In proposing to submit the case to The Hague court of arbitration, China has taken a course that the civilized world must necessarily approve. It shows her own confidence in the abstract justice of her cause, and it is not easy to perceive how either Russia or Japan can withhold acquiescence in the proposition.

JIM HILL'S PESSIMISM.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad, returned to New York a few days ago from his annual trip over his extensive railroad properties. Ordinarily, there would be nothing remarkable, nor of national significance, in the return of Mr. Hill from an excursion of this sort. The clerks in his New York office would be kept busier than usual for a few days, arranging figures, copying orders and compiling facts. Then the incidents of Mr. Hill's journey would be forgotten, and the world would jog on in its accustomed orbit without jar or check.

Perhaps it will never be definitely known whether Mr. Hill disarranged his digestive tract by eating too much corned beef and cabbage before he started out on the journey, or ran up against something while on the way which he could not digest. At all events, he returned to New York in a decidedly dubious and bilious frame of mind. Nothing seemed to please him. From his jaundiced point of view the times seemed terribly out of joint. Of the peace in the Far East he took a dark and gloomy view, seemingly holding to the opinion that the normal condition of man is warfare, and that peace is altogether abnormal, if not impracticable.

Of our foreign trade in general, and of our trade with the Orient in particular, Mr. Hill spoke in a vein of extreme pessimism. If one may judge from his quoted remarks, Mr. Hill believes that our foreign trade is a grievous injury to our interests as a nation; that it is foolish for us to send ships abroad to the world's markets, laden with merchandize which we expect to sell, or to permit ships to enter our harbors bent upon similar foolish missions. "What business is there with China?" asks Mr. Hill, in a burst of enthusiastic pessimism. And then he answers this poser with terse and conclusive triumph. "Under existing conditions," he says, "there can be no business. The cost of manufacturing is too high. What goods do we sell abroad? Agricultural machinery, electrical machinery—well, Germany outsells us in the latter, and we have no trade at all with Canada."

Mr. Hill's conclusions are hardly warranted by facts. Our total exports of merchandise for the twelve months ending with June, 1905, amounted to the tidy sum of $1,518,561,720. Our total imports for the same period aggregated $1,317,512,629. Thus our total foreign trade for the last fiscal year amounted to $2,636,074,349.

"What business is there with China?" Well, we did some business with China last year, but not nearly so much as we propose to do next year, and in succeeding years, in a constantly increasing ratio. Our exports to the Chinese empire in 1905 aggregated $52,516,361, and our imports amounted to $28,100,634, or an aggregate trade of $80,616,995. Quite a sum for a country with which, according to Mr. James J. Hill, "there can be no business."

"We have no trade at all with Canada?" Let us see. In the year 1905 we sold to the Dominion of Canada products aggregating in value $140,741,860, and bought from Canada products to the value of $62,303,263—a total trade of $203,045,123; quite a sum for a country with which, as Mr. Hill sees things through his jaundiced eyes, "we have no trade at all."

Mr. Hill ought to know, if he does not, that our agricultural machinery is in great demand all over the civilized world, and that our electrical machinery and other kinds of machinery find also a ready market, though Germany may outsell us in some particular lines of manufacture. The recent action of Russia in removing discriminating duties on our products will greatly help American trade in the Russian empire, and will no doubt assist us to "even up" with Germany, to some extent.

Naturally, Mr. Hill can see no benefit in the Panama Canal, which he has declared he could compete with on such terms, for transcontinental traffic, as would make the big ditch look like thirty cents, or words to that effect. "The Panama Canal," quoth Mr. Hill, "is being built for some other countries' ships." Even so, it will at least accommodate our warships, and the "other countries' ships," when they pass through, will be required to pay liberal toll.

While admitting that "there will be a good average wheat crop," and that "corn promises a really good harvest," Mr. Hill is not at all enthusiastic. There has been a good deal of damage, he says, and there will not be a bumper crop, "not by no means." Still, we shall probably be able to worry along.

Grudgingly, Mr. Hill admits that "we do sell some flour, cotton and oil; but," he adds quickly, "Russia is a great competitor in the Far East with our agricultural people. Russia raises what we raise, and she will never be a customer of ours." It is quite true that our trade with Russia is not so large as it ought to be; but with better trade relations, and the development of Eastern Siberia, there is no reason why our trade with Russia should not increase very largely in the near future.

"If we are going to find a good market in the Orient," declares Mr. Hill, "we must look to Manchuria and the interior of China." This is precisely what we are doing; and we shall get our share of this trade, despite the "grand, gloomy and peculiar" forebodings of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad. Brother Jim should brace up. Things are not half so black as he has painted them.

WHEN I AM OLD.

When I am old the bells that rung
In life's bright morn with chiming tongue
Shall change and, like a knell, be tolled,
When I am old, when I am old.

When I am old the joys that greet
The pathway of my youthful feet,
The day that dawns so clear and bright

The sneer of scorn, the loving kiss—

The all that makes this earthly life,
When I am old, when I am old.

This heart that beats with wild desire
Dissolve; we are not what we seem.

When I am old—ah! life grows gray
Too fast. Its morning sinks away;
Its clock, that strikes the hour of noon,

When I am old the bells of night
Oh, soft and low those bells be tolled,
When I am old, when I am old!

—[E. Norman Gunnison.

Queer Doings in Norway.

In Norway on pay days saloons are closed and savings banks open until midnight. Servant girls hire for half a year at a time by contract at public registry office. There is a telegraph box on every street car. One writes the message, puts on the right number of stamps, and drops it in the box. Farmers can borrow money from the government at 2 per cent. There are practically no illiterates. The average wage earnings are $83 a year. There are more reindeers than horses, more sheep than cows.—[New York Globe.

ROOSEVELT.

But mightier captain of the hosts of Peace,

Weary, methinks, thy pathway o'er the heights,
Whereon the sun too bright, but coldly, peers,
Yet far thou lookest, beyond the dazzling lights,

And in those greater ages yet to come
Ay, they shall live, though history were dumb,
They are recorded in the hearts of men.

Mothers of men shall thank thee when they pray,

To many a heart that waked in dread and pain.
Thrice happier he by whose hand men shall live

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

Brig.-Gen. Frederick Funston is detailed as member of a retiring board to meet in San Francisco October 14.

First Lieutenant Paul A. Barry, of the Artillery Corps, has been placed on the retired list because of disability.

Col. Joseph B. Girard, assistant surgeon general, sailed for the Philippines on the 5th inst. for duty in that division.

Commander W. A. Marshall has been assigned to duty as assistant to the inspector in charge of the Second Lighthouse District, at Boston.

Capt. William R. Smedberg, Jr., Fourteenth Cavalry, has been detailed to act as counsel for First Lieutenant Rowland B. Ellis before a court-martial at Malabang, Mindanao, P. I.

Pay Inspector Harry R. Sullivan, has been detached from duty on the battleship Texas on account of sickness and ordered home to await orders. He will probably be retired for disability.

Capt. Henry C. Fisher, retired, of the Marine Corps, who died recently in New York, served as a private in the army during the Civil War. He entered the Marine Corps as second lieutenant in 1871.

By the retirement of Rear-Admiral Charles J. Barclay on the 8th inst., Capt. Thomas Perry was promoted to Rear-Admiral. Admiral Perry has been acting as president of the Naval Examining Board in Washington.

Lieut.-Col. Edward E. Dravo, deputy commissary general, has been relieved from duty as chief commissary, Department of the East, and will proceed to Manila, and report to the commanding general, Philippines division, for assignment to duty.

First Lieutenant George S. Richards, Jr., Twenty-third Infantry, who was sentenced to dismissal from the service and one year imprisonment, for embezzlement, has entered upon his term in prison, being confined on Alcatraz Island in San Francisco harbor.

By the promotion of Capt. Thomas Perry to Rear-Admiral, Capt. Charles H. Stockton, at present naval attaché at the American legation in London, becomes the senior captain in the Navy and will be promoted to rear admiral on the retirement of Rear-Admiral Henry Glass in January next.

The Rev. David Hillhouse Buel, S. J., recently appointed president of Georgetown University, has military blood in his veins. He is a son of the late Col. D. H. Buel of the Ordnance Corps, a grandson of the late Brig.-Gen. Charles McDougall and a grandnephew of the late Admiral David S. McDougall.

The order retiring Brig.-Gen. William H. Carter from command of the Department of the Visayas and assigning him to the command of the Department of the Lakes, at Chicago, has been issued. This was done as soon as Maj.-Gen. Wood had decided to return to the Philippines, taking his departure by way of Suez, two weeks since.

MEN AND THINGS OVER THE SEAS.

Troubled Morocco.

The sharp diplomatic tussle between France and the Sultan of Morocco has resulted in the latter yielding the full measure of satisfaction demanded by the French government. An Algerian headman, and therefore a French subject, had been arbitrarily arrested and imprisoned in Moroccan territory. On behalf of the Sultan the claim was put forward that all Moslems were under his jurisdiction within the boundaries of Morocco. The admission of any such demand would have destroyed the treaty rights of every European power having interests in the country. Foreigners obviously cannot be left under the jurisdiction of a barbarous oriental despotism that is unrestricted by any code of laws, civil or religious. So treaty rights make the subjects of each power amenable only to their own consular courts. Any infringement of such rights would render the position of foreigners in the country impossible, and there can be no line of distinction drawn on the score of either religion or color.

In practice thousands of Moors having intimate commercial or personal relations with the foreign colonies at the various seaports are taken under the direct protection of one or other of the powers—in other words they renounce their Moorish nationality and come under the protection of France, Great Britain, Germany, or the United States, as the case may be. Otherwise these native merchants or servants could never be protected from pillage, extortion, or violent death at the whim of the despotic Sultan or his local governor. All the powers have to display solidarity in the matter of upholding these extra territorial privileges. Therefore the Sultan in his open flouting of France on such a question, has had promptly and ignominiously to climb down. No doubt he relied on playing Germany against France, without realizing that there could not be the faintest shadow of German support on such an issue. So he has had to release the French subject, pay the indemnity demanded, and degrade the Moorish official responsible for the high-handed outrage.

Another International Crisis.

But the cabled report of serious disturbances in Tangier, involving the flight of foreigners into the walled city, and the abandonment of their homes in the suburbs and environs to the mercy of the bandits disturbing the peace, wears a much more serious aspect from the international point of view. Such disorders must inevitably lead to European intervention. And here the chance of reopening the direct controversy between France and Germany crops up again. France, by her treaty with Great Britain and Spain, claims preponderating political power in the country. Just before the sensational interference by Germany marked by the Kaiser's visit to Tangier, and resulting in the downfall of the French foreign minister, M. Delcassé, the formation of a French gendarmerie at Tangier and other ports frequented by Europeans was being initiated. Such a police organization would have afforded the protection for foreigners needed at just such a crisis as has now occurred.

But will Germany now allow any special right on the part of France to restore order? This is the dangerous question. If the disturbances continue, a French fleet must make its appearance at Tangier. Will a German fleet simultaneously appear in the offing? If French marines are landed, will German marines also take a hand in protecting the foreign colony? If so, then the preponderating political influence claimed by France will be directly challenged, and the controversy between the two European powers will once more become an acute one. No doubt the Sultan, or his entourage, is deliberately working for this end, and has instigated the disorder as a means of accomplishing it. Europe showed a united front when the sanctity of treaty rights preserving the lives and property of all foreigners was violated. There the wily Moorish politicians made a false move. But they have conceded only to engineer international complications by another method, namely, by this fomenting of trouble in and around Tangier. Therefore, the situation is fraught with grave possibilities, and the next steps to be taken by France and Germany will be awaited with no little anxiety.

Canada and the West Indies.

Quietly but none the less effectively the bonds of commercial union between Canada and the British West Indies are being drawn tighter and tighter. In the United States there has for long been manifested a feeling of complacent expectancy that sooner or later Jamaica and the other British colonies in the West Indies must, by their very geographical situation, come completely under the economic influence of this country. But if present tendencies continue to develop, we are really drifting steadily away from the realisation of any such dream. Porto Rico enjoys free trade with the United States, and Cuba a preferential tariff. In view of this, Jamaica, Trinidad, Barbados, Demerara, and the other British colonies in these parts are looking more and more to Canada as an outlet for their tropical products and as a source of supply for the manufactures they require.

In Canada also a strong movement for the establishment of reciprocal trade advantages with the British West Indies is developing. Already Canadian capital and commercial enterprise are invading the Caribbean Sea. The electrical street car systems in Jamaica, Trinidad, and Demerara are all owned and operated by Canadian companies. Electric lighting is now being similarly exploited. A new line of steamships from Canada to the West Indies has been inaugurated. A branch of the Nova Scotia Bank has been established in Jamaica, and a branch of the Union Bank of Halifax in Trinidad. These are signs that indicate which way the wind is blowing.

Although the British West Indies still rely on the United States as the best market for their fruits and other produce, they are now trading with us under a handicap as compared with Cuba and Porto Rico, their competitors in supplying identical kinds of produce. Moreover, they are always under the fear that at any time their fruit trade may have still further imposts to bear. Hence the natural desire to find in Canada a market at once capable of indefinite expansion, free from discriminations, and not liable to economic perturbations. Preferential treatment by the British West Indies in favor of Canadian manufactures at the cost of United States manufactures, would create a lively tariff issue. But with Germany's reciprocity bludgeon raised aloft, and Mr. Chamberlain's agitation in England to establish imperial free trade throughout the British dominions, it is abundantly clear that the whole question will have to be thrashed out before very long, this West Indian movement being only one part of a much wider problem.

PLAYHOUSES AND PLAYERS.

BELASCO. "On and Off," a farce from the French, with situations that change in each moment, and as entertaining as most farces are, is the current presentation at the Belasco Theater.

The piece is neither great nor small. It is a passable amusement, and serves to introduce Joseph Galbraith as a first class comedian—or perhaps [illegible] would be more correct to speak of him as reintroduced, for he has shown his humorous talents on two previous occasions.

The sketch revolves for three acts about one George Godfrey—Galbraith's mimic personality. Godfrey is a Frenchman; somewhat of a dissembler, not bad, not overdevoted to his wife, trundling an existence under rather false colors, blessed with a home and cursed with a mother-in-law.

Godfrey's wife and a man of the same name, with the connivance of the other parties of the play, strive to stir up enough excitement to keep the unheroic hero jealous, and play a variety of absurd tricks on him.

Among the other laugh-producers is a phonograph, which Godfrey uses against the superstitions of his mother-in-law. The fanatical woman believes she hears angel voices calling her; her daughter's husband makes a record accordingly, and hides his machine in the unused chandelier. The fun for [illegible] is great until his wife gets the [illegible] and turns it backward.

The phonograph is to be commended for its absolute realism and distinct enunciation. Never once does it become stagey or melodramatic. Its [illegible] is apparently perfect, for it required no prompttings. Although a new member of the cast, friends predict a great future for it, as its opening part was one of importance. Although receiving no flowers, it performed its allotment with as much zest as though the output of a conservatory had been heaved at its brass.

Clearance does well as a Frenchman of mature years—an exceedingly good bit of character. Miss Crosby is the [illegible] ful young wife, and comes down with a tragic Japanese Geisha to a French society miss with grace and piety.

BURBANK. No full list of the excellent character actors of Los Angeles could be complete without including Sam Bernard and Willie Marks, who work in minor parts in the concluded production of "If I were King" at the Burbank does much toward making that production memorable. Bernard plays a gallant of the court, [illegible] clothed in idly gotten velvets and [illegible] and sophistries of men whose bread [illegible] for them; Marks is a fellow of the people, shrewd with the cunning of [illegible] keenness, old in body, but with [illegible] vigor embalmed in dry wit. [illegible] impersonations must be seen to be appreciated, as must Miss Kelton's [illegible] study of delicate pathos in the character of Huguette.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. "The Two-Cans," another Kentuckian epic [illegible] according to the school of Kremer, is [illegible] as seen at the Grand Operahouse this week, purveyed by our much-adored friends, the Ulrich company, who enjoyed to the limit the [illegible] epicures [illegible] the regular clientele. [illegible] story relates the traps and [illegible] of a typical white-cap band, as [illegible] in the days when that system [illegible] private vengeance was in [illegible] and popular fashion.

[illegible]PHEUM. The bill at the Orpheum this week, while not among the very best given at this popular house of amusement, still contains a [illegible] of much more than average [illegible] At the head of this list, [illegible] and Bedford and Winchester, burlesque jugglers. They are very funny, and they are also very clever, holding their audience through every moment they are on the stage, surprised, pleased and convulsed with laughter.

[illegible] Fisher sang a few songs in [illegible] phenomenal baritone," which [illegible] strike one as being particularly [illegible] interesting—or phenomenal—or [illegible] a baritone quality. The Four [illegible] of Music made a lot of [illegible] on a lot of instruments, excursions [illegible] the sensitive tympanum, [illegible] to be "the world's greatest sketch artists," but the [illegible] certainly not made good [illegible]

[illegible]dovers are Violet Dale, who [illegible] and delightful mimic; Emil [illegible] Elton and Company, in a [illegible] risque comedietta, "Mlle. [illegible]ARA. Musical farce is on at [illegible] for the coming week, and the [illegible] intend to a good-sized audience [illegible] has won marked favor. [illegible] the vaudevillians are Natt [illegible] a Jewish impersonator; an acrobat, with a new act in muscu[illegible], and new motion pictures.

AMONG MEN OF ACTION.

"The pupils who will outnumber the individual accommodations provided for them will this year be far in advance of any preceding term," Superintendent James A. Foshay sounds the warning of insufficient school buildings yesterday afternoon, a warning that he has repeatedly given, but which, owing to the rapid growth of the school population, and for other reasons, has failed to produce the best results.

Mr. Foshay has been working assiduously through the summer, taking a brief trip to New Jersey as his only vacation, and is anxiously trying to work out ways and means to relieve around the congestion, which will surely be felt in every quarter of the city when the schools open on September 25.

Last year numerous shacks were constructed, and some magnificent buildings of permanent nature were completed, but now that the Board of Education has caught up with young America, it must start to do the work all over again.

"The number of pupils has increased rapidly," continued Mr. Foshay. "Thousands of children will start for places, and many temporary makeshifts will have to be improvised to give them all a chance. New buildings will probably be put up, and the old method of the half-day session will doubtless be brought into play again.

"For this condition there is no remedy, except steady work toward better places. The town grows rapidly, and the schools must keep up with it. That is imperative."

The general teachers' meeting will be held at the State Normal School on Saturday, Sept. 23, at 10 o'clock a.m. Immediately after the meeting of principals will be held.

The possibility of a third chorus society confronts musical Los Angeles. Henry Schoenfeld, the composer and director who left here for San Francisco not many months ago, has returned, and will probably make a call for singers in the near future. Some of Schoenfeld's friends think him to be the "third man" who will reconcile a large part of the antagonistic musical element here. At any rate, he says he is going to try it.

Schoenfeld argues for individuality and modernity.

He said yesterday: "My idea of a composite and successful chorus is for a vast number of musicians, from sixty to eighty men and women. Such voices will do the work far better than a larger group which has poor, weak or mediocre voices under ill control.

"Our Pasadena choral society flourished a year ago, contained the people, and the critics said of it that we made good music. The director of today should combine in his person the traits of musical scholarship, individual force, and should work toward those two ends.

"I believe that there is an opportunity for another choral organization here which shall combine the conflicting elements of the present organizations, or at least form a new body of earnest students who are anxious to do modern works.

"The classics are all very well in their place, with great societies existing at their presentation, but the two new fledgling companies here have only begun to study the modern works, a double presentation of an oratorio like 'The Messiah' would be absurd. Reverential and effective presentation of these, with the productions of today interluded for a change, is the ideal condition for a city the size of Los Angeles."

No Dissenting Opinion.

Secretary Shaw and Senator Carter of Montana were swapping stories the other day, when the former, a story of the Treasury told a story about a man out in an Iowa town who was never known to disagree with a statement of another, no matter how improbable it might be.

"One day a group of fellows determined to see if they couldn't get him to disagree. 'I'll call him Smith,' said the leader—'to express a disagreement.' So when Smith came along the boys said:

"'I had a most remarkable experience the other day, Smith. As I was coming into town through the woods over there I saw a buffalo up a tree.'

"'Did you, indeed? Did you have a gun, so I shot him.

"'No, I saw a buffalo up a tree, Smith.'

"'Well, no, I never saw a buffalo up a tree, but,' said Smith, brightening, 'I know they are very fond of peanuts.'—Chicago Post.

BURBANK OPERA HOUSE. "The Prince of Pilsen," another Kentuckian epic dealing in the school of Kremer, is now at the Grand Operahouse and, surveyed by our much-admired friends, the Ulrich company, is played to the limit those epicures patronize the regular clientele.

Others are Violet Dale, who is a good delightful mimic; Emil Casper Elton and Company, in a farcical comedietta, "Mile. End." The Millman Trio, aerial gymnasts are really worth while, and Bert Havel, fun-makers in Hebrew's sketch, "Ticks and Clocks." The motion pictures are, as ever, provokers.

MASON. Musical farce is on at the Mason for the coming week, and the same is treated to a good-sized audience which was marked favor. The vaudevillians are Natt Burton, impersonator; an acrobatic act with a new act in muscular and new motion pictures.

WATKINS CASE.

Critical Moment Before Jury Will Probably Arrive Today—Defendant's Prison Record.

If expected progress is made, the matter of "Ollie" Watkins and his alleged violations of the laws of the United States will go to the jury this afternoon. Yesterday afternoon the prosecution finished its case.

Among the things the prosecutors have up their legal sleeves is Watkin's prison record. He was sentenced to the penitentiary in Jackson county, Mich., in 1895, to serve a term of three years for forgery.

There are four principal points in the government's case against Watkins, as made in yesterday's summing up. So far as witnesses have shown, he has never paid up any of his contracts; he issued checks on "The American Loan and Trust Company," a puerile institution which came abortive from his own mind; he distributed his literature through the mails, and his contracts, to be paid according to number, constitute a lottery.

Last of the Catawbas.

Robert Lee Harris, chief of the Catawba tribe of Indians, which has a tiny reservation embracing only one square mile near Rock Hill, S. C., on which are eighty members of the tribe, lately visited Raleigh, N. C., seeking in the State library for all information possible about the Catawbas. These Indians were, even after 1760, a powerful tribe, and touched the Cherokees, who were in the North Carolina Mountains and in the foothills. Chief Harris says that there are only 150 Catawbas in the United States, while in 1700 the tribe could muster several thousand warriors. He is anxious to have the tribe put under Federal care and educated by the government.—[Washington Star.

September Blanket Sale

This is an annual occasion with us. Plans for this month's Bedding Business were begun half a year ago. We are led to believe from experience that our forehanded methods of providing bed coverings are approved by all who care to economize.

Present prices are possible now only through such enormous purchases as we made for this event, and through our readiness to split the regular margin of profit in order to crowd sales during what would otherwise be a dull month.

And there's another reason for buying bedding here—absolute cleanliness. Our blankets are not only kept in dust-proof cases, but we positively refuse to exchange or take back any article of bedding that has been in the customer's possession over night—you need never have any fear of this store's bed coverings or pillows having been used by somebody else.

TWO GIRLS VS. STEP-FATHER.

Distressing Tale in Court at Riverside.

Suicide Preferable to Return to Ranch.

Testimony of a Sort With Dickens' Sketches.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I would rather commit suicide than return to my step-father's home!"

Ruth Cook, a pretty 17-year-old girl, thus dramatically aroused the attention of every spectator in the Superior Court today at the hearing of a contest over the guardianship of five children. The case is vigorously contested and is furnishing some racy testimony.

Until a few weeks ago the five children had been residing with James Fear on a ranch near Rincon. Three of them are step-daughters of Fear, their mother having been the wife of William H. Cook. An aunt, Mrs. Jessie Benson of Riverside, has petitioned for the guardianship of her nieces and nephew. Mrs. Fear died in August, 1904, and today's testimony showed that Bessie Cook, aged 15, had conducted the affairs of the household since that time, until the rebellion of the step-daughters at their alleged mistreatment.

Ruth Cook the first witness, related a remarkable story of life at the Fear residence following their mother's demise. She testified that she attended school at Corona, and returned home every Saturday in order to launder the solitary suit of underclothing with which she was provided, despite the fact that her step-father apparently had sufficient funds to make extensive improvements on the ranch.

In addition to the lack of proper clothing, Ruth testified to alleged improper visits of her step-father to a chamber occupied by a sister, Bessie, and herself. Nothing criminal was alleged to have taken place at these times, but both girls testified to having resented the intrusions and repeatedly requested Fear's retirement from their room.

Bessie Cook corroborated her sister and gave details of the violation of their privacy by Fear. "I was forced to prepare meals for six persons all the time, and sometimes for twelve and fifteen," said Bessie. "My clothes were little better than rags."

William Cook, aged 13, testified to having worked from 5 in the morning until late at night in the performance of manual labor about the ranch, and upon close examination told Judge Noyes that he was the poorest dressed white lad in the Rincon school.

Twenty-five witnesses from the vicinity of Rincon are in attendance at the hearing, which will occupy considerable time. The defense has not yet had its inning, but later will introduce the testimony of William Fear in contradiction of the stories told by his step-daughters today.

SPEEDY AUTO, LUCKY CATCH.

In Run from Arlington, Train, Horseless Carriage, and Defendant Afoot All Arrive Simultaneously at Alvord Station—Prisoner is Accused of Assault on a Watchman.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An automobile, constructed for fast driving, saved the day for a coterie of Riverside officers late this afternoon and resulted in the apprehension of Lewis Barrara, wanted for assault upon an Ontario watchman.

Barrara has been at liberty for several weeks and today a tip was received that the man would leave Arlington at 4 o'clock. The officers hastily chartered a touring car owned and driven by Robert Holderman, and began a race for Arlington. Barrara learned of the pursuit and started across country for Alvord, a town six miles distant.

The automobile dashed into the Arlington station in time for Sheriff P. M. Coburn and Officer John Baird to board the train. The engineer was instructed to stop at Alvord, which is a flag station, and the automobile containing Holderman and Officer P. S. Corl then headed for the last-named town.

The prisoner, the train and the auto met simultaneously at the station platform, and a very dejected Barrara climbed exhausted from his six-mile tramp into the rear seat of the car, which hastily transported him to the County Jail here.

ELSINORE.

HOT SPRINGS TOWN JOTTINGS.

ELSINORE, Sept. 11.—The public shools here will open on next Monday. J. N. Brubaker will teach the grammar and Mrs. J. N. Brubaker the primary grades; Prof. Green formerly of Escondido, will teach in the High School, assisted by Miss Katherine McIntire of Elsinore, a recent Stanford graduate.

Rev. J. L. Pitner, D.D., presiding elder of the San Diego district, arrived here Saturday and spoke Sunday morning in the Methodist Episcopal Church here. In the evening he helped officiate in the dedication of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Wildomar.

REDLANDS.

REDLANDS, Sept. 11.—J. W. Burns of this city, who drew a lucky number in the Unitah Indian Reservation drawing returned this morning. He was to have made his selection on the 12th, but he learned that all the good land had been reserved for the Indians and that very few people were filing homesteads. He says that a great deal of fraud has been practiced and that the Government is now investigating the same.

H. E. Stafford, proprietor of one of the local hotels was arrested for selling liquor. He was arraigned before Justice Gifford and given until next Wednesday to plead. He was released on $50 bail.

Harry Ward, who was arrested for purse grabbing and later broke out of the city jail, appeared before the justice today and was given the limit, six months in the county jail.

The annual gathering of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of California and Nevada will be held in Redlands beginning October 18.

The annual conference of the M. E. Church South for the Los Angeles and Arizona Districts will be held here beginning October 25. Bishop Morrison will preside.

B. J. Taylor who was operated upon last Saturday has a good chance for recovery. The crisis will be past in 24 hours, but the physicians anticipate no trouble.

C. T. Thaxter, secretary of the Redlands Board of Trade, has returned from a two weeks trip to Los Angeles.

SAY SLAYER IS ELDRIDGE.

SHERIFF OF SAN BERNARDINO GETS A CONFESSION.

Frank Goss and Samuel Jackson Make a Statement Throwing the Blame on Their Companion, Who They Say Attempted to Throw Them Over an Abyss in Darkness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Goss and Samuel Jackson, who, with Fred Eldridge, have been held by Sheriff Ralphs since last Thursday on suspicion of having murdered Ernest Romo, have made a complete confession to that officer. They throw on Eldridge the responsibility for Romo's death. They both say that he confessed to them that he slew Romo after a quarrel over money matters.

Romo and Eldridge had been doing a partnership business selling fruit to summer campers in the mountains. Wednesday afternoon Goss and Johnson, who had been employed as laborers on the Arrowhead reservoir work and were discharged for being drunk, had engaged Romo and Eldridge to bring them to San Bernardino from Little Bear Valley.

On the way down the party camped Wednesday night at Van Ness Springs. Early that evening Jackson says he heard the report of a pistol. A few minutes later Eldridge came to the tent and, calling him out, exclaimed: "I've killed my partner, Romo, but I had to do it."

Jackson looked at the body and then aroused Goss, who found the corpse lying on a canvas near the wagon. To Goss, Eldridge also admitted the killing, telling both that they would have to make up a story and stick to it. So they made up the story of Romo having committed suicide.

On the way down the mountain, Eldridge alighted, after heading the horses toward the precipice and, cutting the brake rope, tried to send his two live companions to their death. By the barest luck the wagon slid over the grade at a point where the flume juts out from the embankment, and upon this flume the wagon settled.

Eldridge has the reputation of a hard character. He was only recently acquitted by a jury on a charge of embezzling passes of the Santa Fé at Needles, at which place he was employed as superintendent of water service.

The inquest over Romo will be held tomorrow afternoon, after which the Sheriff will swear to a complaint charging Eldridge with murder.

MUCH WEDDED COUPLE.

William Franklin Wilson, aged 51, and Elizabeth E. Holyoke, aged 37, both of Los Angeles, were married here this afternoon by Justice C. L. Thomas. Before the marriage the woman executed a deed transferring the title of Los Angeles realty, but the name of the second party to the transaction or location of the property in Los Angeles is not obtainable. Wilson stated that this is his fourth wife. His bride has been married twice before. His Los Angeles residence is No. 625 South Figueroa street.

SANTA ANA.

LAST LINKS FOR TROLLEY.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 11—The crew of pile drivers and bridge carpenters who have been at work on the Pacific Electric bridge over the Santa Ana River, completed their labors today and moved on to other smaller bridge jobs along the line. A force of about thirty men has been at the work for two weeks, and the result of their efforts is the most substantial bridge structure of its kind in the county.

It crosses the Santa Ana River a quarter of a mile above the Fifth-street wagon bridge, making a slight angle with the direct course of the river. The length of the bridge is almost three quarters of a mile, carrying the tracks entirely over the varying stretch of sand which in time of heavy storms is overflowed with water. Although the piles in most instances do not protrude more than five feet above the sand of the river bed, all the timbers used were from twenty to twenty-five feet in length. The superstructure of heavy timbers is of an equally substantial character, built to endure any possible wear and tear.

With the completion of the bridge work, there remains only one large gap at this end of the line to be filled before the road will be ready for the track-layers. This is between Garden Grove and the river, a distance of a few miles over a level stretch of country. It is expected that the entire grading force now engaged in completing work further up the line, will be put here within ten days and close up the last gap. Graders are now at work near Benedict station and in the neighborhood of Artesia, working upon the pieces of ground which could not be handled earlier in the year on account of their boggy conditions. In many places the grade level has been several feet above the surrounding country, and in such cases deep cuts have had to be made alongside the track to secure dirt to build up to the level required.

The track-laying crew is reported to be in the neighborhood of Clearwater, approaching this end of the line at a rapid rate. Their arrival here before the first of October is confidently expected upon the promise of the company that the road would be finished to this point and in operation by the first of the coming month. Local commercial bodies are planning to celebrate the opening of the road in an appropriate manner with public demonstrations and a barbecue.

FICKLE HUBBY SAILS AWAY.

An exciting chase for a runaway husband reached its culmination at Laguna Saturday night in the escape of the man and the "woman in the case" by means of a gasoline launch.

The principals in the affair were Aaron Talbert, an oil driller in the Whittier wells, his wife, and Miss Pearl Marschoff, a fascinating nurse who claims Pasadena as her home. Miss Marschoff was visiting at the home of Talbert's parents in Whittier, when the man became acquainted with her. On Thursday, Talbert told his wife that he was going on a hunting trip for several days, and left the same evening without telling his destination. The Marschoff girl left on the same day, and Mrs. Talbert, suspecting that they had gone together, enlisted the offices of her uncle, Mr. Lee, to run the pair to earth.

The pair were found at Laguna occupying a cottage together. When officers sought to arrest the man they found that he and the nurse had left in a launch.

FARNSWORTH GOES FREE.

The trouble between F. F. Farnsworth and George Brown of Talbert, as the result of which Farnsworth languished in the County Jail for two days and nights charged with having peppered Brown in the head with a pistol, was amicably ended today. Brown put in an appearance at the District Attorney's office this morning, his head swathed in bandages where Farnsworth had pommeled him, and asked that Farnsworth be dismissed. He said that no shots had been fired in their mix-up and that he would not swear to any complaint against the man with whom he had quarreled. Farnsworth duly appreciated his escape from a possible jail sentence for battery and departed with a promise to avoid any future infractions of the Penal Code.

BEANS CAPTURE MEN'S HEARTS.

SPREAD FOR THE VETERANS AT HUNTINGTON BEACH.

Woman's Day at the Encampment is Pronounced Success—Petticoat Banner Literally Waves Over the Gathering for a Little While—Did the Methodists Leave Those Bottles?

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 11.—The women of the Auxiliary of the Southern California Veteran Association were commanders of the encampment today, but with all their authority they resorted to the means of control that have been effectual since men first began to eat cooked food.

About noon women from every W.R.C. and G.A.R. Ladies' Circle were ensconced behind a counter on the platform at the big assembly tent, from which they dispensed baked beans of high quality, coffee, sandwiches and other things, which inclined the hearts of the men toward their superior officers.

All morning rebellion was rampant. The flag was run down before the women were awake and petticoats were run to the top of the halyard and securely fixed there. The Sons of Veterans tried to steal the gun before the morning salute was fired, and later were ungallant enough to invert the flag, which had been replaced, as an indication that the camp was in distress.

But when President Mary E. Dunning stood out in the assembly hall and waved a beany spoon with orders to her cohorts to "Feed these boys over here," blue coats all called her reign blessed. The bean bake was a big success. The president and her staff of officers were the receiving committee, with the Council of Administration, Mmes. H. A. Gibson, E. C. Seymour, and Mary Petrie. Past presidents of the association present were: Mmes. Mary Hattery, Cordelia Spence, Martha Packard, Alice Fitch, Ella Van Horn and Lillian Harris.

The fancy drill of the John C. Martin, W.R.C., of Sawtelle was received with great applause and put to shame Comrade G. W. Wolfe of the Drum Corps. When asked to receive these ladies at the car, he smilingly declared the pleasure of the drum corps to aid but as they brought the escort into camp he struck up "The Rogue's March," to which the white capped and uniformed women kept step in ignorance of its significance. The Fife and Drum Corps did better in the dress parade, when they appeared in skirts in deference to the feminine regime. They played correctly as a rival organization appeared during the day. It was mustered by the women. Their musical instruments were not well tuned, the whistles ringing sharper than fifes, and the barrels thinner than drums, but the new band had the virtue of industry and certainly made its quota of noise.

The veteran prisoners who had served in Libby and Andersonville prison were asked by President Dunning to take seats on the platform, and afterwards told some of their experiences and length of their term there, their stories arousing the sympathy and exclamations that always greet such reminiscences. Mrs. Carol Marks of Columbia Circle recited "Romeo and Juliet," and was encored. Miss Spring sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." W. A. Lockard sang in a lady-like voice of uncertain quality a song about "Old Shady." A mask hid his mustache, a sun bonnet his hair and he wore skirts of indifferent hit. He was received with uproarious laughter. Altogether it was an orderly auxiliary day, with few arrests and the women were very reticent regarding the amount of contraband they were compelled to confiscate for the order of the camp.

Contraband goods have before been a question for discussion, for when the veterans went to Sawtelle recently the women lifted tent floors and brought to light many empty bottles, which they thought suspicious, to say the least of it. The veterans declare that former occupants of the tent left them there. The Methodists preceded the veterans in their occupancy.

Many visitors Sunday evening looked forward to one number on the programme, "We'll Never Let Old Glory Fall," sung by W. E. Herendeen, and this favorite aroused the usual applause. The choruses were sung by selected voices from the encampment and were well known and popular patriotic and religious airs. Comrade Allison of the Drum Corps gave a flute solo. Mrs. Zoe B. Fuller gave a reading, and Miss Alice DeWitt recited "The Song of The Drum." One of the most pleasing speakers of the association, Comrade Ed Seymour, was put forward for the address. Others who took part were Comrades Packard, Case and Benson.

Citizens interested in the biggest enterprises yet—the Owens River water purchase—and who wish to spread the news abroad of the brilliant municipal achievement, can do so effectively by securing and mailing copies of The Times of the 7th and 8th inst., the one giving the size, dimensions and need of that project, and the other containing the overwhelming popular verdict rendered by the voters in the bond election. ### COFFEE CLUBS.

Second Anniversary of Their Introduction in Los Angeles Celebrated Yesterday.

The two clubs of the Coffee Club Association kept "open house" yesterday, on the occasion of the second anniversary of the organization in this city. Large crowds filled the rooms all day, and last night fifty members of the City Christian Endeavor Union visited both in a body and lunched at No. 1, on East Second street. While the menu offered at the clubs is very full, the prices are moderate, the announced object being to counteract the influence of the open saloon with its free lunch. The offer a resting place for men, together with games, reading matter, telephone, lavatories and employment bureau, everything being free and under careful and honest management. O. D. Conrey, well known in connection with benevolent enterprises in the city, is superintendent; H. B. Morse is manager of No. 1, on East Second street, and J. W. Smith manager of No. 2, on Court street. They are not money-making institutions, but they are so managed that they pay their way, and the city should have more of them. Being open from 6 o'clock in the morning till midnight they afford a place for men to while away the time as well as get low-priced meals.

WILL USE OIL.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Exhaustive experiments with oil as fuel on steamships have proved so satisfactory that the British admiralty is ordering the erection of a great oil store at Plymouth with jetties at which steamers can moor. It is understood that stores of oil will be established at all home ports.

VARICOCELE

Every man having varicocele can be cured, but any and every external application—medicine internally, electricity, electric belts—ARE ALL ABSOLUTELY WORTHLESS. There is but one method that will cure varicocele. Dr. Harrison is the only specialist in Los Angeles using that method. Dr. Harrison guarantees an absolute, permanent and perfect cure. We will show dozens of men right here in Los Angeles we have cured. We cordially invite men to call.

Contracted Disorders

Are cured by us. Every particle of poison thoroughly eradicated from the system. Every patient coming to us consults no one but Dr. Harrison or his associate, both regular physicians. Each and every man coming to us for consultation has his case carefully and understandingly looked into. Every case we treat receives our personal attention.

STRICTURE

This trouble we treat successfully by our improved method, which never fails to bring about a cure. Electricity or electric belts cannot do this trouble any good. When you employ either you throw your money away. Call and let us explain the nature of the trouble and how you can be permanently cured.

"WEAKNESS"

Affections of men commonly described as "weakness," according to our observations, are not such, but depend upon reflex disturbances, and are almost invariably induced or maintained by appreciable damage to the prostate gland. As this may not be perceived by the patient, it is very frequently overlooked by the physician.

If you come to us we give you a thorough examination and consultation, absolutely free, and faithfully tell you if you can be cured.

DEFEND SALARY RAISING SUIT.

PASADENA MAY BE CALLED ON SO TO DO.

May Sutton, Tennis Champion, Will Return Home Today, but Public Reception to Her Will be Held on Friday Evening—Altadena Man Has Moonlight Adventure.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 39 South Raymond avenue, Sept. 12.—This city may be made the defendant in a suit to test the recent ruling of City Attorney FitzGerald that a raise in salary while in office is illegal under the charter, if the reports of a secret meeting held among the affected ones are correct.

The meeting was held in rooms No. 4 and 6 of the Model Grocery building yesterday morning, according to the information that leaked out last night. No one of the former city officials would state who were present and all but one or two denied any knowledge of such a meeting. It is understood that a vote was taken to refer the question to legal authority, and, judging from the means at the disposal of some of the "exes," there will be a merry fight on.

It was hinted that the matter has already been placed in the hands of counsel, following the action of the meeting, and an opinion as to the prospective merits of the case is expected Wednesday.

RETURN OF THE CONQUEROR.

Flowered already with honors and set to receive perhaps the greatest ovation ever given a young woman by the citizens of her home city, Miss May Sutton, whose natural grace and modesty have stayed by her through the conquerings of two tennis-mad continents, is expected to arrive home this evening.

She will be met by friends and relatives at the Arcade Depot in Los Angeles, having started from San Rafael on the southland yesterday afternoon. The train is due in Los Angeles at 8:55 p.m. The first few hours of her home coming will naturally be given to her family and not until Friday evening will Miss May be called upon to respond to public honors. The plans are not completed for the popular reception which is to be given in her honor at Casa Grande. Robert J. Burdette has been commissioned to make the speech of presentation to Miss Sutton of the solid silver tea set, which was ordered from Gorham's in New York. Several hundred representative men and women have been named to constitute a reception committee for the evening, and the Crown City Band will play among other tunes "See, the Conquering Hero Comes."

OVER THE CONVENTION HALL.

Judgment was made yesterday in the appeal case of F. E. Crawford, et al., filing against the Carmelita Company against the Convention Hall Company has been duly filed in court, and some of the Convention Hall matters now awaits the pleasure of the appellate judiciary. Inasmuch as yesterday was the last day of the time within which the suit could be filed much interest was manifested among those interested in the Convention Hall, and the latter have decided to fight to the last ditch in an effort to obtain the Carmelita property on West Colorado street as a site.

On the other hand the case of Crawford et al. has been placed in the hands of Messrs. Wright, Bell & Ward of this city, who filed the suit and who declare that it is in every way entitled to the property in question. The Convention Hall directors have engaged the services of Maj. Lee of the law firm of Lee & Works, of Los Angeles. Major Lee contends that Judge Wright has no right to reject his first bid of $31,000 for the property. However, it is understood he raised this to $33,000 before the second set of bids was received several week ago.

EXPERIENCE WITH COYOTES.

Mr. Bowen of Piedmont Drive, who was returning home Sunday night or rather Monday morning about 1 a.m. when he noticed his hunting dog behaving strangely, and called Mr. Bowen saw a gray object under a low hedge. In an instant there was in full cry. This started some of the animals, in another direction. Mr. Bowen at once recognized that they were coyotes and determined, if possible to have a shot. He reached his house and with his gun began the novel experience of hunting by moonlight. He was rewarded sooner than he expected as less than 100 yards from the house one of the wily creatures. Fearing they would run in behind some one and out of sight, thus euchering him out of a shot, he fired at longer range than his judgment dictated. Immediately with the explosion of the gun the coyote nearest him fell, let forth a terrible yell, arose, fell again, and then more and ran through some bushes which obscured it from view. The following morning Mr. Bowen, in search of the neighboring hills could not find the animal. He would like to hear from the man who did, so he can have the pleasure of seeing the "critter" by daylight, as he is sure it is dead on this side of the mountains.

Some of Throop Polytechnic have secured an option on the property on Euclid avenue, immediately of the school's new site in Los Robles. An unusual demand for accommodations at the dormitory has led the trustees to make an effort to provide further room. Letters received at the institute indicate that Throop will have a materially large attendance in all the departments.

Mrs. Weed has received word that Mr. Hoover, a Pasadena delegate to the National 'Letter Carriers' convention in Portland, has been taken with appendicitis, necessitating an operation that has been accomplished a "prayer stand" meeting the first time by City Marshal at the meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon. Burdette is suspected of having had the very audible "amen" that was uttered as Dyer took his place.

Directors of the newly-incorporated American National Bank of Pasadena held a meeting in the office of Isaac Springer yesterday afternoon and voted to increase the capital stock of the concern from $50,000 to $100,000. The number of directors was also increased from seven to eleven.

CRAZY DRUNK IN GUN PLAY.

Wild Shot is Taken at Outsider Who Attempts to Interfere After Being Attracted by Screams of Wife—Hopes of Salvage on the Schooner Coleman.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 11.—John Fahler, a middle-aged man, was arrested shortly after midnight this morning by Special Officer John Frank, charged with assault with intent to kill. While crazy from an overindulgence in liquor, Fahler went home last night and threatened the life of his wife and twelve-year-old son. He flourished a 44-caliber revolver and so terrified the woman and child that they fled to the home of a neighbor for protection.

Fahler followed and took a wild shot at James Gillespie, who attempted to interfere, having been attracted by the screams of the wife. Upon the arrival of Officer Frank the drunken fury of the man quickly disappeared and he was arrested without resistance.

SALVAGE ON COLEMAN.

The steamer Marshfield, Capt. George Dettmers, returned today from San Miguel Island, where he went to examine the wreck of the schooner J. M. Coleman, which went ashore September 3. Capt. Dettmers gives it as his opinion that the schooner and her cargo can be saved, although the bottom of the vessel has been knocked out and she is only kept afloat by her lumber cargo. The Marshfield cleared this afternoon for San Miguel, having a large barge in tow, and will make an attempt to lighter the vessel and tow her to this port.

Capt. Charles Peterson of the Coleman returned today on the Marshfield and is quite sick. He is suffering from a severely sprained back and exposure following the wreck of his ship.

ALLEGED FORGERS.

Two young men giving the names of Walter Brite and George Moody were arraigned before Justice Downing this morning upon a charge of forgery. One day last week they are alleged to have passed a draft with forged indorsement upon a merchant in this city given by the Bank of Antioch in favor of Dr. Amelia Gates of San José. The draft was No. 4198, for $32, drawn upon the London, Paris and American Bank of San Francisco. A satchel carried by the pair, when searched, contained other negotiable paper, a set of burglar's tools and a quantity of nitroglycerine. When arrested by Officer Frank the men had just purchased tickets on the steamer Navarro for San Francisco. The young men were held in $1000 bail, and their preliminary examination was set for next Thursday.

SANTA MONICA.

JURY BLAMES NO ONE.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 11.—Coroner Trout came over this morning and with the assistance of a jury of seven inquired officially into the cause of the death of Frank Feltwell, the Los Angeles telephone lineman who was electrocuted on Ocean avenue yesterday. It was found that death had resulted from accident. No blame was attached by the verdict to anyone. The body was taken to Los Angeles by the unfortunate man's widow.

SEASHORE BRIEFS.

The special school election today brought out a small vote and every ballot except seven out of 123 was cast in favor of the $60,000 issue of bonds. As soon as the bonds can be sold and the contracts be let, work will be commenced on the erection of three much needed school buildings. School opened today for the new year and the attendance for the first day was large, indicating that a trifle later on every seat will be occupied.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Marvin yesterday celebrated his birthday and there were present as dinner guests forty-two children and grandchildren who claim Santa Monica as their home.

RABID TALK BUT NO FUSS.

WEST LONG BEACH SCHOOL OPENS AT TERMINAL.

Word of Prospective Trouble Causes County Superintendent to Attend in Person Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff, City Marshal and Other Officers.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 11—Word was received here yesterday that there would be trouble this morning at West Long Beach as a result of the opening of the Terminal schoolhouse under jurisdiction of the Long Beach school district.

The talk came from rabid East San Pedro residents, who primarily were incensed because the lady principal who could not handle the unruly children of that territory had been supplanted by a male teacher. Then the transfer to Long Beach incensed them still more.

To avoid trouble, County Superintendent Mark Keppel attended the opening of Terminal School in person this morning accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Harry Wilson, while the Long Beach School Board sent down Marshall Williams and officers Neece, Carson and Cooley. But their services were not required. There was some rabid talk by a fellow named Gill, who has been very active in his opposition to Long Beach, and who threatens to get out an injunction closing the school, but it has not yet happened.

The schools opened with sixty-five pupils in charge of Principal Laughlin and Misses Drachman and Doyle.

RED STICK!—TURTLE!

Yesterday Smith Warren, A. J. Werner and Misses Alice and Grace E. Marvin of Los Angeles chartered the launch Twilight, Capt. W. H. Graves and while trolling off Point Vincent sighted a monster turtle, which Graves says was nine feet across, with a head like a barrel. The Twilight ran alongside and Graves drove a harpoon into it, but the monster did not linger and disappeared with the narpoon which had a red handle. The party spent the remainder of the afternoon chasing that red handle all over the channel, but failed in their attempt to lasso it. Graves had a Winchester on board but no cartridges. Fishing parties now have an added attraction presented them of chasing a red handle stick whenever they see it, with the knowledge that a turtle weighing over a ton is anchored on the other end of it.

SEASHORE NEWS BRIEFS.

The association day campaign planned by the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian associations by which all the church congregations were made acquainted with the work of the two associations will, it is thought, result in a determined effort to place both on high ground financially. The situation to be met is that a lot 50x119 feet on Locust evenue valued at $12,000 will be deeded to the Y.W. and Y.M.C.A. provided that by November 10 they have $6500 in bank, plans completed, a contract let and a building commenced to cost not less than $5,000.

The grammar schools of the Long Beach district opened today for the fall and winter term with increased attendance. Last year the opening day showed 1480 pupils in the grammar schools and 202 in the high school. Today's enrollment was 1969 in the grammar schools and 252 in the high school. This does not include the Terminal School with an attendance of 65. Seven new rooms were opened this year and several will be crowded until the completion of the new Pine-avenue School. Supt. Morgan says the enrollment tomorrow will show over 2000 pupils in the grammar schools.

The opening of school has caused an exodus of summer guests from Long Beach. The bath-house company contemplates withdrawing its life crew about September 15th. The Long Beach Aquarium closed today for the season.

The corner-stone of the Ebell Club House at the corner of Ocean and Daisy avenues will be laid Saturday morning with appropriate ceremonies by the ladies of the society.

Mrs. Susan Elam, aged 70 died yesterday at Bixby Station. She was a native of North Carolina. The body was taken to Pomona for burial.

City Clerk Hargis was today granted fifteen days' leave of absence from September 20. The trustees haggled over the granting of the request and the Clerk became angry and wrote his resignation, but Mayor Eno put the motion for the vacation and it carried.

OCEAN PARK.

SENSATIONAL SUIT IS DROPPED.

OCEAN PARK, Sept. 11.—The sensational suit that was recently brought against H. L. Miller and Laura Hyde upon complaint of J. M. Cross, has been dismissed. They were complained of as being a nuisance, the allegation being that they were living together while unmarried. The evidence upon which the complaint was based was not forthcoming, and the records in the office of Justice of the Peace Jenness show that the charge has been dropped.

LAST BAND CONCERT.

AVALON, Sept. 11.—The band gave its farewell concert last evening for the season, and this morning departed for other scenes, leaving, however, an orchestra of five pieces, under the leadership of Director Kammermeyer which will continue the music at the pavilion indefinitely for those who enjoy dancing. Every seat on the benches was occupied at the last concert and the band was given an ovation. Judge Allen made a speech expressing the thanks of those present.

DIVER'S MISFORTUNE.

Capt. Herbert Young, the diver, who, while engaged in recovering the cargo of cement which was overturned in San Pedro harbor, came near losing his life by a defective coupling in his armor, came over yesterday and will remain here while recuperating. His most serious hurt is the rupture of the drum of one of his ears, which was not discovered among the multiplicity of ailments caused by the accident until a few days ago, when he made an attempt to descend again. He has the appearance of having been mauled by a prizefighter. Both his eyes are blackened, and the veins in his chest seem to have burst and have now turned black.

MINES AND MINING.

ORE DOUBLES WITH DEPTH.

PROVIDENCE MOUNTAIN MINE IS GETTING BETTER.

Ruling of Secretary Shaw a Hard Blow to Zinc Industry of Two Countries — Smelter Trust Has Made Failure at Torreon and the Mexican Combine Ends.

The Providence Gold and Copper Company, whose property is in the Providence Mountains in San Bernardino county, is just levying a second assessment of a quarter of a cent a share. The first assessment was levied some months ago as the result of a decision of the stockholders.

The company is sinking a shaft that is down 129 feet. It is the intention to go 200 feet before drifting. The work is in ore that has doubled in average value within the last twenty-eight feet it having assayed only $9 to $16 at 101 feet, and now gives average returns of $15 to $26. As no drifts have been run, the extent of the ore body is not known, but the vein is wider than the shaft. The ore is similar in character to that in the New York Mountains. The company has another shaft which is not being worked at present, but which showed up very well, indeed. Two shifts are being worked. The ore is a telluride and Secretary Parks has some fine looking specimens at his office in the Laughlin building.

The Providence Mountains are near the New York district, which has been attracting considerable attention of late. Prospectors are beginning to enter the range and it is almost certain that the Providence district will be thoroughly explored this fall and winter. The ore already reported to be uncovered is as good or even much better than some of the Nevada finds that have started a wild rush of prospectors from every direction.

A Huntington mill has been ordered for the Sidewinder mine near Victorville, San Bernardino county. The plant is to be shipped from Los Angeles.

At the Blue Bell mine in Tuolumne county, owned by a Los Angeles company, an air-compressor and four drills are being installed. President W. P. Cunningham has gone to the mine to superintend the work. The property is on the "Mother Lode." The company has also property in Goldfield.

ZINC INDUSTRY HARD HIT.

A decision has just been rendered by Secretary Shaw that is likely to prove a hard blow to the zinc mining industry of Mexico, accounts of the development of which in Chihuahua have decently been published in The Times. By this last ruling, something for which the American producers have been striving for some time, the Mexican product must pay an increased duty instead of coming in free, except for the small amount of lead contained in the ore. As a result the zinc smelter men of Kansas have started a movement to shut down. The first to take this action is the Prime Western Company at Iola, where 600 men have just been thrown out of employment. It is said that nine of the largest smelters in the State will close down, until the price is hammered down.

This will presumably force the Mexican mines to close or to greatly reduce their output. On the other hand, the effects of such an extensive shutdown of the smelter is also likely to have its effect upon the industry in the United States. A dispatch from Iola says that the price is now $51 a ton.

SMELTER TRUST'S FAILURE.

The Chihuahua correspondent of the El Paso Herald, who is a recognized authority on Mexican mining matters, says that the efforts of the trust to get control of the Torreon smelter have failed completely and negotiations have been called off. The information was given to the correspondent by an employé of the trust, who was authorized to make the matter public by General Manager H. R. Simpson.

The difficulty seems to have been that the Torreon company is paying 18 per cent. dividends and the smelter trust only 7 per cent., and the former's stockholders could, therefore, see no advantage in consolidation. Now the Torreon people have mines of lead fluxing ores of their own and are independent of the trust in every way.

For the past two years the Torreon company, in common with all the principal smelters in Mexico, has been in the combine to regulate prices and matters of mutual interest. This agreement, however, expired September 1, and it is not at all likely to be renewed. Both the trust and the Torreon people are trying hard for ores and with the proposed plant of the trust at Chihuahua a merry war is likely to be on very shortly.

With only 20 per cent. of the business of the republic in its control, the trust finds that it is far from being the "whole thing" south of the Rio Grande.

PRODUCTION FOR AUGUST.

|---|---|
| San Eulalia | $1,200,000 |
| Parral and Santa Barbara | 900,000 |
| Batopilillas | 160,000 |
| Palmerado | 80,000 |
| Ocampo district | 90,000 |
| Dolores | 60,000 |
| Eluvia de Oro | 120,000 |
| All other districts | 250,000 |
| Total | $2,860,000 |

Rider Haggard heard that a ballet based on "She" was to be produced in Hungary. He wrote for programmes and photographs. The reply of the manager was that the illustrious "Herr Author" was dead. Mr. Haggard asked for a denial, but the management replied that the editors refused to insert it, as they believed it to be an unscrupulous attempt to obtain free advertising for the ballet.

Way Horseshoe Paint Costs Less Than Ordinary Paint

The Strictly Pure White Lead, Linseed Oil and Turpentine Dryer necessary to make each gallon of lead and oil paint will cost you at least $1.75 and each gallon will not cover more than 200 square feet two coats.

So divide the cost per gallon ($1.75) by the amount of surface each gallon will cover (200 sq. ft.) and the result proves that lead and oil paint costs you over 87 cents per 100 square feet of painted surface.

Each gallon of ordinary adulterated ready-mixed paint, will not cover more than 200 square feet two coats because "the adulterants retard its spreading capacity.

Divide the cost per gallon ($1.50) by the amount of surface each gallon will cover (200 sq. ft.) and the result proves that ordinary ready-mixed paint costs you 75 cents per 100 square feet of painted surface.

Now, each gallon of

covers 300 to 350 square feet two coats because the zinc (combined with lead) carries 60 per cent more oil than lead and as there is no adulteration in it this paint spreads much farther.

Divide the cost per gallon ($1.75) by the amount of surface this gallon will cover (say only 300 sq. ft.) and the result proves that Horseshoe Brand Prepared Paint costs you only 58½ cents per 100 square feet of painted surface as compared to 87 cents for lead and oil and 75 cents for cheap ready-mixed paint.

In other words—if you use Horseshoe Brand Prepared Paint instead of lead and oil, you save, in first cost alone, more than 25 cents on every dollar's worth of paint you buy.

And if you use Horseshoe Brand Paint instead of ordinary ready-mixed paint you save, in first cost alone, just 75 cents on every dollar's worth of paint you buy.

NEW YORK MARKETS.
SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The stock market remained under the shadow of the money situation today. The influence was mostly sentimental, as there was little disturbance of loans and no notable change in the rate for money. The principal event of the day in the world's money market was the advance in the official discount rate of the Imperial Bank of Germany from 3 to 4 per cent. It was generally expected from the rising in the Bank of England rate the German institution would raise the rate, but the advance of a full 1 per cent. was not expected. The incident is a movement in the international contest for funds now progressing. The great foreign banks seem to desire to accumulate reserves in preparation for large government and other loans to be floated. It is clear that they will have to contend with the pressure from New York to obtain additional funds in order to do this. Probably the action of the English and the German banks is a defensive measure against New York's demands. It did not prevent a further quite violent break in foreign exchange rates here, which carried the price of demand sterling within measurable distance of the rate at which gold could be engaged for import at profit. It is expected that before the rate is touched further obstacles will be interposed in foreign markets. It is probable that holdings by an underwriting syndicate of railroad bonds have been transferred in large volume abroad either for delivery to purchasers or to hold with funds borrowed in foreign markets. The effect would be to release large borrowings by the syndicate in this market. The bills offered in the exchange market which caused today's break were most of them bankers' bills, which means that they represented the further borrowings of foreign funds. This is a process which anticipates the making of exchange by the outward movement of commodities later in the year, which will give an opportunity to cover the sales of exchange now being made. The week opened with a further larger absorption by the sub-treasury and all reports point to the continued activity of business in all lines and enormous movement of grain and merchandise over the railroads. The movement of currency to the interior is certain therefore to continue for several weeks yet. It was this discouraging prospect which carried prices downward throughout the early dealings. Prices were easily generally

Time loans were dull and steady. Sixty days and ninety days, 5@5½; six months, 5@5½.

Call loans were dull and steady. Bankers' balances, 5@5½; time loans, 5@5½; call loans against stock exchange collateral, 5@5½.

Dickens in Rome.

When Charles Dickens arrived in Rome, on January 29, 1845, he was profoundly disappointed. "I; was no more my Rome, degraded and fallen asleep in the sun among a heap of ruins, than Lincoln's Inn Fields is." A short time before, while he was straining his eyes across the Campagna, a distant view of the town had recalled London. This feeling soon passed away. He thought spring the most delightful season for Italy. He was again in Rome in 1853; saw J. G. Lockhart, "fearfully weak and broken;" smoked and drank punch with David Roberts, who was painting that famous picture of Rome now in the Scottish National Gallery. The Pantheon he thought nobler than of yore; the other antiquities smaller. It was in San Lorenzo Square, Florence, that Robert Browning picked up the part manuscript and part printed Roman murder trial of 1698 from which he spun wonderful "Ring and the Book." The Church of San Lorenzo, in Lucina, off the Corso, in Rome, was the scene of Pompilia's marriage. It was there, also, that the murdered bodies were laid for the inspection of "half Rome." There was a weird funeral, attended by Capuchins, when we were in this church. When in Rome the Brownings stayed at 28 Via de Tritone.—[Chamber's Journal.

Oldest Living Thing.

The distinction of being the oldest living thing undoubtedly belongs to one of the giant trees, and many attempts to locate it and determine its age have been made. A century ago De Candolle found two yews—one at Fortingale, in Perthshire, and one at Hedsor, in Bucks—that were estimated to be, respectively, 2500 and 3240 years old. Both are still flourishing, and the older tree has a trunk twenty-seven feet in circumference. A gigantic baobad of Central America, with a trunk twenty-nine feet through, was thought by Humboldt to be not less than 5150 years old. Mexican botanists believe they have now discovered a life-span even greater than this, and from the annual rings a cypress of Chapultepec, whose trunk is 118 feet in circumference, is assigned an age of about 6200 years.—[Philadelphia Ledger.

BAPTIST BOIL STILL "BILING."

Deacon Dozier Says He is in and Will Stay.

The announcement in The Times yesterday morning that Deacon Melville Dozier had been expelled from the First Baptist Church, and that Pastor Joseph Smale had resigned created a sensation, for the events had been so sudden that the public had no warning that another storm was brewing in this Baptist storm-center.

The homes of both the principals were besieged all day yesterday by great numbers of their friends and supporters.

In an interview with a reporter of The Times, Rev. Mr. Smale announced that he is perfectly satisfied with his own attitude in the controversy, and that he will seek rest for a time. He asserts also that he has absolutely no plans for the future.

UNPERTURBED MR. SMALE.

Smiling and cordial, Mr. Smale met The Times reporter at his residence on Winfield street yesterday, seeming not a particle disturbed by the excitement through which he had passed. He was besieged with visitors all day from among his partisans, and some of them wrestled in prayer, long and fervently, for the future welfare of their late pastor, and heaped coals of fire on the heads of his opponents by praying for them in like manner.

"I have not had a moment's perturbation concerning the matter," Mr. Smale said in response to an inquiry. "I have no regrets as to my action in resigning last night, for I feel it was the right thing to do."

He apparently got some satisfaction out of the fact that he feels that he outgeneraled the opposition in first securing, as he believes, the ousting of the popular leader, Deacon Dozier, by springing the question at an unexpected time, and handing in his own resignation in the same way, at a moment when no one anticipated such action.

"I would have resigned at the time of the former trouble, in 1902," he said, "if it had not been for the political methods adopted, and I was determined there should be no opportunity for anything of that kind again."

At that time Prof. Dozier was not arrayed with the opposition, but was considered as one of the staunch friends of Pastor Smale, and as chairman of the meeting when charges were being investigated, was looked upon as absolutely unbiased by all parties. Mr. Smale, however, seems not to have regarded the deacon in the same light as some other people, for he said yesterday on that subject:

"Well, you know there are two ways of being a friend. Prof. Dozier has been a leader among us and has a strong influence, and under such circumstances a leader can be friendly in a general way and yet foment strife. My object in taking the action I did on Sunday evening was to forestall anything like a packed meeting on Wednesday evening, and thus precipitate a long struggle. I was determined not to be forced into such a strain as I had to endure two years ago, and I do not want to be responsible for a division of the congregation.

"The result of the meeting on Sunday morning was a fair test of the sentiment of the congregation, which was gathered under ordinary circumstances without warning of what was to occur.

"I would not reconsider my action if I could; my position is final and conclusive. I do not want to stand in the way of harmony and I urged the members all to stand together; if they do not do so it will not be from any feeling for me, but from some, for some other reason."

The subject of his future plans was broached, growing out of the suggestion that he might possibly start an independent church.

"I have absolutely no plans for the future," he said; "I never look beyond Sunday, and the events of yesterday were entirely unexpected, but when Prof. Dozier took the platform and asked for thirty-nine others to come forward and unite in a call for a meeting to consider pastoral relations, I realized that it was to be the same old struggle over again and I was determined not to submit to it. I positively have nothing in view but I am much in need of a rest and I will endeavor to get away where I can find it for a short time.

"Every day for fifteen weeks, with the exception of days when I was called away to attend funerals, I have held two meetings, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, and some of them were remarkable meetings. At one time 200 persons came forward to the altar under the influence of the spirit; at another two-thirds of the congregation crowded forward; at still another I was entirely unable to preach because of the spontaneous desire of nearly all present to testify.

"I confess that yesterday's events are a strange sequel to such a series of meetings, but I am perfectly satisfied with the part I have had in them."

DEACON DOZIER'S STATEMENT.

Deacon Dozier yesterday made a full statement of his connection with the troubles with which the public is more or less familiar. He went back to the first outbreak in September, 1902, when 108 members voted against Pastor Smale, but who refused to resign, with the result that more than 200 members left the church. He asserted that the causes of contention continued to exist and valued members have continued to drop out ever since.

Prof. Dozier spoke in support of the long series of daily meetings held by Mr. Smale after his return from his foreign tour, but said that they failed to appeal to the bulk of the membership, though they excited much interest on the part of members of other denominations, "especially of such as make unusual pretensions to holiness." He asserted, however, that many of his own members have been alienated by Mr. Smale's persistent declarations in favor of an undenominational church and his denunciations of the national and State missionary societies of the Baptist Church, and of the local young people's society and the Ladies' Aid Society.

These declarations on the part of the pastor, he said, have created a feeling of unrest in the church, though "vociferously indorsed by the people of other denominations in attendance." Under these conditions, after consultation with some of the brethren, Prof. Dozier said he presented the matter at the deacons' meeting last Wednesday night, when he had the support of four other deacons and the decided opposition of the pastor and five deacons, and he concluded to wait for developments. Continuing, he said:

"On Sunday morning, after the Sunday-school hour, the deacons were summoned to the pastor's study, where they usually congregate at that hour for prayer with the pastor. After the usual season of devotion, the pastor announced that the board had been called together to consider a question of urgent importance, which Deacon Haskell was requested to state. The summary of what Mr. Haskell stated was to the effect that my attitude in the church had become so provocative of discord and so inimical to the development of the spiritual life of the church, disturbing the peace and interfering with the success of the pastor, as to demand a better understanding between myself and the rest of the board, and, if possible, a restoration of perfect harmony.

"I suggested that such a question, sprung without notice, ought not to be discussed during the preaching hour (there being another minister in the pulpit,) and moved that its consideration be delayed until an afternoon hour, when there would be ample time to fully consider it, without the loss of the hour appointed for worship. This thought was favored by two other deacons, but the pastor was immovable in his determination to have the matter settled then and there, and his position was sustained by a majority of the board.

"I then asked the pastor to state clearly the issue he wanted decided. His reply, in substance, was: 'Either Prof. Dozier must fall into harmonious cooperation with the present administration of the church in all matters connected with its spiritual development, or else take his membership from the church, and if he will do neither, then my resignation goes before the church; and this question must be settled before the church this morning.'

"My reply, in substance, was: 'While I greatly love the pastor personally, and enjoy his preaching along gospel lines, and greatly admire his power in prayer and song, and his leadership in devotional meetings, I cannot and will not indorse his attitude in matters relating to denominational interests; and while I have no definite purpose as to the calling and general meeting of the church, I sincerely believe in both the justice and the necessity of such a meeting, and hold myself at liberty to act as my conscience and judgment dictate in the premises.'

"He then stated that the church would be requested to give me my letter of dismission, unasked, before the adjournment of the morning hour. To this I replied that the fraction of the church gathered for worship that morning had no right to act upon such a question, and any action taken on such a proposition would be unconstitutional, and therefore null and void, seeing that a member could not be forced to accept a letter of dismissal unasked, and the action could be only construed as disciplinary, in which case specific provision was made by the constitution of the church, involving charges duly made, investigation by the board of deacons, and submission to a called meeting of the church after due notice, none of which conditions had been observed. And furthermore, that our church is a legal corporation as well as a spiritual organization, and no member of such a body could be deprived of his rights except by constitutional methods. I added also that I would be very glad to have the question submitted to the body of the church at a regularly-called meeting, and would cheerfully abide the decision of the church, but would not accept a decision reached by a fraction of the membership under such manifestly unfair conditions.

"In spite of this, however, the pastor was determined to present the question before the members present (who proved to be less than 150 out of a membership of over 800,) he and I being the only ones permitted to speak on the subject. The result of the vote to give me a letter unasked (or, as it has been interpreted, to expel me) was 85 for and 55 against.

"In view of such a high-handed attempt to override the constitution of the church and to besmirch the reputation of a member who had given more than twenty years of his life unreservedly to the service of the church, I realized the necessity of formally issuing a call for a general session of the church (in which the requisite forty members joined) for the consideration of all the questions relating to the present status. I also declined to accept the so-called letter of full fellowship.

"I regard myself as still a member of the First Baptist Church, and expect to exercise both the privileges of membership and the functions of my office as deacon until properly relieved of either or both."

"Times" Knowledge Contest Winners.

Three of the winners in the Times Knowledge Contest.

The Times herewith reproduces the photographs of three of the winners of the first five prizes in The Times "Knowledge Contest," which closed last Tuesday. The winners, as published in Sunday's Times, of the first five prizes, are:

The fifteen successful participants in the contest distinguished themselves among hundreds of competitors. The task which each one set for himself was to identify as many as possible of eighty-two advertisements published under consecutive numbers in The Times, no one of which contained the name of the advertiser who inserted it. From the wording of the ad the contestant was to determine the business alluded to and the proprietor of that business. The contestant making the largest number of correct identifications to receive first prize, and so on down to the end of the prize list. Contestants were privileged to question "suspected" advertisers, and to receive from them confirmation or denial of the identification. The purpose of the contest was to demonstrate the thoroughness with which The Times' advertising columns are read by all classes. It was attained with great success.

REAL ESTATE WEEK OPENS.

One Reported Sale Contradicted—Some Comments on Values in Two Recent Deals on Hill Street.

The demand on central business property shows no sign of abatement. Agents say there are several buyers in the field for the one seller. Investors have plenty of nerve and do not hesitate for high prices. In some instances caution is necessary or the investor will be lifted out of his boots.

Hill and Ninth Not Sold.

There has been a lively report that a corner on Hill and Ninth street had been sold for $150,000. The property is owned by Dr. West Hughes. He has given an option on it at $125,000. He has not sold it for that price. Those holding the option are probably offering it at $140,000. But no transfer has been made, not even in embryo.

As to Values.

The Times last week gave a little history of the sale of a lot on Hill and Olive, sold in April at $15,500, then in June at $18,000, later at $20,000, and last week with forty feet and the improvements taken from the rear end, the rest, 67x130 feet, unimproved, sold to two men of judgment and experience in real estate, for $25,500. These same buyers, Dr. M. L. Moore and Dr. W. W. Hitchcock, later bought, through A. E. Halsey and Mines & Farish, 50x140 feet on the southwest corner of Hill and Twelfth street, with two frame buildings on it, for $33,500. This is $670 per foot for the property, as the improvements do not figure for much. Real estate men in justification of these prices which seem high to some, contend that they are not out of the way when movements on foot in the neighborhood are considered.

It is pointed out that in two weeks the great Hamburger buildings will be begun, one on Broadway and Eighth and the other Broadway and Ninth street. Besides, the Percival Iron Company is preparing to put up a pressed brick building containing 250 rooms on Hill street, between Eighth and Ninth streets. These are the facts on which these prices are based, for property in the area here referred to. Facts are good to bear in mind. Each man builds his fabric on facts, or is supposed to do so. Knowledge of the facts can hurt no one in business.

Corner on Pico Sold.

F. E. Woodruff has sold to J. A. Woodward and J. L. de Haven, three lots on the northeast corner of Pico and Alvarado streets, having a frontage of 120 feet on Pico by eighty feet on Alvarado; consideration named $14,000. The buyer will improve with a modern three-story and basement pressed brick business block, containing five store rooms below and two and three-room suites on second and third floors. The above improvement will add much to this business section.

Buys on Washington.
